School Fires At Stinson Called Arson

Other Blazes Hit Park, Power; Outdoor Classes

The Stinson Beach School was gutted yesterday by a fire set by arsonists, who also struck at Stinson Beach State Park, ruining a tractor grader.

The school burning disrupted normal classwork today.

A third fire, at the top of a power pole, which wasn't set, cut off power at 3:30 p.m. to most of the community for 11½ hours.

Fire Chief George H. White said the fire which broke out at the school at 1 a.m. was set in three places, by placing baskets of paper against the walls and igniting them.

The main classroom and a former classroom, used as a storage area, were swept by the flames.

Stinson's 45 students met this morning in the portable undamaged by the school fire. Supt. Clarence B. Larison said the youngsters will take field trips during the next few days until temporary classroom space can be found.

Today, the students were planning a litter cleanup around Stinson Beach, according to Mrs. Nancy Sullivan, head teacher at the school.

Sidney F. Walton Jr., principal of Sausalito's Martin Luther King School, has invited the displaced students to use King facilities until other more permanent arrangements are made. "We have plenty of room here," Walton said, adding he will bring his plan to the Sausalito School District Board when it meets tonight.

Lewis said the board will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow to determine what steps to take to house pupils.

Lewis said among the possibilities are using either the Bolinas Community Center or Stinson Beach Community Center or "putting up a tent."

There have been discussions at past board meeings of abandoning the Stinson Beach School and having one campus at Bolinas School.

Lewis said it was hard to estimate the damage since one of the rooms, the one being used for storage, was damaged by fire in 1967.

Chief White said that about 2 a.m. while firemen were at the school fire "someone tried to burn down the service area" at Stinson Beach State Park where the vehicles and workshop are located.

Nixon To Outline Future Viet Cuts

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) - President Nixon will outline his approach to further U.S. troop withdrawals from South Vietnam in a television-radio address tonight-and perhaps unveil a surprise or two.

Nixon will speak at 6 p.m. PST.

Sources at the Western White House cautioned today against advance speculation that Nixon would announce a successor to Henry Cabot Lodge as chief American peace negotiator in Paris. Press Secretary Ronald I. Ziegler indicated earlier in the month that such an announcement might be imminent.

At the same time, these sources did not rule out the apparent likelihood that Nixon, in what is billed as a 10 - to 15 - minute "update report" to the nation, would go beyond mere discussion of troop levels and break new ground in presidential discussion of the Southeast Asian situation.

Since Nixon last took to the

APOLLO 13 ASTRONAUTS BEGIN RELIVING JOURNEY

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 13's astronauts today began telling specialists what happened on their near-tragic space flight, a journey they feared they might not survive.

After a joyous homecoming last night, James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. met early today with Space Center officials.

The first debriefing session started at 8 a.m. CST and concentrated on events leading up to the April 13 oxygen tank explosion that placed the astronauts' lives in jeopardy.

What the astronauts report may help pinpoint the cause of the accident which aborted man's third moon-landing attempt.

Invasion Of Cuba Claimed

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A weekend battle in Cuba between exile invaders and Fidel Castro's forces is the beginning of guerrilla war in the mountains of the Communist island, a spokesman for an anti-Castro group was quoted as saying today.

The spokesman for the militant group, Alpha 66, said several invading forces landed on Cuban shores during the past several days.

Castro announced Sunday via Havana radio that six men, including four of his own troops, were killed in the beach fighting. He blamed the invasion on "mercenaries coming from the United States equipped with modern automatic arms of the Yankee Army."

A spokesman for Alpha 66 told the Miami News that Friday's landings in Cuba were designed to start warfare in the mountains of easternmost Oriente Province.

The spokesman said the invaders' friends and relatives waited anxiously at Alpha 66 headquarters in Miami's "Little Havana" sector for further news.

The News said the nucleus of the landing parties came from a group that had a January invasion foiled by rough seas. That band of men found refuge at the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. One man was lost in the ocean and many of the arms sank when two small boats overturned, the News said.

Capt. Vicente Mendez, 39, led the ill-fated group of 16 in January. The News said Mendez also led the latest assault after a training session deep in the swampy Florida Everglades. There was no word on the jumping off point since such a departure from Florida would have likely violated neutrality laws, the newspaper said.

'Sick-Out' In Sausalito Schools Apparently Over

Conditions appeared back to normal today in the Sausalito School District's four schools as 58 employees — including 18 teachers — returned to their jobs after a two-day "sick-out" Thursday and Friday to protest recent personnel cuts by the district's board of trustees.

The return to normalcy preceded by a matter of hours a board meeting at 7:30 p.m. today, when recent decisions by the board, said to have triggered the "sick-out", will be discussed.

Also likely to come up tonight is a request by a citizens group that the Marin County Schools office take over administration of the district, a proposal that had county schools staff in session during the weekend and again late this morning.

Student attendance, which dropped sharply Friday with the absence of 161 of the district's 708 students, also appeared normal.

Sidney F. Walton Jr., principal of Martin Luther King School and King Vice principal James T. Toliver Jr. were also back at work after a two-day absence.

Although the teachers and other employees would not discuss either the reasons for the "sick-out" or the return to jobs, Walton, speaking on an Oakland radio station last night said the "collective sickness" was to call the community's attention to recent personnel cutbacks by the board which the principal said "will have the effect of wiping out all the good we have done this year."

Trustees have decided to eliminate the positions of Toliver, Raye Richardson, the district's multiethnic coordinator, Gabe Jackson, a community worker, and several teachers and teacher aides for budget reasons next year. The board also voted to close Bayside School and move students to Central School, action protested by many teachers.

"If people were upset by the chaos and confusion which resulted when we were gone for two days, they now have an idea of what every day next year will be like without us," Walton said.

Supt. Phillip W. Schneider said he was "delighted that

Save Reed Schools Group Said Derailing Recall Move

The Save Reed Schools Committee has refused a proposal for recall of two Reed School District trustees to concentrate upon supporting a tax raise and participating in selection of a new superintendent, according to a member of its steering committee.

Mervin D. Field, who presented the recommendations of the group's steering committee at a meeting last Thursday at St. Stephen's Church, said he received general support for his position that recall should be "only a last resort."

Field moved that the committee propose a widely representative committee to screen candidates for superintendent to replace Robert B. Gaw, who has resigned. The motion ran into trouble, however, for specifying that trustees Leo Souza and Thomas S. Price be members of the screening committee. Several objected that trustees, who make the final selection, should not also be on the screening committee. Field then withdrew his motion.

Field won endorsement for a recommendation that the Save Reed Schools Committee try to get definite commitments from all board members as to their stand on the proposed 60-cent increase in the district's operating tax rate limit, to be voted on June 2. Richwagen and Wright opposed the last tax increase, which was defeated at the polls.

The Save Reed Schools Committee is an outgrowth of the Reed Mediators, formed by a group of parents during the report card dispute of last November. Richard Goff is chairman.

Laird Says Soviet Buildup Of Missiles Could Force U.S. Hand

NEW YORK (AP) - Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today "we are literally at the edge of prudent risk" in postponing decisions on major new offensive nuclear weapons to give U.S.-Russian arms limitation talks maximum chance for success.

Claiming a steadily rising Russian missile threat, Laird said that "if the Soviet strategic offensive buildup continues, the risk to our nation will become too great to sustain without major offsetting actions."

In a major speech prepared for the 70th annual meeting of the Associated Press, the Pentagon chief expressed hope for success at the strategic arms limitation talks - SALT - which have just opened a hard-bargaining phase in Vienna.

But Laird rejected arguments that the United States should,at the outset of the negotiations, unilaterally hold up impending deployment of multiple independently targetable warhead missiles (MIRVs) and expansion of the Safeguard missile ABM system.

"The place to resolve these issues is at the conference table with the Soviets," he said.

"Let us try to find out at the conference table the meaning of the Soviet Union's increased weapon deployments and let us conduct these important negotiations with full recognition of these continuing Soviet deployments."

Laird said the risks in deferring "hard decisions" on whether to go ahead with advances missiles and bombers are acceptable only if the United States proceeds with the long-planned MIRV deployment and what he called a "minimal addition" to the Safeguard system, as proposed this year by the Nixon administration.

Disputing critics who contend MIRV and ABM systems spur the arms race, Laird asserted these weapons are essential to preserve the U.S. nuclear force that deters Russian attack - the ABM by saving land-based U.S. missiles and bombers from surprise knockout and the MIRV by assuring that land-based and submarine-launched missiles can overshelm formidable Soviet defenses.

The defense secretary said the United States seeks "no more than a posture of effective deterrence" and that "we obviously could recognize as legitimate a Soviet desire for a comparable deterrent to protect its interests."

However, he said that Russia for the past five years "has engaged in a major effort to change the balance of power" and added that "a clear strategic superiority on the part of the Soviet Union would affect our interests and our obligations throughout the world."

Jews Feting The Passover

By LOUIS CASSELS

United Press International

Shortly after sundown today, in millions of Jewish homes, a child will ask: "Why is this night different from all other nights?"

That question has been asked, by the youngest boy present in each Jewish home, annually for more than 3,000 years. It marks the beginning of Judaism's oldest religious festival, the Passover.

The head of the family always responds to the question by telling the Biblical story of the mighty acts by which God delivered the children of Israel from slavery in Egypt about 1220 B. C.

The annual recounting of the story is an act of remembrance performed in obedience to a divine commandment which is preserved in the book of Exodus (Chapter 13, Verse 14): "And when in time to come your son asks you, 'What does this mean?' you say to him, 'By strength of hand the Lord brought us out of Egypt, from the house of bondage.'"

The name Passover is

Enemy Fire Downs Five U.S. Copters

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five American helicopters were shot down in South Vietnam Sunday, the largest one-day toll in nearly a year, the U.S. Command said. Four Americans were killed and six were wounded in the crashes.

But the Communist command's offensive, launched on April 1, appeared to be losing momentum. The U.S. Command reported 20 enemy rocket and mortar attacks during the 24 hours ending 8 a.m. today. Six of the attacks caused casualties or damage.

Ground action also was light and scattered, with one American, two South Vietnamese and 57 enemy troops reported killed.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 13 civilians were killed and 69 wounded in three terrorist attacks.

American troop strength in Vietnam dropped to 425,000 last week, the lowest level in more than three years, according to the U.S. Command. The announcement was made 16 hours before President Nixon was expected to announce further troop withdrawals in a scheduled speech.

Nixon's third round of withdrawals, finished April 15, dropped the authorized troop ceiling to 434,000 men. Although the total strength was reported at 8,500 below that, a command spokesman said actual strength always runs 1 to 2 per cent underneath the ceiling.

In neighboring Cambodia, four government battalions moved up today to the edge of the riverside town of Saang, 18 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, and began making plans to dislodge the Viet Cong force that occupied it Sunday.

The Viet Cong moved in when government troops retreated from Saang, the closest the insurgents have come to the Cambodian capital.

The Viet Cong and their North Vietnamese allies are now active in much of the territory between Phnom Penh and the South Vietnamese border. Last week they chased a Cambodian army unit into South Vietnam, where the visitors were given friendly treatment.

Israeli Jets In Intensive Canal Attacks

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli warplanes struck intermittently for more than three hours today at Egyptian military targets along the central sector of the Suez Canal, a military spokesman said.

The spokesman said all aircraft returned safely.

The Israeli raid followed at least one heavy air strike by Egypt in the occupied Sinai Peninsula along the Suez Canal. Israel acknowledged the strike Saturday night, saying three Israeli soldiers were killed and eight wounded. At least one Egyptian plane was downed and its dead pilot fished out of the canal, Israel reported. A spokesman said two other planes were hit and apparently brought down.

Egypt had claimed all planes returned safely from the raid Saturday night, but said one plane was lost in a follow-up raid. Israel denied there was a second raid.

THEY CAME TO CHEER

The 'Home' Folks Turn Out To Welcome Apollo 13 Crew

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — James Lovell stepped briskly from the White House jet, paused briefly to smile hello and headed straight for a station wagon out of sight of the welcoming crowd.

"Hello, Mom," he said. "It's good to see you."

Only then was there time for the 5,000 who had come to cheer Lovell, Fred Haise and Jack Swigert home.

Home again. Back to the home they thought they might never see again.

Although their mission to land on the moon was not achieved, their return was a triumph.

They'd had other welcomes: from the swimmer who first reached their capsule after splashdown Friday, on the carrier Iwo Jima and from President Nixon and their families when they reached Honolulu.

This is the place where they trained for man's third visit to the moon, an effort thwarted by an explosion. These were the people who, by the thousands, were totally committed to bring them home.

People like flight directors Glynn Lunney and Milton Windler on whose many critical decisions their lives depended; like Deke Slayton, their immediate boss; like fellow astronauts who worked out bugs on the ground before they could develop into more trouble in space.

There were the officials who run things. There were Mission Control personnel.

But there were, too, the children from the astronaut's neighborhoods of El Lago and Timber Cove. Everywhere there were kids—the Space Center kids learn about thrust and apogee before they finish the alphabet.

"I can say this with more sincerity than I have said anything else in my life," Jim Lovell said from the platform, "We would not have been here today if it was not for the people on the ground, in Mission Control center, helping us all the way."

And Haise: "Perhaps I'm going to be a bit repetitious in a way, but of all the welcomes home that we've had, this one means the most because it was these people here that made it possible for me to be here tonight."

And Swigert: "It's really a pleasure to see so many people here tonight to welcome us back. Up there in the air I had some misgivings about what sort of welcome we might receive."

He needn't have worried. These were the people who worked the hardest while the world rooted the loudest.

In front of the platform, in back of the ropes reserved for VIPs, stood a slender, nearly bald man. When the speeches were over he moved toward an airman guarding the way.

At first the airman hesitated about letting him through. The man showed his badge and finally got in. He was Edwin Aldrin, who with Neil Armstrong was the first to step on the moon. He got a welcome like this last July, but now it was Apollo 13's turn.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Shift In Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Vietnam Moratorium Committee, sponsor of last fall's massive antiwar demonstration, will shut down its national office at the end of the month and concentrate its efforts on local organization.

The shift in tactics by the committee, which came into being nearly a year ago, was announced Sunday by Sam Brown, one of its four national coordinators.

The committee organized a mass antiwar march on Washington last Oct. 15 and joined with other groups in sponsoring a Nov. 15 demonstration against the Vietnam war.

Not Endorsed

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP) — The state assemblyman whose vote earlier this month assured enactment of one of the most liberal abortion laws in the nation has been denied endorsement for re-election by the Democratic Committee of the heavily Roman Catholic county in which he lives.

Five times since 1960 Assemblyman George M. Michaels was endorsed by the Cayuga County Democratic Committee, and five times he won election to the legislature. Michaels is a Jew.

Sunday night, Michaels was defeated for endorsement 72 to 43 by a fellow Auburn attorney, John Rossi.

"I fully appreciate that this may be the end of my political career," Michaels had told his Assembly colleagues April 9 as he switched his vote on the abortion question from a no to a yes.

Pope's View

ROME (AP) — Pope Paul VI says the Roman Catholic and Orthodox churches should merge into "one single faith and in one single church for all Christians."

The pontiff expressed this view Sunday during his Sabbath blessing to an audience of thousands in St. Peter's Square. He cautioned, however:

"We cannot think to reestablish a sincere union of the Roman Catholic and the Orthodox churches at the cost of damaging the Oriental Catholic churches or through doubtful ways of intercommunion that put aside the demands of the true doctrine and could cause illusions and confusions."

Leaves Hospital

BLUFFTON, Ohio (AP) — Comedienne Phyllis Diller left Community Hospital here Sunday after recuperating from surgery performed earlier in the week.

Miss Diller, a native of Lima, Ohio, came here for the operation because she knew one of the surgeons at the hospital. The operation was described by a hospital spokesman as "remedial surgery of a female nature."

Alger Awards

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Hiram Fong and Mayor Carl Stokes of Cleveland have won Horatio Alger awards for persons of humble origin who have made good.

They were among 10 winners selected by the Horatio Alger Awards Committee of the American Schools and Colleges Association. All will receive bronze plaques at a dinner May 6.

Four Resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York Times Associate Editor Tom Wicker was among four contributors who have resigned from public television's "Newsroom" program in the wake of the firing of the program's editor, William Woestendiek.

Woestendiek was fired by station WETA-TV after his wife, Kay, accepted a job with the wife of Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

Bombs In Seattle

SEATTLE (AP) — Four bombs which exploded within nine minutes damaged a state representative's home, a church and two business establishments.

No injuries were reported in the blasts, latest in a string of more than 65 in Seattle in recent months. All the explosions Sunday occurred in the predominantly black central area.

Asst. Police Chief Gene Corr said the bombings probably were caused by "more than just a loose knit organization."

Asks Budget Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., today urged President Nixon to make public new budget estimates on the cost of the Vietnam war, saying Congress has been asked "to spend billions in the dark."

The budget for the year beginning July 1 does not disclose estimated war costs on grounds that secrecy is necessary to maintain the security of Nixon's Vietnamization plan.

With war spending sharply decreased, Proxmire said in a letter to the President, "it appears that the Pentagon has usurped at least $10 billion of the so-called peace dividend in outlays for new weapons systems.

High Court Lets Stand Anti-Communist Ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court let stand today a lower court ruling that struck down as unconstitutional a 1968 revision of the federal anti-Communist law which kept the Subversive Activities Control Board alive.

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia ruled against a provision allowing the board to find that individuals were members of the U.S. Communist Party. The government appealed the Dec. 12, 1969, appeals court ruling but the Supreme Court announced in a brief order it would not review the finding.

In other actions, the Court:

—Let stand two lower court decisions that the federal government may deny employment to a homosexual because of his off-duty conduct.

—Agreed to rule next term whether a southern city has the right to close all of its public swimming pools after being ordered to integrate them. Under challenge is the action of Jackson, Miss., authorities who closed five pools on grounds that operating them on an intergrated basis would create a public danger and also would be uneconomical.

—Accepted for review a challenge of a Pennsylvania law earmarked for church-sponsored schools a multimillion dollar share of income from a horse racing tax. The case involving the issue of separation of church and state will be heard next term.

—Denied a request by Florida Gov. Claude R. Kirk that the Manatee County School busing dispute be transfered from the lower federal courts to the Supreme Court itself.

The brief order left as final a decision by the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals on Jan. 9, 1970, upholding four convictions and vacating a fifth —that of Yippie leader Jerry Rubin.

Besides Mailer, those involved in the appeal were Jose Cassiagnol, Bruce Grant and Peter Kiger.

Sentences ranged from 5 to 30 days in jail.

—Accepted for consideration next term a case in which California's hit-and-run law was challenged as violating the constitutional protection against possible self-incrimination.

—Ruled 6 to 2 that state authorities may not reduce welfare payments to dependent children because of a "man in the house" unless it is shown that he is contributing to the family support. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice Hugo L. Black dissented in the California decision which reversed a lower court decision against a federal regulation that state authorities must establish proof that the man is actually contributing.

The Court's action on the Subversive Activities Control Board (SACB) came in the form of a brief order with no opinion. There was no immediate conclusion on its ultimate effect on the board.

Admitted Young Burglars Work Off Damage In A Pilot Program

An experimental program for working with juveniles in trouble with the law is being tried by Corte Madera police in the cases of five juveniles who have been held responsible for a series of burglaries on Paradise Drive.

Those involved were identified by police today as: Gregory Bowers, 15, 85 Granada Drive; James Peak, 13, 228 Granada Drive; Kevin Peltz, 13, 82 Mariner Green Drive; John Oosterbaan, 10, 22 Mariner Green Drive and Thomas Tompkins, 13, 2 Mariner Green Drive.

The are believed responsible, according to Detective Sgt. George W. Koehler, for two break-ins at Morris Roofing, three at Denny's House of Plumbing, two at Granada School, two at North Bay Lumber Co., one at Motorcycles Unlimited and one at the Patio Car Wash.

Most of the items stolen, valued at about $200 have been recovered, Koehler said. But about $900 damage was incurred by the businesses in the breakins and accompanying vandalism.

Rather than just sending the boys through Juvenile Hall, Koehler said, the department "is trying something new."

With the cooperation of the parents and the businesses which were hit, he said, the boys will work off part of the restitution to the firms involved.

The parents will make part of the restitution, he said.

In addition, Detective Gary Cusimano will be assigned to work with the boys and be avilable to them for counseling.

"If we can establish rapport with these kids now, they'll realize that police officers are human," Koehler said.

He said if the program of working with the boys works in this case, it will probably be continued in other juvenile cases.

The program was developed in conferences with the families that continued into last weekend.

"It's an extra burden," he said, "but if it works, it's worth it."

Planners Eye Open Space Inventory

The Belvedere Planning Commission will discuss conducting an inventory of existing open space in the city to determine a density pattern when it meets tonight at 8 o'clock at the community hall.

Also on the agenda is a hearing on amending the zoning ordinance to restrict duplexes and two-family dwellings to areas zoned R-2, and the compilation of answers to a questionnaire on a proposed ordinance to control the height of trees on private property.

Clarinet Missing

A $150 clarinet owned by Janice Lynn Crawford of 145 Prospect Drive was stolen between April 10 and last Monday from the music room at San Rafael High School, police reported today.

More Windows Reported Smashed In Three Cities During Weekend

Glass smashing vandals attacked the Novato office of the Independent-Journal and eight business firms in three cities during the weekend .

Four stores in Novato, one in Petaluma, and three in San Rafael sustained window damage in the glass breaking rampage.

A Santa Rosa firm was hit last week, it was reported today.

The Independent-Journal office at 1535 Grant Avenue received another broken window and a second hole in the glass in its sign in front of the building. It was noticed by police at 11:34 p.m. yesterday.

This is the third time that the Novato office of the Independent-Journal has been hit by vandals since the start on Jan. 7 of a strike against the I-J by San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

Grand Auto at 7427 Redwood Highway, Novato, sustained $400 damage when a metal nut was shot through one of the big windows at that firm sometime between 6 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. yesterday. This is the seventh time that firm has been the victim of window breakage.

Ted Schuman Chevrolet at 7123 Redwood Highway had one window valued at $150 broken during the same period. This is the second time that firm has been the victim of vandalism. Last Tuesday night the firm had 71 tires punctured.

L. J. Dervin Ford Co. at 6995 Redwood Highway had one plate glass window valued at $250 broken the same night.

Johnson's Red Barn at 7388 Redwood Highway had another hole shot through a window which was broken previously. It was discovered by police at 12:30 a.m. today. This is the second time that firm has been hit.

All of the Novato merchants reported receiving warnings not to advertise in the I-J and said that they feel the vandalism is directly connected with the union's strike.

Two San Rafael business firms attacked by window smashing vandals last Monday were hit again during the weekend, police reported today. A third San Rafael business was also hit and an attack failed on an appliance store also hit last Monday.

Vandals yesterday samshed four windows at Casa Marin Furniture, 1654 Second Street, police have reported. The firm was attacked by vandals last Monday.

San Rafael Health and Dietary Foods, 1132 Fourth Street, was also hit again today for the second time in a week. Triangular wedges of lead were shot through a front glass door and window before 12:15 a.m., police said. The vandals left behind two calling cards to a Larkspur glass firm, police added.

Owner Howard D. Embry told police he had received a letter advising him to stop advertising in the I-J.

Pieces of pipe and triangular metal wedges were used to smash five holes in front windows yesterday at Sherman and Clay, 1301 Fourth Street, San Rafael police reported today.

Manager Margo Margossian told police his firm had received letters from the union regarding the strike.

A piece of half-inch pipe was used in a window breaking attempt that failed early today at Martin and Harris Appliance Service, 1604 Fourth Street, owner Harris W. Martin has reported.

Martin reported his Petaluma branch at 150 Kentucky Street, had its front door shattered today by a lead slug. Police found the shattered door at 4:30 a.m., Martin said.

Both Martin's Petaluma and San Rafael stores werer also hit by vandals last Monday. Matin estimated today's damage at about $150.

Five windows at Able's Trailer Supply, Santa Rosa, were smashed Tuesday night after a series of telephone calls urging discontinuation of advertising in the I-J.

The owner, Gilbert Horton, said he had received four threatening telephone calls and had refused to withdraw the one-inch classified ad he had been running daily.

The windows, valued at $500, were broken with five large metal nuts, the same method used in vandalism acts against other Marin and Sonoma businesses which advertise in the I-J.

everyone has apparently made a rapid recovery from their 'illness'."

On another Sausalito front, a petition on Friday from the Sausalito Citizens for Excellence in Integrated Education that the Marin County Schools office take over management of the district appeared to have been turned down today by the county office.

Deputy County Supt. Stanley Friese said the county "will not come in and take over a school district and replace a board elected by the people."

Friese said the superintendent's office "stands ready to help the Sausalito district" in any way it can. "We will be happy to work with Sausalito if they want us to help them in solving their crucial problems," he said, "and we will make any resources we have available to them.

"But we can't just go down and take over a district because we get a letter from a group of citizens," he added. The CEIE letter, sent to county schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis, called for an immediate takeover by the county because of what the letter termed "chaotic conditions" caused by the employee strike.

However, Hollis, today also said that his office has the authority to act "under Section 352 of the Education Code, which says I am to administer the schools." Hollis added that any action taken would be in cooperation with the Sausalito School board. "We have been working very closely with the board," he said.

Friese said his office will "probably" send a representative to tonights special meeting of the board which was called to discuss the board's controversial decisions. The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the district office, 630 Nevada Street.

Tiburon Ballot Recount Begins

A recount of ablots in Tiburon's city council election began midmorning today, and was expected to take five to six hours to complete, city officials reported.

The recount was requested by Alvin R. Kuhn, who finshed two votes behind M. Carlisle Becker in a race for the third seat on the council, according to the unofficial tally last Tuesday night.

Kuhn posted $80 to cover the cost of the recount, and if he still loses, also loses the $80.

Youth Hospitalized In One-Car Wreck

A 17-year-old San Francisco youth was reported in good condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael, under observation for head injuries received in a one-car crash yesterday at 2:45 p.m. eastbound on Panoramic Highway just west of Bridge Avenue.

The California Highway Patrol said the car driven by Paul R. Urch went over a 10-foot embankment after the youth hit loose gravel as he attempted to pull onto the shoulder of the road.

Point Reyes Land Trade In 30 Days

I J Special Report

RENO — The federal government will go ahead with an exchange of public land in Nevada to acquire 2,455 acres in Point Reyes National Seashore.

Nolan F. Keil, director of the Bureau of Land Management in Nevada, said the trade could be completed in 30 days "if there are no adverse reactions."

The proposed exchange for 150 acres of surplus federal land at Las Vegas Airport is worth about $2 million, the BLM previously reported. The Point Reyes land involves the 1,182-acre Sayles Turney properity near Drake's Bay and the 1,273-acre Millard Ottinger property adjacent to Tomales Bay State Park.

The exchange is being sought by Clark County, of which Las Vegas is the county seat. Howard Hughes reportedly plans to develop the airport property.

Still pending is a $5 million exchange of 240,000 acres of surplus government land in Nevada for acreage at Point Reyes National Seashore.

Purchase Power Of Food Stamps Program Climbs

Marin County residents participating in the food stamp program increased their grocery buying power by $250,000 last year, according to Betty Presley, director of the Department of Public Social Services.

A total of 79 Marin County grocers are authorized to accept food coupons, Miss Presley said.

She said 1,330 households are using food stamps with 3,367 persons involved.

The program began in Marin in April 1969. Records show that Marin participants have purchased $275,916 worth of coupons which have a purchase power of $626,564.

The stamps are designed to give low income people the opportunity to buy food coupons with the amount of money they would normally be expected to spend on food. The stamps, however, allow participants to buy extra food for the same amount.

Marin Peace Corps Aide In Vietnam Protest

A Mill Valley man, now with the Peace Corps in Peru, has joined 99 co-volunteers and Peace Corps staff in a letter to President Richard M. Nixon protesting the Vietnam war.

Geoffrey Barnard of 1 El Capitan Avenue was among the signers of the letter which called for "an end to American control in iVetnam beginning with the immediate withdrawal of the military."

The petition also rejected the President's policy of Vietnamization "as merely a continuation of the war."

The petition was organized in December by a group of Peace Corps volunteers from the Cuzco region of Peru.

grader, resulting in damage estimated at $20,000, he said. This fire was set by igniting fuel with a match, the chief reported.

While firemen were at the park, there was a fire in a power pole along Calle Del Pinos, which burned off the top of the pole and a 14,000-volt line cutting off power to "two thirds of the community" for 11½ hours.

This fire wasn't set, the chief said.

There was a turnout of 15 volunteer firemen and three pieces of equipment, the chief said.

airwaves to discuss the Vietnam war, last Dec. 15, the conflict has broadened, particularly in Cambodia which seeks U.S. arms following a coup that overthrew the neutralist government of prince Norodom Sihanouk.

Through Ziegler, the United States has deplored reported Cambodian massacres of Vietnamese living in that tiny country. And the State Department has said the arms request is under study.

The Nixon administration also has taken an interest in a statement last week by Jacob A. Malik, Soviet ambassador to the United Nations, that indicated possible interest from that quarter in a new Geneva conference to take up the entire Indochina situation. However, Malik told ABC-TV News Saturday that "convening such a conference is unrealistic at the present time."

PASSOVER

derived from the final punishment inflicted upon Egypt when its ruler, the Pharaoh, stubbornly refused God's demand that he "let my people go."

The book of Exodus tells how the angel of death visited Egyptian homes, destroying every first-born son. But the deadly visitor "passed over" the homes of the Israelites.

In the Bible, the annual celebration is called "the feast of unleavened bread."

Unleavened bread, called Matzah in Hebrew, is eaten throughout the Passover festival, which is observed for seven days by reform Jews and for eight days by conservative and orthodox Jews.

Passover begins with a ritual meal called the seder. It is traditionally celebrated by each family in its own home. The table is spread with the finest linens and best silver.

At sundown, the mother lights candles on the table, and the whole family gathers around. It is then that the child asks the well-rehearsed question: "Why is this night different from all other nights?"

Deputies Rout Rowdy Crowd

Sheriff's deputies broke up a crowd of from 150 to 200 juveniles at Paradise Beach Park, Tiburon Peninsula, Friday night after they became rowdy and loud and created a disturbance.

A 16-year-old Ross boy was arrested for indecent exposure when he bared his buttocks to the deputies as they turned the spotlight on the crowd, the sheriff's office reported.

He was cited to appear in juvenile court at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Federal Aid Is Likely In Tornado Area

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (UPI)—State officials checking the rubble of tornado-crippled towns in the Texas Panhandle said Sunday Gov. Preston Smith likely will ask President Nixon to declare the 200-mile strip a major disaster area.

The twisters, too many to count, killed 26 and injured hundreds in 11 towns along this flat stretch of cotton-farming land. One official estimated damage at near $5 million.

The investigators, including three from Gov. Smith's staff, flew over the devastated areas and then landed at Plainview, where the storm splintered and smashed a two-mile path, to reassure city officials.

Plainview had some electric power restored, the water was working again and most areas had telephone service. A major problem was that the tornado that hit downtown wiped out the town's major electrical plant.

A tornado skipped across northeast Mississippi Cunday, killing five persons, injuring more than 70 others and destroying or damaging 300 homes.

Sprawned by the collision of warm Gulf air with an advancing cold front, the tornado dipped first near Ripley and then lifted for a 21-mile swing to Corinth, a city of 15,000.

The funnel again descended at Corinth, skidding over a three-to-five-mile strip of houses and leaving behind a 200-yard wide path of death and destruction. Then it lifted and moved into Tennessee where more damage was reported.

Red Cross officials said five persons were dead, 20 admitted to Magnolia Hospital, five in critical condition sent to Memphis, Tenn., hospitals, and 40 to 50 others treated and released. An estimated 100 homes in the area were destroyed and 200 more were damaged.

Adult Swimming Class Scheduled

Strong Quake Jolts Turkey

Officials said the only injured reported were two elderly women.

The epicenter of the strongest of the latest tremors was Cavdarhisar, where a mosque and 41 houses collapsed. The quake registered 7.5 on the unlimited Richter Scale.

Uneasy Calm After Death Of Student

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Authorities say they will maintain "heavy patrols as long as necessary" in the student-populated community of Isla Vista, still uneasy after four days of violence which produced one death.

Nearly 100 officers ringed a beseiged Bank of America branch Sunday while up to 200 more patroled the one-square-mile area next to the University of California at Santa Barbara.

Three firebombs were tossed into the street near the bank Sunday night by two youths who ducked into a nearby apartment building. They were not apprehended, a sheriff's department spokesman said.

The only other major incident Sunday was the wounding of Bryan Netin, 19, by birdshot of a police shotgun.

A memorial service Sunday for a 22-year-old student felled by a bullet Saturday was canceled because deputies prohibited large gatherings or rallies in the campus area.

The student, Kevin Moran of Saratoga, Calif., was shot after putting out a fire in the bank early Saturday. Sheriff's spokesmen said they believed it was a sniper's bullet because of its size, smaller than those used by officers.

Struggles For Identity By Minorities Explored

Current highly publicized identity struggles by some American minority groups, were put into historical perspective during the weekend at a three-day ethnic studies conference at Sonoma State College.

Speakers differed, however, on just what the historical perspective is.

While one lecture audience was being told no minority group was going to overcome the identity problem until they all do, another audience in a different building was being told that at least one minority group already has.

The "Black-Brown-Red and White Conference" drew about 200 educators and students from throughout the West Coast to lectures and discussions of the American identity problems of the Irish, the Jews, Japanese and Chinese, as well as of the Blacks, Indians and Mexican-Americans.

Dr. Eli Katz, professor of Hebrew studies at the University of California, concluded his discussion of Jewish identity in America by saying that "until the question of ethnic identity is settled for all, it will be settled for none."

He said the identity problem for the Jew in America today, for the most part third-generation Americans, centers on the conflict between his inability to support fully the policies of the Israeli government while at the same time feeling impelled, as a Jew, to support the existence of Israel.

Katz criticized the "melting pot" theory of America's assimilation of minority groups. The success of the melting pot really means that the American, whatever his ethnic background, comes out "talking and looking like an Anglo-Saxon."

While Katz was saying that the Jews, and all other minority groups, are still struggling for identity in "imperialistic" America, Dr. Thomas Caulfield, professor of history at Sonoma State, was telling his audience that the Irish have already made it.

"Irish identity is a thing of the past," he said.

The Irish experience in America, he contended, was no different than that of other minority groups who are now following the same steps the Irish took.

He outlined the process as beginning with the dominant culture's notice of the minority group, followed by discrimintion against it.

The minority group turns to militancy and then to what he called "co-option," in which it adopts the main manifestation of the dominant culture: politics.

He said other minority groups can learn by a recognition and evaluation of the Irish experience. For instance, the Negro is just now turning to co-option, he said.

The conference was sponsored by the college's ethnic studies division.

"Emergency situations aren't optional. That's why 4 disc brakes are standard on every Mercedes-Benz."

You know the feeling. The hour's late. The road is clear. The slow metronome of the wipers keeps you company. Your mind is already home.

Then it happens.

Just over a rise you find a trailer truck sprawled in your path. There is only one thing between you and a 20-ton roadblock. Your brakes.

In a Mercedes-Benz, those brakes would all be the disc type. Not just the front ones. All four. We offer no options. We believe that the braking system is one of the most vital mechanisms on an automobile. So it must be the best we can build.

Disc brakes better resist fade.

It's a stubborn attitude. And an expensive one.

When you've got to stop

Disc brakes are superior to common drum brakes for three reasons.

One, a disc brake is better able to dissipate heat—a major cause of brake fade.

Two, there's far more effective braking area on a disc brake than on an ordinary drum brake, giving you more stopping power.

Three, a disc brake is less affected by water and you face less danger of brake failure, even in a cloudburst. In addition, the Mercedes-Benz braking system is designed to give a controlled straight-stop—even when you have to stop short from high speeds. (Which is a polite way of saying "panic stop.")

You'll feel this extra margin of control and braking power the first time you test stop a Mercedes-Benz.

Because we believe, when you've got to stop, you've got to stop.

But don't stop here

In fact, a Mercedes-Benz may even change your driving habits. Because if your knuckles now whiten every time you face a sudden curve in a swarm of flickering brake lights, a Mercedes-Benz could prove to be a relaxing experience.

Our four-wheel independent suspension plants those tires on the road like no ordinary suspension could. Helps you take curves in one, smooth swing—evenly between the white line and the guardrail. And the next time you drive your own car, count how many times you have to make those tiny steering adjustments to keep it from wandering. Our recirculating ball-type steering, even with power added, helps to give you a certain "feel" for the road and a confidence that the car will track where you aim it.

We believe that a 70-mile-an-hour expressway is no place to play with your steering wheel.

Look for the little things

A lot of "near great" cars missed being great because of sloppy workmanship, slapdash assembly or lack of attention to details.

So after you test drive a Mercedes-Benz and see the big differences in handling and control, take a few moments to examine the little differences. Run a matchbook around the hood, trunk and door openings. See how the gap is exactly the same throughout. (Try that on your present car.)

Notice that every seam has been filled and smoothed, like the finish of fine china.

Reach under the dash. Not a wire to be felt.

Look at the trim. If it looks like wood, it is wood—not plastic. If it looks like chrome, it is chrome—not plastic.

We could take some shortcuts, make some compromises. Our cars would still be good enough for most people. But they wouldn't be good enough for Mercedes-Benz.

DEEP STEAM wall-to-wall carpet cleaning offers you :

GENTLE CLEANING ACTION . . . no brushes or scrubbing action is used to wear or distort the carpet pile.

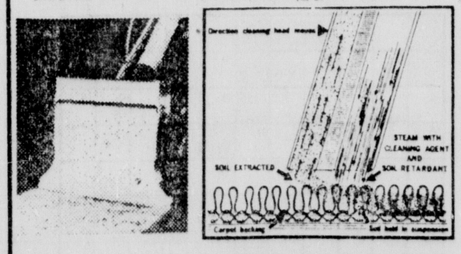
SAFE PROCESS . . . guaranteed to be completely safe for all fabrics, and under any condition.

GREATER ECONOMY because the Deep Steam cleaning process Soil Retards and Mothproofs your carpet. This minimizes the need for frequent professional cleaning.

LONGER CARPET LIFE since deeply imbedded soil is safely extracted from both the pile and back of your carpet.



HOW DEEP STEAM SOIL EXTRACTION WORKS

Deep Steam Soil Extraction equipment applies wet steam with a professional formula and soil retardant under pressure deep into the carpet fibers. The two cleaning agents combine to break down soil and the static electric charge, which holds the soil deep in the pile of the carpet, and brings this soil into suspension. Then, instantly, the moisture and soil are removed by the powerful continuous extraction process into a separate stainless steel container. During this cleaning operation every fiber is coated with SOIL RETARDANT and MOTHPROOFING to keep your carpet cleaner and protected longer.

The Old Method

The conventional shampoo scrubbing method uses preliminary vacuuming to remove some loose soil. The shampoo equipment, with harsh brushes, utilizing different types of liquid detergents or powders, scrubs the remaining soil DEEPER into the carpet . . . and even with the help of a wet vacuum fails to remove most of the soil or residue. This residue which is left in the carpet then works its way to the surface and attracts more soil. Soon your carpet may appear more soiled than before!

Today is Monday, April 20, the 110th day of 1970 with 255 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full stage. The morning star is Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1903 Andrew Carnegie gave $1.5 million for the construction of the Hague Peace Palace in the Netherlands.

In 1926 a picturegram of a bank check sent from London to New York was cashed. It was the first time a bank honored a check not actually in its possession.

In 1968 a South African Airways jetliner crashed, killing 122 persons.

A thought for the day: Norwegian poet Henrik Ibsen said, "The public doesn't require any new ideas. The public is best served by the good, old-fashioned ideas it already has."

Greedy Enough To Double? Then Better Play Cards Carefully

When the opponents have most of the high cards you expect to lose points. If they overbid, you should sit back and collect your profit gratefully. If you're greedy enough to double in ths pleasant situation, you'd better play the cards well enough to justify your greedy move.

HELPING HAND

Today's hand helped 18-year-old Robin Klar and Tina Rockaway win the national women's pair championship in Portland, Ore., a few weeks ago. The two young Houston experts bid the spots off the cards and would have gone down at their ambitious slam if East had remembered that a closed mouth gathers no foot.

Miss Klar ruffed the opening diamond lead and led a club to dummy's king in order to return the singleton trump. East played low, trying to look innocent, but she had already shown her big teeth by doubling.

Young Robin Klar tried a finesse with the nine of hearts and held her breath. West discarded a diamond, and declarer led another club toward dummy.

GUESSES QUEEN

West played a low club, and declarer wavered. It was possible for West to have the queen of clubs, but then East's double would be based on just the five trumps and the king of spades. Miss Klar played dummy's ace of clubs and held her breath again. (It was a breathless tournament for the young expert.)

The queen of clubs fell, and declarer ruffed a diamond. Now, with a complete reading on the East hand, Miss Klar took the three top trumps and gave East her trump trick. East had to return a spade, and South's queen won.

NO PROBLEM

There was no further problem: declarer had already won a deep trump finesse, had picked off a doubleton queen and had executed a throw-in play to bring home a doubled slam.

Incidentally, East could have defeated the contract if she had put up the ten or jack of trumps when declarer led dummy's singleton trump.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠—A 8 7 4
♥—5
♦—J 10 7 4
♣—A K J 9.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one club.

With four cards in each black suit, in a biddable hand, open with one club rather than one spade. Don't go out of your way to bid the weak diamonds in a hand of this kind.

GEISHA GOODIES — Tim Partridge eats rice from Japanese bowl with chopsticks after being served by Geisha girls Marina Bejanski and Betty Tolosa. The children, fourth graders at Laurel Dell Intermediate School, donned Japanese garb today to demonstrate the things they have made for Public Schools Week during an eight week study of Japan. The kimonos, shoes, table and eating utensils were made by the youngsters in the class to simulate life in a Japanese fishing village.

Public Schools Week Events Begin

Public school children throughout Marin County have spruced up their schools with displays and plan plays, films, music and demonstrations to entertain their elders during Public Schools Week.

Typical of the youngsters' effort is a simulation of the Japanese fishing village of Tomari on Hokkaido Island by fourth graders at Laurel Dell Intermediate School, San Rafael. The children have made kimonos, geitas, fans, tea and rice bowls, rice paper, abacuses, and models of buildings in the town during the past eight weeks. The exhibit may be seen today from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The "week," which actually runs until April 30, in Marin was kicked off this morning with tours of children's centers and preschool programs at Manzanita School, Marin City, St. Paul's Episcopal Church School, San Rafael, and Novato Children's Center, Novato, sponsored by the Marin County Schools office.

Martin Luther King School in Sausalito and the San Anselmo District office in San Anselmo were also open to interested adults.

Lawyer Seeks Riot Trial Outside Marin

The attorney for seven men accused of felonies stemming from a riot outside the Independent-Journal building in San Rafael on Valentine's Day has charged that they cannot receive a fair trial in Marin County.

Attorney Robert D. Carrow has asked a change of venue for one of his clients, John Joseph DeMartini, 44, of Mill Valley as a test case for the other defendants.

Carrow charged in his petition that the "atmosphere in Marin County is so verily charged with prejudice against the defendant engendered by the constant, unremitting barrage of inflammatory news items and special articles. . .that it is inconceivable he could receive a fair trial."

Carrow also said that KTIM, the only local radio station, which is "substantially owned and controlled" by the I-J, has contributed to the atmosphere he said exists.

The attorney claimed that the I-J has given a "biased accounting of the feeling between the union and the newspaper."

Carrow's client, DeMartini, is vice president of the San Francisco Typographical Union Local 21, which has been on strike against the newspaper since Jan. 7. He and the others were arrested during a riotous demonstration which resulted in property damage to the I-J plant as well as injuries to 17 persons.

The demonstration had been called in support of the striking union.

Carrow said further, in his petition, that since the I-J has a circulation of 44,000 and that there are 60,000 households in Marin County, most households receive the paper.

Unless a jury of 12 persons "who didn't read the paper or listen to the radio" could be found, the trial would be a "mockery of justice" Carrow claimed.

His motion for moving the trial to another county was set for a hearing before Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court at 10 a.m., April 29.

The accused men are charged with offenses including felony assault on officers, possessing unlawful weapons, and various misdemeanor counts.

CRA Branch Backs Pessner For Senate

Hugh O. Pessner, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, has been endorsed by the Corte Madera branch of the California Republican Assembly.

Alice Tennler, vice president of the 16-member group, said the endorsement was based on Pessner's "drive for less government control over lives and business, stronger measures against the widespread disobedience and anarchy, establishment of equal taxation to replace the present graduated tax which penalizes the productive segment, and enforcement of antisedition laws in order to free citizens from Communism's mushrooming influence in our government, churches and schools."

Clausen Pushing For New Park Property

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Legislation that could speed state acquisition of surplus Army property on Marin's headlands at the Golden Gate has won strong support from Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District.

The legislation, being considered by the House Parks and Recreation Subcommittee, of which Clausen is a member, would allow transfer for parks and recreation purposes at discounts substantially below the 50 per cent allowed. In some cases, the transfer could be at no cost.

Clausen, testifying before the committee, said that "with nearly 45 per cent of the land in California presently owned by the federal government, it is obvious to me that some of this land has a much greater potential in the hands of local government."

Clausen noted that the federal government had "always encouraged local government to acquire and develop open space, but we have never provided them with the tools to accomplish this objective.

"We can and must bring the 'parks to the people," and I know of no better way than to release those parcels of federal land that are of absolutely no use to the federal government," Clausen said.

Fairfax Trustees To Discuss Budget

The Fairfax School District board will discuss the 1970-71 budget and salary data when it meets tomorrow at 7:45 p.m. at the district office, 58 Park Road.

Also on the agenda are reports on enrollment and report cards.

Festival To Honor The Bard's Birthday

Terry McGovern, a San Francisco radio personality who lives in Saustlito, will host the Marin Spakespeare Festival's celebration at Shakespeare's 406th birthday Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley.

Those attending are urged to bring a "present" for Shakespeare which might be useful to the festival during its coming theatrical season.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

An Astonishing Criticism Of Richardson Bay Plan

Our hopes for enlightened and even-handed administration of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission's great powers over the future of the Bay Area are not encouraged by its staff's report on Marin County's master plan for Richardson Bay.

Joseph E. Bodovitz of Mill Valley, BCDC's chief executive officer, last week damned the plan as "so completely at variance with so many key policies of the commission's bay plan as to be thoroughly unacceptable."

WE FIND THIS rather extreme language. We think the plan a rather good one.

It represents (like all good plans) considerable compromise. It offers a practical method for improvement (as any good plan should). The end result appears far more desirable than the present condition of Richardson Bay, which is so noisome that it beggars belief that anyone would want to keep it in the name of "conservation."

HOW IS THE PLAN so completely at variance with BCDC's policies?

Mr. Bodovitz objects strongly to the provision for high-rise buildings. We are inclined to go along with him there. Two members of the Marin County Board of Supervisors also objected to the highrise buildings. But should the whole plan be rejected because of them? That it should, strike us as bordering on the ridiculous.

Next, Mr. Bodovitz criticizes the plan for not saying what would be done about the present pollution of Richardson Bay.

This is astonishing. That is what the plan is all about. It is a proposal for allowing development accompanied by dredging to get rid of the pollution.

The plan provides for dredging a deep channel, for filling part of the extremely polluted mudflats which are submerged at high tide so that their pollution is carried into San Francisco Bay every day, and for open waterways among the fills, which would provide scouring to avoid recurrence of such pollution.

Surely Mr. Bodovitz cannot have examined the plan and still think it offers nothing to solve the pollution problem!

WE ARE UNIMPRESSED by Mr. Bodovitz's research which, he reported, disclosed that an 1859 survey showed Richardson Bay as filled with mud as it is today.

We have not seen the survey, but we have seen extracts from the log of Capt. Juan Manuel de Ayala in the San Carlos, which sailed into what is now called Richardson Bay, not in 1859 but in 1775.

Ayala anchored first at Fort Point. Next day, as Lawrence Kinnard, University of California history professor, relates in his "History of the Greater San Francisco Bay Region":

"Seeking a better anchorage. . .he explored what is now Richardson's Bay and named it Ensenada de la Carmelita."

The San Carlos was a fairly shallow draft vessel — but not so shallow draft, we fancy, that it would be able to explore Richardson Bay today.

MR. BODOVITZ offers no suggestion for bettering the plan, except the ethereal one that Marin County take the bay over as a public redevelopment project. Having seen what has happened with public redevelopment projects in San Francisco and elsewhere, we scarcely think that holds promise of anything superior to the plan proposed. Besides, it is impractical. The present plan is practical.

If the Bay Conservation and Development Commission is genuinely concerned about developing and improving San Francisco Bay — as it claims to be and as the legislation creating it says it should be — we suggest that it take a more practical approach than has its chief executive officer.

The county's Richardson Bay plan may need some modification. But to reject it is to throw out the baby with the (very dirty) bath water.

Oil Counties' Assemblyman Cites Offshore Drilling Needs

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO —(CNS) — Although the controversy over further drilling for oil in the Santa Barbara channel has simmered down somewhat, the issue still is being argued.

The facts in the caseconcern Assemblyman William M. Ketchum, R-Bakersfield. Ketchum's 29th Assembly District is comprised of Kern, Tulare and San Luis Obispo counties, and encompasses almost 30 per cent of the producing oil wells in California.

"THIS PAST year or so," Ketchum says, "hundreds of thousands of words have been written or broadcast about California's off-shore oil operations. Some of the stories have been factual, but most have been slanted one way or the other, and not a few have been hysterical.

"Any worthwhile conclusion should be based on fact, rather than fancy."

Whereupon, Ketchum gives an unbiased account of the history of oil exploration in the channel, which began in 1896. He points out that oil seepage dates back to prehistoric times in the channel, and the amount of oil released by natural seeps is considerable, from 50 to 70 barrels a day at one point alone, and possibly several hundred barrels a day over-all.

He said support should be lent to the theory that pumping of oil should continue to ease pressures, which in turn would diminish seepage through the fractured channel bottom.

KETCHUM CALLED attention that cutting off the Santa Barbara channel production would result in a tremendous amount of import by tanker, which poses as much danger as drilling.

The assemblyman said further that additional bans on off-shore drilling could bring about many complications. Among them would be prevention of the development of fresh water from under the ocean floor; evaluation of mineral deposits other than oil, and drilling for scientific purposes, such as investigating sand transport, deposition and erosion, and seismic or earthquake research.

The state Lands Commission, which makes the rules for activities on the state's tide and submerged lands, has a good set of rules which are sufficient to govern the activity, Ketchum said.

A legitimate criticism of the contemporary generation of parents is not that they are too removed or detached but that they live the life of their children too much. The consequence is that parents often conceal their critical judgment of, or displeasure with, their offsprings' activities in cases where they cannot make over their own point of view to bring it in accord with that of the younger generation. — Sidney Hook.

Dogs Run Loose Despite Leash Law

I would like through your paper to thank the two writers of letters in the April 11 issue in defense of the Humane Society.

We are supposed to have a leash law in most of Marin County, but dogs, many without license tags, roam the streets in packs unrestrained, befouling gardens, sidewalks, and our beautiful town park.

One obnoxious dog in this neighborhood chases small children and old ladies in a menacing way. Some mothers have to walk their children to school. I have seen one delivery man several times carrying a club so he could make deliveries.

This dog has been reported to the police and the Humane Society but nothing seems to ever be done to curb his menacing behavior.

I am sure the Humane Society does the best they can on a limited budget, but it is beyond my comprehension why quiet law-abiding citizens must put up with the annoyance caused by persons being licensed for a few dollars to keep a public nuisance, which constantly barking, roaming dogs certainly are.

I agree with the letter writer who said it is the owner of the roaming dogs and not the innocent dogs who should be impounded.

Pleased To Learn Dogs Under Control

I was very pleased to learn, through a letter to your paper from a Miss Nan Fowler of Mill Valley, that the "animal control" station wagon is actively patrolling the streets and parks of Mill Valley.

Just a short time ago I addressed a letter to the Mill Valley Police Department asking them whether anything could be done about the unleashed dogs in Old Mill Park. I had taken my two young grandsons, with their buckets and shovels, to play in the sand but our brief stay there was made miserable by three dogs barking, fighting and racing through the area.

I wonder whether your reader is cognizant of the fact that "dogs wearing collars carrying identification and a cluster of jingly I-D things" still does not give dogs the privilege of running wildly through our parks and streets.

My thanks to the Humane Society for helping to solve one of the most serious nuisances in Mill Valley.

Party Loyalty Challenge Amazes

I note in your issue dated April 15 a press release article by one Behr stating he challenges party loyalty of other Republicans running for the same office.

I have always been a Republican in this county for over 37 years and I am very much surprised to find Mr. Behr running as a Republican. Also, I note that many of his followers have changed their registration from Democrat to Republican to help his cause.

Return To Spirit Of Constitution

I think your editorial of April 15 discussing the constitutionality of the Vietnam War was very pertinent. You have pointed to a very important point.

I have been told by some legal people that there exists a body of law handed down by the Supreme Court which holds that no federal body can "abrogate" or "pass the buck" as regards its constitutional obligations. This means Congress cannot via a "Tonkin Gulf" resolution effectively authorize the President to declare war. Short of the appropriate constitutional amendment only Congress can declare war.

I am becoming increasingly amazed at the ingenuity of our Constitution-writing forefathers. They had seen England plunged into the Revolutionary War largely on the whim of a single man, George III. They wished to avoid this and understanding so well the foibles of human nature, they knew that if you get a diverse body like Congress to declare war, that the majority of the people would be behind it. When this constitutional process has been followed our country has tended to avoid the problem of discontent it now faces.

I say let's retunr to the letter and spirit of the Constitution and we'll do a lot better, and especially avoid getting our sons shot up in wars with poorly defined aims and public support.

The Errors Of Vladimir Lenin Plague The World In 1970

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The epitaph of Valdimir Lenin, born 100 years ago this month, ought to read: No Man Did So Much To Suffocate the Freedoms of So Many.

The evil which Lenin perpetrated is not his communism which can be combated in the area of free speech.

The evil which Lenin perpetrated was his totalitarianism out of which he bequeathed to much of the world the concept of the centralized, monolithic, all-powerful party which, after seizing power by force, showed how to disarm its captive people permanently by erasing all the means of dissent and taking to itself all the means of control.

THE GRIEVOUS HARM Lenin did is two-fold. He perfected totalitarian rule in Russia, and he was able to invest it with a mystique of idealism which continues to deceive many people in many countries. Robert Conquest, the distinguished British Sovietologist, puts it this way:

"In the past, dictatorship was a temporary expendience, and parliamentary democracy was commonly held to be the most highly evolved political system. This is no longer so. Now the mystique of the one-party state is widespread. It is not just a means of governing the state in a disciplined way by a single authority. It is a method which claims superiority over the old democracy."

LENIN SAID that he did not intend to perpetuate dictatorship by the state. His was a minority clique in a minority party which overthrew by force the elected Russian parliamentary government. It was Lenin's theory that once the enemies of communism were removed, freedoms could be restored and democratic participation achieved. He said he foresaw the withering away of the all-powerful state.

It never happened.

As early as 1918 Rosa Luxemburg, a faithful Communist, told Lenin that without having to stand up to freedom of speech and elections the quality of Communist rule would wilt and wither.

But Lenin was afraid to yield power even to the proletariat. In his last year when he was very ill and Josef Stalin was looming as his successor, he seemed to realize that somewhere a wrong turn had been taken, but he did nothing to change its course.

This is why Conquest concludes that if Lenin were to return today he would be horrified to "see that 50 years after the revolution, the party had still failed to put down democratic rule and that it continues to operate as a mechanism whose function is to impose the will of a limited and mediocre group of leaders."

IT IS BECOMING evident that communism isn't working, that it is mired in inflexible doctrines, that it holds no key to the problems and the opportunities of the '70s.

Much of Marx's searing criticism of 19th-centruy capitalism was well taken. Wages were low, hours were long and capitalism seemed unable to distribute its consumer goods to the many.

But the Communist solution is not working and it is 20th-centruy capitalism which has proved that it has the inner dynamism to change and reform and produce a widely shared consumer abundance for the many.

LENIN'S VIEW was that imperialism would prove to be capitalism's last desperate gasp. But history is not on Lenin's side. The democratic, capitalist nations have shed imperialism, and the Communist nations in Eastern Europe and in Asia have embraced the imperialism Lenin said would bring about capitalism's downfall.

Lenin predicted that capitalist-imperialist rivalry would be the main cause of war. It isn't. The sharpest and most dangerous imperialist rivalries are between Communist imperialist states — as between Russia and Red China. Since World War II, the Soviet Union has used its army only against other communist nations.

These events give new substance to the judgment of one of Lenin's close colleagues, Victor Chernov, in an article written shortly after Lenin's death, that communism would inevitably move into a period of "disintergration and disillusion."

Boost In Social Security Benefits Seen This Year

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — It is now virtually certain Congress will vote another 5, and possibly 10 per cent increase in Social Security benefits.

The last hike, 15 per cent, became effective Jan. 1. The new raise will likely be dated next Jan. 1, but Oct. 1 of this year is not improbable. That is a month before election and would have potent voter appeal.

Reasons for the virtual certainty of another Social Security boost are two highly significant backstage factors:

THE TOP Democratic and Republican leaders of the congressional committees handling this legislation favor it — starting with the House Ways and Means Committee where it is now pending. Both Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., and Rep. John Byrnes, Wis., senior Republican, have indicated approval of a 5 per cent increase — and may be willing to go as high as 10 per cent. That also is the attitude of Sen. Russell Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. A clear majority of both these key committees feel the same way.

There is a sufficient surplus in the Social Security benefit fund to finance a 5 per cent hike without boosting taxes or the wage base. It's possible this surplus could be enough for a 10 per cent raise. As of this July 1, the surplus will be $2 billion. As of July 1, 1971, it is figured to amount to $5.2 billion. Another 5 per cent increase would cost $1.7 billion.

IN ADDITION to another across-the-board hike in Social Security benefits, Congress will also —

Boost monthly minimum payments from $65 to $80 — and possibly more. There is considerable bipartisan sentiment for a minimum of between $90 and $100.

Allow men to start collecting full Social Security at 62 instead of 65, as is the statutory age for women.

Raise to $1,800 the present $1,680 ceiling on income that can be earned without losing Social Security benefits.

These increases will be included in legislation, now being considered by the Ways and Means Committee, making a number of major changes in the financially shaky Medicare system. Chairman Mills' aim is to get the combined bill before the House by the middle of May. That would enable it to reach the Senate by June 1, and open the way for final enactment by Aug. 1.

STRIKINGLY indicative of this year's remarkable speed-up in congressional tempo, in graphic contrast to the molasses-slow dawdling of last year, is the flat prediction of Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, that all major budget bills will be disposed of in the House by July 1.

Last session, some weren't acted on until January of this year.

If Marin Had An Ombudsman, He Could Learn From Thompson

We've never seen an Ombudsman in action, but if ever there were one in Marin, he would probably operate much like the Human Rights Commission.

An ombudsman is one who listens to citizen grievances, cuts through official red tape, and tries to remedy the grievance, usually through consultation and persuasion.

That's just about what the human rights department seems to be doing.

TAKE THE CASE of apartment tenants who are upset over sudden rent increases but have no place to go. Everybody agrees that legally there's not much a tenant can do. But when the citizens appeared before the commission, the staff members of the department, accompanied by the county counsel, made an informal call on one of the apartment owners. And as is usually the case, when people meet face to face, they turn out to be more reasonable than when they take pot shots at each other via letter or telephone.

So the landlord agreed to extend the stay for one tenant and to renew the lease of another at reasonable rentals. The problem isn't solved by any means, but at least it's a start.

Austin Thompson, who heads the human rights department, has been working behind the scenes on many other issues. It's difficult to assess the effectiveness of this type of work because much of his success is measured in what doesn't happen — in tensions eased and violence cooled before it erupts.

SAUSALITO'S city council race had to be the only local election in California last week to receive international press coverage, pretty heady attention for a city of 6,700 persons.

The reason was the candidacy of Sally Stanford, making her sixth bid for a council seat, which all goes to prove that the sun never sets on Miss Stanford's friends and admirers.

In the days before the election, which she lost by a mere 38 votes, she received telephone calls from newspapers in London, Australia, New Zealand, Washington, D.C., Chicago, Los Angeles, and her old home state of Oregon, to name a few.

But she was most pleased by a call from Prince Aku of Honolulu, a member of Hawaii's former royal family, saying he was sending her a certificate designating her a legend in her own time. "Hmmph!" sniffed one of her Sausalito friends, "the prince is a little late; we've all known she was a legend for years."

STUDENTS AT Stinson Beach School are in the process of completing a 20-minute documentary film, filmed in both color and black and white, showing the differences between life in the city and life in the country.

Cost for the film—$100—was financed by the sale of cupcakes, which should be some kind of first for the California film industry.

Hollywood producers who are always complaining about the skyrocketing cost of motion picture production are invited to consult Mrs. Nancy Sullivan or William Niman, teachers at the school, if they feel the need for a bit of advice.

T. N. ALEXAKOS

The Subleties Of Language, Key To Writing With Clarity

Years ago, as a young lad and an innocent in the wonderful world of words, I wrote a novel. I worked on it a long time, months, as I recall, and filled every page in a large ledger book my father had given me to use. I was 11 at the time and a fan of Edgar Rice Burroughs, so naturally my book was about savages, wild beasts and spectacular adventures of derring-do. When my masterpiece was finished, I gave it to my teacher for her criticism. She kept it several days and then returned it. "you know," she said, with straight look into my eyes, "I could just hear those tomtoms!"

I know of nothing else she could have said that could have made my interest in writing soar any higher than it did. Whether she did the right thing or not I don't know, and occasionaly I think she would have done me a favor had she told me to practice my multiplication tables and forget about writing. But she didn't, and that's that — and so I was hooked.

IT TOOK a few years and stacks of scribbled pages before I realized there was more to putting one word after another than just saying it as you feel or think. I was learning about rules and finding there's a great difference in not writing according to the rules when you don't know the rules, and not writing according to the rules when you know them.

In those later days I was reading everything I could put my hands on about bull fighting, and one quiet afternoon I realized the bull was always called the "brave bull" and never the "courageous bull". It was my first insight into the phantamagoria of the living language, and the first time I discovered that the dictionary was not all I had believed a dictionary to be. It was not the court of last resort or the final arbiter as to the meanings of words.

Calling a bull courageous would instantly alert every afficiando that you knew little of the business of the bulls. Just as if, when talking with golfers, you said "slice" when you should have said "hook," they would know that you don't know the game. So it is with writing.

THOSE WHO WISH to write and be serious about it must know the language and it's a never-ending discipline. And you can tell when a writer knows his trade. His command of the language is not so much in his use of polysyllabic words as his knowing the subtle distinctions in common words. Take the words cruelty and brutality as an example. Frequently they are used interchangeably, yet there is a distinction. In a slaughterhouse there is usually little cruelty although much brutality. At a cocktail party there is seldom any brutality although you may find a shocking amount of cruelty.

Why is it that an artist is said to be working, but you never hear of an artist laboring?

Miss Bette Davis is noted for her skillful portrayals of ladies who were exceedingly polite and hardly ever courteous.

What is the distinction between talking and conversing, between humor and comedy, a humorist and a comedian, between power and force, sad and tragic, illusion and delusion?

UNHAPPILY, the dictionary is of little help. You must probe your own way, listening carefully and reading well those masters of the language.

Mark Twain said, "The difference between the right word and the almost right word is the difference between lightning and the lightning bug."

DAMP, CLOSED GROVE

Mother Attacks City Park Plans

A Larkspur housewife is making plans to take on the city in a try to make Dolliver Park a year-round facility.

"It doesn't have swings," said Joyce Losee of 69 Hatzic Court. "It doesn't have a seating area for mothers, or ground cover that drains properly, or a crosswalk across Magnolia Avenue."

The park serves a densely populated area, she said, and should be available all year instead of only in summer. And this year, she said, no recreation program is planned at the park and it may not be opened up.

The situation at Dolliver Park is the same as it has always been, said Harlan Berry, parks and recreation director. The park will be opened from May through October 1 or thereabouts, and playground facilities will be provided. It's too cold for winter operation, he said.

Mrs. Losee said City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst reportedly was considering closing the park because of vandalism costs, but Berry said there was no such plan.

"We had some vandalism there last year," Berry said, "a few fires were set, and rest rooms damaged. But that's not the reason for closing the park. The climate just isn't suitable for year-round operations."

Dolliver Park is a deep-shaded redwood grove that runs along Madrone Canyon next to Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur's main stem.

Mrs. Losee said the city was shorting Dolliver Park to build more facilities at Piper Park, a 50-acre area between Henry C. Hall School and Corte Madera Creek, a mile north of Dolliver Park.

The two parks are entirely different in nature, she said, and "they're going to spend a lot of money on a park a long way from my home. . .and not on one that's within a mile."

Berry said a tot lot is being developed at Piper Park, but "as far as any reduction of one (park) to build the other, there hasn't been any of that." Long range plans at Piper Park include baseball diamonds, a boat dock and other facilities, but no money has been budgeted for development.

Berry said no recreation program is planned at Dolliver this summer because summer recreation will be on the playgrounds of Larkspur-Corte Madera and Henry C. Hall schools.

Some of the Dolliver Park equipment is left year-round, he said, but it is too cold and wet in winter months to leave such things as swings.

At Mrs. Losee's invitation, Berry is to speak later this month to the Madrone Woodlands Homeowners Association to explain the park plans and situation.

Mrs. Losee said Bathurst had said no more city funds would be sunk into Dolliver Park because of heavy vandalism, even though she and several other women had volunteered to be park-sitters and guard against vandalism. The police department has indicated, she said, that it hasn't enough manpower to prevent park vandalism.

She said vandals have burned holes in plastic tables, broken restroom roofs and caused other damage in the park, but said the city should not close down public facilities in fear of such damage.

What she plans to do now, Mrs. Losee said, is talk with neighbors and other residents to see what they want for Dolliver Park's development. Once she has gathered some support, she said, they will go back to city hall to seek action.

Much Delayed Horse Control On City Agenda

A controversial proposal to regulate the keeping of animals in San Rafael will again be before the city council at 8 p.m. today.

Twice before the proposed ordinance has drawn overflow crowds of horse lovers to the council meetings, only to have the council postpone action both times.

A section of the proposed ordinance states that no horse may be kept less than 35 feet from a dwelling on the same premises, or less than 100 feet from any church, school, or building occupied by humans.

The council will also receive a report from Norris M. Rawles, director of public works, on the estimated costs of maintaining the Glenwood storm water pump station.

At its last meeting, the council balked at accepting the station from the San Rafael schools until it knew how much it would cost the city.

Rawles's report says the total cost to the city will be $2,830 a year.

The council will also consider the resignation of Roy R. Rhodes from the parks and recreation commission.

Go-Ahead Given On Sewer Plans

Directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utilities District have authorized Kennedy Engineers of San Francisco to proceed with plans for a new sewer collection system.

After reviewing plans Saturday, directors asked the engineer to determine if part of the existing trunk line could be used, reported Chairman Jose A. Silva.

The district, under fire from the San Francisco Regional Water Quality Control Board, is moving toward a plan for a joint sewage treatment plant and outfall with the Stinson Beach County Water District.

ETHEL HINNENKAMP
Novato's nominee

President Of Club Is Nominated

Ethel Hinnekamp of 7 Nave Court, Novato, president of the Novato Senior Citizens, is that club's nominee for Marin Senior Citizen of the Year.

Mrs. Hinnenkamp, whose quick smile and lively mannerism make her appear much younger than her 70 years, has guided the club during its last, and most successful, two years.

And she was an emergency selection for the president's slot.

Her husband, George, had been elected to that spot but on the night he took office, sustained a stroke. Mrs. Hinnenkamp picked up the reins of the 265-member club and has guided it ever since.

Born in Indiana, the nominee is the mother of three children and eight grandchildren. She came to San Francisco in 1948 and to Marin in 1965. When first in San Francisco, she was the manager of Morrow's Nut House.

"It was like starting a new life in San Francisco," Mrs. Hinnenkamp said. "But I soon made new friends and knew almost everybody who came into the Nut House."

She became active in the Novato Senior Citizens in 1966 and it was through the club that she met her present husband, her first husband having died in 1948.

She has devoted many hours to both the senior citizens and other oganizations. She was a 35-year member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, past president of the Howard C. Sperry VFW Post in San Francisco, county chairman and hospital chairman for the VFW Auxiliary and a member of the Novamarin Grandmothers.

Geritol Hit By $1 Million Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department filed a $1 million civil suit today against the maker of "Geritol" and an advertising agency, charging them with violating a federal trade commission ban on misleading advertising.

Atty Gen. John N. Mitchell said the suit, filed in New York City federal court by U.S. attorney Whitney North Seymour Jr., was against the J. B. Williams Co., Inc. and Parkson Advertising Agency, Inc.

The 11-count complaint charged them with violating a 1967 FTC order by continuing to broadcast television commercials that represented Geritol as an effective remedy for tiredness, loss of strength, rundown feeling, nervousness and irritability.

State To Seek Death Penalty In Slaying Case

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The state sought the death penalty today for Robert Beausoleil, a member of the "Manson Family" convicted of the torture slaying of bagpipe musician Gary Hinman.

Beausoleil slumped in his chair and covered his face with his right hand Saturday when the verdict of the seven-woman, five-man jury was read.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beausoleil of Santa Barbara, Calif., in court at the time, appeared shaken, while their other son, Stephen, 14, wept.

Prosecution witnesses testified Beausoleil stabbed Hinman to death last July 27 after torturing him for 48 hours to force him to turn over $20,000 which was believed in his possession.

The witnesses said Charles Manson, alleged mastermind of the Tate-Labianca slayings, ordered the defendant to kill Hinman. Taking the stand on his own behalf, Beausoleil said Manson actually committed the slaying.

Nominee For Senior Citizen Honor Picked

Ethel Davis, an 81-year-old former concert pianist, has been nominated by the Marinwood Park and Recreation Commission for Senior Citizen of the Year in Marin.

Despite nearly total blindness, Mrs. Davis is a familiar community figure, especially at parties of the Marinwood Funsters, a senior citizen group for whom she plays the piano and entertains.

A native of Wisner, Neb., she attended the University of Nebraska and State Normal School at Ypsilanti, Mich., on a music scholarship.

Her father, who raised thoroughbred short horn cattle, was founder and president of the first bank in Cummings County, Neb. She was the youngest of six children.

ETHEL DAVIS
Former concert pianist

She has been the church organist wherever she lived and in her early years played concerts and recitals with some of the most outstanding musicians and singers of that time.

While living in Ogden, Utah, Mrs. Davis was a pioneer in the nursery school field, opening and teaching at the first nursery school in the city. She also was one of the founders of the USO in Ogden.

She has been a resident of California since 1942. At the age of 58 she learned to swim, and at the age of 65 she returned to college to study the organ.

Mrs. Davis of 510 Quietwood Drive, still corresponds with two grammar school friends in Nebraska.

She has a son, Mansfield, an attorney in San Francisco specializing in maritime law; a daughter, Kathleen Goode, a computer programmer in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Sausalitan, 23, Found Dead In Room

Gary Gene Michaels, 23, of 111 Central Avenue, Sausalito, was discovered dead at his room Saturday evening, possibly from an overdose of drugs, according to Deputy Coroner Richard W. Madigan.

Michaels, assistant credit manager of Western Girl, an employment agency in San Francisco, reportedly was despondent over his job.

Michaels was discovered by Ronald Moskowitz from whom he rented the room.

The Sausalito Fire Department responded with its resuscitator at 6:47 p.m., and Michaels was pronounced dead at the scene by a doctor.

He had been a resident of Marin for seven months and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Michaels of Portland, Ore. The funeral will be held in Portland.

Book Fair's Net

The Fairfax School District book fair, held earlier this month, netted $62 from the sale of about 400 new and used paperbacks, the district said. The profits will be used to purchase additional books for school libraries.

Another Look Slated On Houseboat Colony

Marin County supervisors will take another close look tomorrow at the houseboat colony at Waldo Point, where the number of county code violation are reported mounting.

The supervisors' all-day meeting will begin at 9 a.m. on the third floor of the Civic Center.

The houseboat situation at Gates 5 and 6 is deteriorating, said County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney. "In addition, illegal houseboat construction continues unabated all over Richardson Bay," he added.

Assistant County Administrator John F. Barrows will ask supervisors to assign a resident marina-houseboat inspector at Waldo Point so that boat construction and related activity can be checked virtually around the clock.

In other matters, Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. is scheduled to nominate a successor to Planning Commissioner Niels Schultz; two vacancies on the human rights commission may be filled; action is scheduled on separating the building inspection department from the public works department and letters from both sides in the strike at the Independent-Journal will be submitted.

Also to be discussed are a proposed police-community relations training program, youth programs, a request for permission by the juvenile delinquency prevention commission to apply for $100,000 in federal funds for a research project and a discussion of the opening and maintenance costs of the new county park at McNears Beach.

Car Pool Given Ecology Award

Car poolers receiving the award were Dr. George Ellman of Tiburon, Justine Roberts of Mill Valley, Glenda Vandergrift of Larkspur and Dr. Chalres Fleckles of Mill Valley.

Rare American Art Pottery

Collectors of American art pottery will have the opportunity to see several fine pieces at the Marin County Antiques Show and Sale which opens Thursday at the IDESST Hall, 511 Caledonia Street, Sausalito, according to the Rev. Paul Evans of Mill Valley, a recognized authority on American pottery.

Among the dealers coming to the show will be two who specialize in art pottery and art glass.

Reverend Evans, a young Episcopal priest, has one of the country's most significant collections of art pottery. A graduate of the Berkeley Divinity School at New Haven, Conn., in 1963, he is editor of Pacific Churchman, the official publication of the Diocese of California, and vicar of St. Barnaba's Church in Antioch. He is also editor of the Western Division of Spinning Wheel, a national publication on antiques-collecting, and was formerly editor of Western Collector, a similar publication.

The field of art pottery is virtually unexplored by potential collectors, according to Reverend Evans, whose interest in it developed while a seminarian in New England. Although his own collection centers around the works of the earliest of the American art potteries, Chelsea Keramic Art Works and its successor, the Dedham Pottery, of Massachusetts, he has begun to collect pieces from some excellent California potteries, such as Arequipa in Fairfax, Roblin Potteries of San Francisco and the Stockton Art Pottery.

"THERE WERE at least 50 major producers of art pottery in the United States between 1872 and 1920," he observed, "principally centered around the large clay deposits in Massachusetts, Ohio, California and Colorado. Every dealer in old china, glass and pottery probably has at least one interesting piece in his shop."

The author of numerous artlcles in this field, Reverend Evans is particularly fascinated by the story of the Robertson family of Massachusetts and California, founders in 1866 of the Chelsea Keramic Art Works. He owns several examples of their unique blending of classical Greek form with the glazes of the Orient.

"The secret of the long-lost crackle glaze was discovered by Hugh Robertson of Chelsea while searching for another lost formula, that of the sang de boeuf, or dragon's blood, glaze which had been lost since the Ming Dynasty in China," said Reverend Evans who has many examples of these beautiful glazes in his collection.

His rarest plate is one in the reverse rabbit pattern where the rabbit design which became the Dedham pottery trademark is running counterclockwise, later changed to the more usual clockwise pattern. These plates were all hand-decorated in designs secured through a special contest the Boston Museum of Arts offered in 1892. The Evans collection includes most of the popular motifs — the iris, water lily, duck, turtle, turkey, rabbit and others.

Although his specialty is art pottery, his interest in antiques extends to other areas as well, as evidenced by the fine old grandfather's clock, interesting chest-on-chest secretary and other pieces of furniture in his home.

He hopes to discover another interesting item for his home at the antiques show this weekend. The hours of the show are noon until 10 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday and noon until 6 p.m. Sunday.

THE REV. PAUL Evans of Mill Valley, who is recognized authority on American art pottery, explains the interesting points about an 1874 redware vase from his collection to Mrs. Benjamin Upham Jr., assistant chairman of the Antiques Show and Sale, which opens Thursday for a four-day run at IDESST Hall, Sausalito. The Episcopal Churchwomen of the Mill Valley Church of Our Saviour are sponsoring the antiques show, which will feature some of the American pottery, a newly popular collectors' item.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

DEAR HELEN:

Whoever said your best friend is your worst enemy really had something. This couple is supposed to be bosom buddies with us. I've lent the girl clothes and have fed them many times.

Though she looks better in my dresses than I do, she didn't seem the type to play around. Yet yesterday I was looking in my husband's wallet for a credit card and came across her picture — in my bikini! It was signed, "Yours, Bunny!"

My husband says she gave it to him as a joke, because it was "his" swim suit — the "yours" meant the bikini, not the girl.

Today I got the picture out of the wastebasket where he'd thrown it after our little spat; crossed out the "yours" and replaced it with "mine . . . Nell," and returned it to her, by mail.

Is this sufficient? — SUSPICIOUS NELL

DEAR NELL:

It's sufficient to win back a bikini and lose a friend. But it shows deficient faith in your husband, your friends, and yourself. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Many years ago my parents divorced, my mother remarried and my father went to live with his mother, where he has remained.

Now that I'm married and have children, Dad comes over to visit at least five days a week. The children love this because he spoils them solid. They don't do their work, they talk back, they take his word over mine. Trouble is he never has to pay the consequences, clean up the messes, etc.

I don't get my husband's support because we're considering divorce. Should I just throw all the men out and start over? — TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED:

I don't guarantee the results, but why not give an outside job a try? When your Dad has full responsibility for the children he may shape them up — or else he'll ship out. When your husband sees you as an interesting individual not just a household fixture, he may think better of his marriage.

At any rate, you'll feel less hopeless about the situation because you've taken a step to change it. Good luck. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I have a son, 19, who enlisted in the navy to avoid getting drafted. But there's one problem: We don't want him to go in the service. We'd rather he got a job instead, and he'd like that better, too.

He quit school in the 10th grade and has worked on and off, but hasn't found anything to satisfy him. Now that he's older, he can probably do better.

Is there any way he can get his name off those navy papers he signed? — S.D.

DEAR S.D.:

No way. But your son can get a high school diploma if he signs up for courses offered by the navy. And that might mean $50,000 added to his life income. Not a bad exchange for a few years of "free" world travel, yes? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Could you provide a good short toast for a going-away dinner? — ABOUT TO BE ASKED

DEAR ATBA:

How about "may whatever befalls you fail to fell you." — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

What You And Ralph Nader Had For Breakfast Today

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON—Wanna know what Ralph Nader had for breakfast the other day before raising so many questions about chemical additives in food products?

I don't really know, but if his diet is anything like that of the average American, he would not be able to avoid some of the following goodies, taken from a longer list in Prevention magazine.

JUICE with benzoic acid (a preservative), dimethyl polysiloxane (an anti-foaming agent). CEREAL with butylaed hydroxyanisole (an anti-oxidant), sodium acetate (a buffer), Red No. 2 (a dye), Yellow No. 5 (also a dye) and aluminum ammonium sulfate (an acid). SAUSAGE with ascorbate (anti-oxidant), calcium phosphate. (an anti-caking agent), sodium chloride (a preservative), potassium nitrate (a color fixative), and guar gum (a binder). TOAST with sodium diacetate (a mold inhibitor), monoglyceride (an emulsifier), potassium bromate (a maturing agent), aluminum phosphate (an improver), calcium phosphate monobasic (a dough conditioner), chloramine T (a bleach), aluminum potassium sulfate (an acid in baking powder). BUTTER with hydrogen peroxide (a bleach), Yellow No. 3 (a day) and nordihydroguaiaretic acid (an anti-oxidant). MILK with hydrogen peroxide (a germicide) and oat gum (an anti-oxidant) and JELLY with sodium benzoate (a preservative), methyl cellulose (a thickener), Green No. 3 (a dye) and gum tragacanth (a stabilizer).

Nader pointed out that food products for which their is a standard list of ingredients don't have to list those ingredients on the label. If they were listed, lunch would look something like this:

SOUP with butylated hydroxyanisole (an anti-oxidant), sodium phosphate dibasic (emulsion for tomato soup), citric acid (a dispersant in soup base). CRACKERS with aluminum bicarbonate (a leavening agent), sodium bicarbonate (an alkali), diglyceride (an emulsifier), and methylcellulose (a bulking agent). SODA with sorbic acid (a fungistat), polyoxyethylene sorbitan monolaurate (a flavor dispersant), sodium alginate (a stabilizer), Blue No. 1 (a dye), cinnamaldehyde (a flavoring) and caffeine (which must be listed on all soft drinks but Dr. Pepper and the colas). ICE CREAM with mono and diglycerides (emulsifiers), agar-agar (a thickening agent), calcium carbonate (a neutralizer), sodium citrate (a buffer), amylacetate (banana flavoring) and vanilldene kectone (Vanilla flavoring).

FRUIT CUP with calcium hypochlorite (a germicide wash), sodium chloride (a substance to prevent browning), sodium hydroxide (a peeling agent), calcium hydroxide (a firming agent), sulfur dioxide (a preservative) and Red No. 3 (a dye). MEAT with alkanate (a dye), methylviolet (marking ink), asafoetida (a flavoring), sodium chloride (a preservative), sodium ascorbate (an anti-oxidant), guar gum (a binder) and magnesium carbonate (a drying agent). FRUIT PIE with sodium diacetate (a mold inhibitor), sorbic acid (a fungistat), butylated hydroxyanisole (an anti-oxidant), sodium sulfite (anti-browning agent), Red No. 3 (a dye), aluminum ammonium sulfate (an acid), potassium bromate (a maturing agent) and bleach.

ON THE AGENDA

'How To Entertain And Enjoy It Anyway' Is Last A.M. Lecture

Talking about how to entertain and enjoy it anyway, Nan Birmingham will present the last in the A. M. lecture series Friday morning at the Tamalpais Theater in San Anselmo sponsored by the Family Service League.

Seen on television's Girl Talk and other shows, Nan Birmingham is remembered in the Bay Area for her two-year stint in the Straw Hat Theater in San Francisco. She is the wife of best-selling author Stephen Birmingham ("Our Crowd", "The Right People") and famous in her own right, as hostess-cook for celebrities of the stage, literary, film and social worlds. A graduate of the Cordon Bleu of Paris, her formal training as a cook has been conditioned by housekeeping and hostessing for a husband who retired at the age of 28 to become a best-selling author whose dinner hour is around midnight, and the raising of three children, two dogs and a goldfish.

In her talk she tells how she learned—the hard way—the secrets of successful entertaining which, she claims, have nothing to do with how much money you spend.

A drama major from Stanford University, she did leading summer stock work with the Peterborough Players of New Hampshire and the Bolton Landing Players at Lake George, was a student at Michael Shurtleff's Actor's Workshop and is a graduate of the Stanford NBC-Radio School.

Preceding the program a coffee hour will be held in the lobby of the theater. Tickets will be available at the door.

THE NOVATO Chapter of Order of Eastern Star will hold a public schools night at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Druids Hall in Novato.

Mrs. Robert McKeay will be chairman assisted by Mmes. John Hoekman, Junius Thomson, Walter Halkovich, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilson and Mr. Robert McKeay.

THE OUTDOOR Art Club in Mill Valley will present "The Magic Of Haskell" as its program at the guest tea Thursday at 2 p.m.

Tea will be served by Mrs. Donald Harper, assisted by Mmes. Robert House, Jack Younger, Lionel Farber, Roland Herbert, James Ballard, Philip Welchman and Irvin Sutley. Pouring will be Mmes. Cornelius O'Boyle, John Norris, Martin Huff and Charles Gorrill.

Mrs. Marsh Marsh will decorate the tables and clubhouse, and greeting guests will be Mmes. Norman Chaponot, Raymond Young Jr. and H. M. Kahn.

MRS. JACK MC CALLUM, chairman of the 18th Annual Antiques Show and Sale starting Thursday and continuing four days at the IDESSI Hall in Sausalito, has announced names of those heading committees for this major fund-raising event for the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley.

Dealer chairman is Mrs. Stanyan Buckingham and treasurer is Mrs. Earl Reinke. Concerned with food are Mmes. Eugene Hecht, kitchen; Ralph Martindale, dining room; and John Anderson, grandma's cupboard.

The steering committee is composed of Mmes. Peter Behr, Michael Leonis, Harrison Leppo, Eugene McGeorge, E. M. Pearson, Edward Simons, John Wyand and McCallum, Reinke and Martindale and Harry Smith.

Others in charge of various duties in this project which calls on the talents and services of all women in the church are Mmes. Kenneth Kew, J. Caleb Cope, Robert Brinton, Gerald Smith, Richard Jessup, James Behr, James Lisk, Ennis Gicker and Hyman Krongard.

"TRENDS IN Education in the Seventies," is the topic of Stanley Freise, deputy superintendent of Marin County Schools, who will speak Thursday to the Ross Valley Council of P-TAs installation luncheon at the Edgewater Inn restaurant in Corte Madera.

New officers are Mrs. A. M. Ferrell, president; Mrs. James Walker, vice president; Mrs. Robert Riboli, secretary; Mrs. Harry Simon, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Berry, parliamentarian and Mrs. Louis Cimina, auditor. Mrs. Edwin Caldwell is reservations chairman.

MEMBERS OF the Bay Area Smith Clubs will go to the Oakland Museum Thursday to see "The Arrested Image." They will meet on the Marina in San Francisco at 11:45 a.m., and will have a picnic in Oakland before the tour.

Mrs. Richard L. Frank of San Francisco is reservations chairman.

MILL VALLEY'S Blythedale Rebekah Lodge 305 announces district president Louzella Peterson of Tamal Lodge in San Rafael will make her official visit to the lodge Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Odd Fellows Hall.

She will be accompanied by her marshal, Lillian Mathies of Tamal Lodge. Blythedale noble grand Mrs. Ethel Skinner will preside and Mrs. Betty Columbo will be chairman for the evening.

THE ROHNERT Park Women's Association will hold a rummage sale at the Silver Dollar on Fourth Street in Santa Rosa on Wednesday with the proceeds going to the Brook Hill School For The Deaf in Santa Rosa.

Donations may be made by contacting Mrs. Ron Neuerburg or Mrs. Curtis D. McMahon of Rohnert Park.

THE ANTIQUE study group of the Novato Newcomers Club will meet Wednesday at 9 a.m. to form car pools at the Novato Fair Shopping Center to visit the home of Mrs. E. J. Mahoney, Greenbrae.

Mrs. Mahoney has a collection of Imari, American and other art objects. Mrs. Edgar Garland is reservations chairman.

WOMEN INTERESTED in playing in the Rohnert Park Women's Softball League must register by Friday, according to Tom West, Rohnert Park recreation director. Married women over 21 who live in the Rancho Cotate High School attendance area are eligible. They should call the Rohnert Park city office and leave their name and phone number, West said.

SEVERAL MARINITES are among new members of the San Francisco Auxiliary of the Florence Crittenton Home. They are Mmes. Julian H. Apley, Frederick J. Moller, Roderic H. Phibbs of Mill Valley; William J. Gaffney and Douglas Moore III of Tiburon; and Mmes. James S. Reese of Ross and William Van Horne of Kentfield.

NEW OFFICERS of the Two Rock Union School Parent-Teacher Association are Mmes. David Mc Cullough, president; Eldon Screws, vice president; Fred Guglielmetti, secretary; Robert Tresch, treasurer and Ove Larsen, Auditor.

The five-week session will begin June 15 and continue through July 16. Children will attend from 9 to 11:30 a.m. each morning four days a week, Monday through Thursday.

Taking registration is Mrs. Rolf Scherman. After May 8, applications will be taken by Mrs. Timothy Muller.

The school is located at 689 Sir Francis Drake Blvd., Kentfield.

THE JUNIOR Woman's Club of Sonoma elected new officers during a dinner meeting held recently at the Oakmont Inn in Santa Rosa.

Heading the new staff is Mrs. John J. Joyce as president. Serving with her will be Mmes. Delbert Ross, first vice president; Stuart Lambert, second vice president; Ronald Eipp, recording secretary; Jack Madden, corresponding secretary; Robert Troutman, treasurer and James Baker, auditor. Mrs. William Nyberg is federation development officer.

More Parents

The National Industrial Conference Board estimates that between now and 1980, the parent population will increase by 23 per cent. The pace is faster than during any comparable period since World War II. By 1980, nearly three out of every five families, totalling 35.5 million, will have a child living at home.

Clover Mites

NEW YORK (UPI)—Clover mites suck juices of clover, grasses and a variety of other outdoor plants. And that's bad news for lawns, reports the National Pest Control Association.

The most effective controls are chemical and the chemical must be applied around the house, too — sometimes even inside. The pesky creatures like to lay their eggs in cracks and crevices of the house.

Cool Teethers

Is your baby teething? Many new teethers can be stored in a refrigerator or freezer to provide soothing coldness to tingling young gums. It is practical to have two—one in cold storage while the other is in use.

To Remove Wax

To remove candlewax from a washable fabric, first apply ice to harden the wax. Then remove surface wax with a dull knife. Next, place the stain between clean white blotters or several layers of facial tissues and press with a warm iron. To remove remaining stain, sponge with trichlorethane. Rinse thoroughly, launder.

Decay Decrease

NEW YORK (UPI)—In the last 10 years, tooth decay has decreased 60 per cent in children where controlled fluoridation of drinking water is practiced, reports the World Health Organization's Chronicle. The study covers 30 countries and territories in which some 120 million inhabitants are carrying out the fluoridation program.

Young Soloists Display Polish

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

The Orchestra da Camera spring concert directed last night by Hugo Rinaldi in Alumnae Hall of the San Domenico School was the showcase for talents of four young soloists.

These were pianists: Joan Franzini, Michael Mello and Joanne Gaizutis and cellist Jan Gauder.

By far the most outstanding were the duo pianists Miss Franzini and Mello playing the J. S. Bach Concerto in C Major for Two Pianos. This was the very essence of Bach with dynamic, smoothly flowing rhythmic pulse and each voice in the counterpoint, especially in the final fuga, crystal clear. They played with complete expressive rapport.

These young people should bring honor to Marin when they perform this same work Saturday at the Junior Bach Festival at the University of California.

Despite a rather lengthy lapse of memory in her playing of the allegro moderato movement of the Grieg Concerto in A Minor, Miss Gaizutis made a remarkable recovery, thanks to Rinaldi's skillful guidance and her own maintenance of poise. Her handling of the brilliant last part of the movement with power and assurance showed that she has high potential that should be realized with more maturity and study.

In the opening number, Concerto do Minore for Cello by Antonio Vivaldi Miss Gauder had some intonation problems and not completely assured technical facility, but she produced some lovely tones from her instrument, especially in the low register, where it was warm and strong. She, too, has considerable potentials.

Composed of faculty members and students at San Domenico with some Marin professional and non-professional musicians, the small chamber orchestra assembled for this occasion, with limited rehearsal time, played quite well — a complement to Rinaldi's conducting skill.

Though not listed as a full ranking soloist in Copland's "The Quiet City," Bert Truax, playing a featured trumpet part, was the making of the work with his beautifully clear long sustained notes and technical command in negotiating wide intervals. Also noteworthy was some good playing by oboist Eleanor Biondi.

Progress Report Due Tonight On Bussing Plan

A progress report on the controversial bussing situation will be heard when the Tamalpais High School District board meets at 8 p.m. today in the district office.

The district stopped free fusing for students as an economy move, over protests of students and parents in West Marin and the San Geronimo Valley.

The board also will hear a revised 1970-71 budget forecast from business manager Frank Cassou, a progress report on selection of a new principal for Tamalpais High School, and will officially announce the appointment of Supt. Wilber Hawkins.

Before the regular meeting, at 7 p.m., the trustees will meet in closed session to hear charges against a district employee.

Students Will Join In Drive

Thirty Sir Francis Drake high School students have volunteered to sell candy to raise funds for the American Friends Service Committee, a spokesman for Do Something, a student group has announced.

The group said it is raising the money to send food and medical supplies to Vietnam and Biafra and to help support ex-convicts, transition back to scoeity.

The group also lists among its future activities the setting up of playground equipment at the Manzanita Center in Marin City, and the selling of "Marin City, USA" a magazine written by Marin City youths about their community, with proceeds slated to help an exchange student.

Lauren Bacall And Her Musical 'Applause' Sweep Tony Awards

NEW YORK (AP) — Lauren Bacall said "wow!" and tried to kiss everybody within reach. Cecil Beaton thought it "simply spiffy." Alfred Lunt spoke of "sheer enchantment." And little Melba Moore wept just a bit.

So with jubilation, sentiment and a few surprises Broadway Sunday night awarded its 24th annual Tony awards for "distinguished work in the theater."

The top-winning musical was "Applause" with silver medallions as the best song-and-dance show, for Miss Bacall as the top feminine star, and two to Ron Field for direction and choreography.

Picked as the best drama was "Borstal Boy," based on Brendan Behan's story of his years in a youth reformatory. The play, originally done in Dublin, was written by Frank McMahon, an American.

Cleavon Little of "Purlie" was picked as the best male musical star, with Miss Moore of the same show winning the trophy for supporting actress in a musical.

The stellar drama honors went to Tammy Grimes in "Private Lives" and Fritz Weaver of "Child's Play."

The most conspicuous aspect of the selections was the virtual sweep of top honors by first-time nominees. Candidates were chosen by a panel of reviewers appointed by the League of New York theaters and voted upon by 500 representatives of the theatrical crafts.

For super-radiant Miss Bacall it was the first run ever for any prize.

In addition to her, Little, Miss Moore, Miss Grimes and Weaver, performers who copped Tonys for the first time were Blythe Danner, supporting dramatic actress in "Butterflies Are Free," and Ken Howard, supporting actor in "Child's Play."

Field won in his first directing assignment, while Joseph Hardy on his initial nomination won as a drama stager with "Child's Play."

Veteran talents weren't totally routed in the 16 competitive categories. Among them were Betty Comden and Adolph Green, authors of "Applause;" Charles Strouse and Lee Adams, composer and lyricist of the same show; Cecil Beaton, costumer of "Coco;" and Jo Mielziner, with two medallions for scenic design and lighting of "Child's Play."

The biggest name competition was between Miss Bacall and Katharine Hepburn, star of the musical "Coco," whose participation in the program was taped for the NBC network telecast in advance. Miss Hepburn did not attend the star-studded ritual at the Hellinger Theater.

In addition to the competition awards, special citations were awarded. Two of them—to Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, another to Sir Noel Coward—brought the warmest ovation of the evening. Barbra Streisand was honored as "performer of the decade," and another award went to Joseph Papp, founder of New York's free Shakespeare Festival.

Sound Director Named For Play

Tiburon's William Carter has been named sound director of this year's Mountain Play productions of "Tamalpa," which will be presented May 17 and 24.

Carter, who is also active with the Tiburon Cove Players, has been with the Mountain Play for 10 years.

ART REVIEW

New Look At African Culture

By LAURA DEVENDORF

There's another African folk art show in Marin, this time through May 29 at Anima Mundi, 352 Miller Avenue in Mill Valley. But this one isn't just a repetition of those already shown.

There are differences, most distinctively, the "Toile de Korhogo," which are striking drawings of stylized birds, animals and men done by Senufo tribesmen in a black tar-like substance on raw homespun.

The vivid stitchery designs in other toiles are also unusual. Singly, they are small, flag-like symbols for individual kings which hang behind their stools. They might show a knife, a ship, a strange bird or animal, or perhaps an event such as a hanging. In larger banners, symbols of many kings are scattered over brilliant colored surfaces.

For a small show, there is also a great deal of variety. Many ideas and materials have been included. Large carved masks, metal sculpture done by the lost-wax method, wooden spoons, gourds carved into wall placques and lanterns, stools, iron figures, baskets, fur knife scabbards and dolls, plant stakes of etched bamboo, carved horns and of course, many samples of weaving, batik and tie dye.

Some of it has practical application. Some is decorative. But all of it has a pervading sense of clarity and simple directness.

Most sophisticated are the fabrics. Rough woven rugs in combinations of black, brick red and gold on natural are notable for their elegant restraint. Other colorful lengths are used for men's ceremonial, toga-draped garments, some of which are printed with carved gourds and some of which are woven in strips and then sewn together.

One very delicate cloth has rectangles of tiny patterns and animals placed alternately with solid shapes of gray. And there are many dark batik and rich lengths of tie dyed patterns of pinks, pale blues, brown and gold on indigo and deep green.

The collection was assembled by Vivian Burns, a San Franciscan whose prior interests involved the native crafts of South and Central America. This is the first showing of the textiles and crafts found on her first trip to West Africa — a lot of firsts that have simply resulted in a very pleasant show.

RHUBARB REVUE

Sometimes Stale But Often Funny

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

Webster defines a revue as a form of burlesque in which recent events are reviewed by imitations of their salient features and chief actors.

While not in the strictest sense, this is wha tthe 16th annual Rhubarb Revue is all about. It hits home much closer, however, poking fun at events in the Tamalpais Valley — home for most of the troupe in the show.

The 1970 version unfolded Saturday night in the new Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club with the ring of a brassy Dixieland band and a so-so brand of adult humor which sometimes was as stale as the pretzels on the tables. However, the patrons seem to have enjoyed themselves and in the long run that's what really counts. And, too, the revue has been a mainstay in securing funds for the new TVIC building.

While most of the blackouts — a key to this type of show — didn't come across quick enough, there were several amusing skits — the IRS Strikes Back, Date-O-Matic which was a takeoff on television's "Laugh-In," and a highly amusing Ovedpopulation Rag.

Individually, Phoebe Deignam, a veteran of former Revues, captured the spirit of the show in a camping trip slide lecture, and Joe Allen, another returnee, knew how to draw laughs as the Mountie in No, No Nanook, a takeoff on early-day Alaska.

The courage of Bern Healey's cast must, however, be applauded. It's made up of businessmen and housewives who give it their best show biz try. And it also gives the folks in Tam Valley a community project that is fun to do.

Recital Scheduled

The College of Marin's Madrigal Group will present a recital this Friday and Saturday nights at 8:30 o'clock in the choral hall of the Fine Arts Building on campus. Admission will be free.

Keyboard Concert Set In Mill Valley

Daniel Scarlett of San Rafael, continuing his series of keyboard conversations, will present "An Evening with Chopin and Mozart" at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley.

The program will include the Sonata in E Flat Major, K. 282, and Fantasy in C Minor, K. 475 of Mozart, and four mazurkas, two nocturnes and the Polonaise in E Flat Minor of Chopin.

Infant Found Dead In Crib

The 5-month-old son of a Fairfax couple was discovered dead in his crib this morning by his father, whose attempts at mouth-to-mouth resuscitation filed to revive the child.

According to the Coronor's office, Charles J. Amey, 30, of 73 Cypress Drive, discovered his son, David, face down under the covers of his bed at 7 a.m. this morning, and realized the child wasn't breathing.

Guitarist Will Play For Senior Citizens

Guitarist and singer Carol Brown will be the featured entertainment Wednesday at a meeting of the San Rafael Goldenaires, a senior citizen group.

The group will meet at 11 a.m. in the Community Recreation Center at 2nd and Brooks Streets.

REMAINS OF FATAL PLANE CRASH

Uncle Sam Due $89.17 In Mailings

The Marin County Labor Council owes Uncle Sam $89.17 because its nonprofit organization mailing permit was used by a candidate for Novato City Council.

William Keegan, superintendent of mailing requirements at the postal inspector's office in San Francisco, said that the use violated the council's permit. Payment of the difference will settle the matter, he said.

The labor council, Keegan noted, had advised him that it had been unaware of the postal regulation that limited use of the permit to council mailings.

F. Wayne Sartain, the candidate, mailed 4,053 pieces of campaign literature with the permit.

The permit entitles its user to a rate of 1.6 cents per piece mailed, compared to the regular permit rate of 3.8 cents. Thus the council, or Sartain, owes 2.2 cents more for each piece in the mailing throughout Novato.

Sartain, who is a member of San Francisco Typographical Union 21, was top vote getter in last Tuesday's election.

35-Hour Week Among Demands

A 35-hour week, salary raises of at least 7.5 per cent and bigger county contribution for life and health insurance are among demands made by two bargaining groups representing Marin County employees.

The two organizations which have submitted their 1970-71 requests to County Administrator Alan Bruce are the Marin County Employees Association and the Social Workers Union 535, AFL-CIO.

Two employee organizations which have not yet submitted 1970-71 contract proposals are the Probation Workers Union Local 535, representing 75 employees, and the California Nurses Association, representing 18 county nurses.

Bruce said the various demands are so high that he did not even attempt to compute what the impact would be on next year's budget if all the demands were met.

"The county negotiating teams are nogotiating from a hard-headed viewpoint, bearing in mind that there is a recession" said Bruce.

Marin County Employees Association, which speaks for about 950 employees, want the county to contribute $35 per month for each employee's life and health insurance. The county now pays $16.19 per month per employee.

At present the county pays straight time for a portion of the overtime work that is paid in cash rather than taken in compensatory time off. MCEA wants time-and-a half for such overtime. The employees association seeks a minimum salary hike of 7.5 per cent from July 1.

The Social Workers Union, representing about 70 employees, is making even steeper demands. It seeks a 35-hour week, plus a 7.5 per cent salary raise, and the caseload for each social worker limited to 30 per month. The social workers also want the county to pay the full premium for health and life insurance for the employee and his dependents. This would come to about $40 per month for a family of four.

Building Bans Guidelines To Be Set

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Guidelines on barring new construction in communities polluting the bay will be set by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the West Auditorium of the Oakland City Library, Madison Street between 13th and 14th streets.

The state's tough new water pollution law empowered regional boards to bar new construction to prevent additional pollution until improvements are made to community sewage systems, but the law left it to the regional boards to work out details of imposing the prohibition.

Also to be discussed is a staff plea for more inspectors. If no additional men are hired, no additional enforcement actions will be possible, the staff has warned.

The board also will meet at 3 p.m. in its offices at 364 14th Street for a closed session to discuss litigation. The City of San Francisco has taken the board to court to challenge its ban on new construction in that city.

Marin, Sonoma Youths To Participate In Earth Day

High school and college students throughout Marin and Southern Sonoma counties will join other students nationwide Wednesday in observance of Earth Day.

In Marin County, two college campuses have scheduled teach-ins open to the public, while several high schools, unable to accomodate outsiders, have slated smaller sessions for their student bodies.

Organized by students with the approval of school authorities, Earth Day seeks to mobilize support for antipollution measures.

The College of Marin has scheduled a full day of teach-ins, speakers, seminars, films and exhibits. The day will be highlighted by a speech by Sen. Alan Cranston at 4 p.m. at Olney Hall.

A tree "plant-in" is slated for noon at the Oxbow Ecological Study Area, while the college's cafeteria plans an "ecology special" meal consisting of brown rice, seaweed and tea.

During the afternoon, ecology films are scheduled for Olney Hall.

At 8 p.m. the day's program will continue at the college student center where a panel will discuss pollution problems.

The panel will be composed of Harold Gregg, president of the Marin Conservation League; Earl Mortenson of the state Department of Public Health; George Taylor of the state Air Resources Board; Ernest Morris, director of the Marin Ecology Center; Joseph Forrest of the Marin County Counsel's Office, and Edward Nute, a consulting engineer.

Among exhibits and demonstrations to be featured at the college is a "noise pollution" room where tapes and slides will emphasize noise.

Dominican College students have also arranged for a slate of speakers beginning at 4 p.m. at Guzman Hall.

Daniel F. Murphy of the Bay Area Regional Water Quality Control Board will speak on "Pollution and the Bay." Murphy will be followed at 5 p.m. by Albert Solnit who heads the advance planning section of Marin County Planning Department and will speak on governments role in protecting the environment.

At 7 p.m. Paul Brand, an air pollution inspector for the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, will speak on "Cleaner Air - Our Mission Possible."

He will be followed by James Rummonds, a member of the environmental law department at Stanford University, who will talk on open space.

Dominican's Earth Day activities will end with a lecture by John Hunter Thomas of Stanford's Division of Systematic Biology on the "Immorality of Too Many People."

Earth Day was suggested last fall by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., and Rep. Paul R. McCloskey, San Mateo Republican.

The suggestion was quickly snapped up by a student-run organization, Environmental Teach-In Inc., which has since coordinoted the national campaign from Washington, D.C.

Elsewhere in Marin County, high schools, elementary schools and individuals are planning their participation in the ecology day happenings.

San Marin High School plans to devote an entire morning to plant-ins, walks, lectures, speeches from industrial representatives and films.

The lunch hour will be devoted to students selling ecology buttons, stickers and cans of fresh air.

Individuals, such as two high school girls from Terra Linda High School, plan to collect aluminum cans at the school.

In Southern Sonoma, a full week of events is scheduled at Sonoma State College.

A panel discussion on environmental problems will open "Ecology Week" on campus today and the week will end Friday when a statue is erected over a time capsule.

Tomorrow a discussion of the California Water Plan will be held in Room 3060 of Stevenson Hall at noon. On Wednesday members of the "Friends of the Earth" will begin a two-day fast which will end Friday when a bowl of rice and vegetables — which represents what is claimed to be the average daily food quota for most people — is served.

Also on Wednesday, a Zero Population Growth meeting will be held at 10 a.m., featuring John Whitehouse of the California Labor Federation as the main speaker. At 1 p.m. the "Friends of Cotati" will take the podium for a speech and at 3 p.m. a representative from a detergent company will speak.

Thursday there will be an expeditios into the community to plant redwood trees from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

On Friday the college Mime Troupe will perform on the terrace at noon and there will be a Jenner poetry reading in Room 3035 of Stevenson Hall from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Juvenile Hall Escapee Nabbed

San Anselmo police last night captured the seventh of nine Marin Juvenile Hall inmates who escaped April 4.

According to police, Scott R. Shepherd, 16, of Sleepy Hollow was captured by officers as he fled the home of Beverley Troutman of 67 Oakspring Drive, San Anselmo at 8:30 p.m.

Officers said they had received a telephone call from Mrs. Troutman earlier reporting the youth was at her house.

Juvenile Hall officers said today two other inmates remain free. They are Michael Farmer, 16, of Novato and John Maloney, 16, of San Rafael.

VENDING IS BIG BUSINESS

We have enjoyed 20 years of unparalleled integrity dealing with our customers. Our company is expanding again and requires distributors to service routes of vending machines.

ROUTES ESTABLISHED!
NO SELLING!
NO SOLICITING!

JUST PLAIN, OLD FASHIONED GOOD SERVICE!

Car is required! Six to ten hours per week can run a small route. Income commensurate with investment and effort. Earnings can grow to $1,000 per month with investment starting as little as $1,500.

Yes, we will consider part time operators who are looking for an ideal suplemental income situation, but he or she must be expansion minded. An intelligent company financing plan is afforded after initial investment.

Please do not waste your time or ours if you're looking to "play with a few vending machines." Sincere people who are prepared to follow this company's principles of "an honest day's pay for an honest day's work" may write.

Your first letter should contain your phone number and sufficient references to verify. All letters are personally reviewed by Mr. Cecil Ussery, President and Chairman of the Board.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Hands Are Very Often Culprits In Spreading Skin Troubles

A TAMPA READER wants to know: "Does itchiness come from an internal or external disorder? I itch is a different place every day. Isn't this unusual?"

No, because itching is a normal phenomenon in that hardly a day passeswhenthe non in that hardly a day passes when the sensation does not occur to most of us. These little itches are of short duration and often go unnoticed.

In answer to the first question, the sensation can be both internal and external in origin. A mosquito bite, scabies, or dermatitis is an example of an external cause for the symptom.

IN CONTRAST, ITCHING could be the first sign of diabetes or a badly functioning liver that is not cleansing the blood and thus allowing waste chemicals to irritate nerve endings in the skin. Now and then an itch is due to a menstrual disorder or to the menopause.

Psychiatrists tell us that the emotional aspects of itching are common. It may be evidence of tension, insecurity, frustration or anxiety. The psychotic individual who believes that there are "bugs" under the skin (parasitosis) may tear at his skin so violently that bleeding and scarring ensue.

The itching that develops in inflammatory skin diseases may be internal or external in origin. Countless irritants can lead to allergic skin reactions.

THESE INCLUDE wool, harsh soaps, detergents, pollens, dyes, and other chemicals. Dry skin resulting form a metabolic disorder, frequent bathing, or aging also provokes the sensation. Prickly heat due to the retention of sweat may do the same. Food allergy also is implicated.

Many good drugs such as antihistamines and corticosteroids control the sensation. Now and then simple ointments, such as calamine lotion, cold cream, or zinc oxide bring relief. When itchiness persists, try to find and eliminate the cause.

TO SCRATCH OR NOT to scratch is the question. There is no doubt that using the palm of the hand or a hairbursh spares the skin. It also interrupts the itch-scratch-itch cycle. And it does feel good to scratch.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

QUINIDINE AND WEIGHT

Mrs. R.S. writes: Can three quinidine tablets taken very day to ward off palpitations cause the individual to lose weight?

REPLY

No, provided that the quinidine does not affect the appetite. Side effects such as ringing of the ears and nausea, usually occur when too much is taken.

Jews Celebrate Ghetto Uprising

WARSAW (UPI)—Jewish organizations from Poland and other nations laid wreaths and flowers Sunday at a monument to commemorate the 27th anniversary of the April 19, 1943, uprising of Warsaw Jews against the Nazis.

As the 60,000 Jews who remained in the ghetto from a peak population of 410,000 rose up against Nazi troops, the Germans retaliated with artillery and aircraft attacks that leveled the ghetto and wiped out its residents.

Jews of the ghetto were cut off from the rest of Warsaw by a 10-foot wall. Before the end of World War II, 300,000 of the ghetto's residents had been sent to the Nazi death camp of Treblinka.

Swim Records Shattered

20 National Marks Fall In Novato

Twenty national Amateur Athletic Union records and 38 Pacific Association, AAU marks fell by the wayside over the weekend in the seventh annual Marin County Double-A Swimming Championships at Novato High School.

Karen Moe, a swift miss from Orinda, was the greatest of all the great performers as she shattered four national age group records and won all six events she entered in girls' age 15-17 to win high point trophy.

400 SWIMMERS

With an estimated 400 swimmers representing 37 clubs from throughout Northern California, Marin County swimmers accounted for three records.

The San Rafael Swim Club set a national record for the girls' age 15-17 400-meter freeestyle relay in 4 minutes, 21.5 seconds. The team is composed of Jo and Kathi Hislop, Wendy Peterman and Joan Moorehouse.

Marin Swim Club accounted for two P.A. records as Denise Ham swam the 200-meter individual medley in 2:34.5 and the MSC quartet of Miss Han, Anne Engle, Sue Secondo and Nanette Guthrie swam the 400-meter medley relay in 5:00.2. Both records were in the 15-17 age group.

Miss Ham was Marin County's outstanding individual, scoring third highest point total in the meet with firsts in the 200 ind. med. and the 200 breast and four second places. She was the only one of 17 Marin County finalists to win an event and she copped a pair.

In team competition, the nationally-ranked Santa Clara Swim Club led scoring with 433½ points, followed by Arden Hills of Sacramento with 357½ and Aquabears of Orinda with 216.

The meet was co-sponsored by the Marin Swim Club, the Novato Park and Recreation Department and the Independent-Journal.

FINALISTS

Other Marin County finalists were Sue Secondo, Nanette Guthrie, Anne Engle, Cheryl Cattan, Denise Ham, Ken DeMont and Linda Gibbon of the Marin Swim Club, Jo Hislop, Tami McDuffie, Kimi Fox, Joan Moorehouse, Kathi Hislop, Wendy Peterman, Spencer Eldred and Peter Behn of San Rafael Swim Club, Pixie Massey of the Tamalpais Swim Club and Ann Haley of Novato.

GOING GIRLS — Hundreds of youngsters from throughout Northern California jammed the Novato pool for the two days of competition in the meet co-sponsored by the Marin Swim Club, Novato Parks and Recreation Department and the Independent-Journal.

Barber Wins Sudden Death Playoff In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) —Veteran Miller Barber ran in a pressure packed 12-foot birdie putt on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff today and won the $25,000 first prize in the Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

The sudden death playoff was forced when the three finished the regulation 72 holes at 278, ten under par on the Lakewood Country Club course, in Sunday's weather-plagued final round.

It was the fifth tour victory for the 39-year-old bachelor and his first since the rain-abbreviated Kaiser International in January 1969.

Lou Graham, who had a shot at first place until the final crucial holes, finished one back at 279.

Grouped in sixth place at 282 were Master champion Billy Casper, Jim Colbert, Dave Stockton, Gary Player and Rod Curl.

NON-WINNERS

Neither Johnson, Barber nor Charles have won on the tour this year, but they represent 36 years of combined experience. Barber has won $40,341 this year, Johnson $29,436 and Charles $18,033.

Charles' five-under-par 67 Sunday was the best of the day and his best of the tournament. Johnson made the playoff with a 71 and Barber with a 70.

Barber missed a 12-foot eagle putt on the 16th and an eight-foot birdie try on the 17th.

TWO STROKES

Johnson led by two strokes at one point Sunday and held a one-stroke advantage going to the 16th. But he hit a bad drive, wound up in a trap on his second shot and missed a 12-foot putt for par.

Charles, meanwhile, was near flawless with his shot placements and had birdies of 20, 40 and 15 feet on the back nine.

Twins Win First Skirmish; Royals In Oakland Visit

OAKLAND (AP) — The first big skirmish in the battle for the American League West championship is over. The combatants agree it wasn't a true test of strength.

The Minnesota Twins defeated the Oakland A's 6-3 Sunday to take the weekend series 2-1.

"They're a different team with Bando and Campaneris in the lineup," he said. "But it's good to win anyway.

"They are the team we have to beat to take our division."

Rigney added: "I think we're getting out of town just in time."

The final two Oakland runs Sunday came on a 425-foot homer by Reggie Jackson, his first hit in 20 times at bat. Sal Bando, the All-Star third baseman, and Bert Campaneris both are expected to be back in the lineup against Kansas City tonight.

"I think we're just as good as Minnesota when we have Bando and Campaneris in the lineup and Jackson is hitting," he said. "They have good hitters, but so do we."

The A's can't match the Twins in pitching, however, Jim Perry, with relief help from dependable Ron Perranoski, won his third straight game Sunday.

"This is the best start I've ever had," he said. "I made up my mind to work extra hard this spring so I would be ready when the season began.

"This team will get runs," he said. "My job is to keep the other team from scoring too much."

Young Brant Alyea, obtained in a trade with the Washington Senators, was the hitting star for Minnesota with a two-run homer and a double that brought in two runs.

Both hits came off losing pitcher Chuck Dobson, 0-3. "Dobson didn't pitch that bad," McNamara said. "He had good stuff and control."

Light Hitting Costs Hub Softball Team

Light hitting cost the Sohner Tree Service softballers their first losses of the year Saturday night in Hayward, to Castro's of Hayward, 2-0 and 7-1, in a Golden Gate Travel League doubleheader.

With the Treemen of San Anselmo, still desperately in need of pitching help, Rich Pozzi hurled both games.

Cincinnati Rookie Pitcher Puts Stop To Giant Power

CINCINNATI (AP) — When Cincinnati rookie Wayne Simpson is experiencing some control trouble, it could be a bad omen for the opposition.

"When Simpson pitches like today, he is a power pitcher," Manager Sparky Anderson said Sunday after the 21-year-old hurler stymied the powerful San Francisco Giants on one hit in a 6-0 victory. "I look for four to seven walks from here in."

Simpson walked exactly seven men, and struck out nine, in winning his third straight game of the season and lowering his earned run average to 0.36. He pitched a two-hit shutout in his debut April 9 against Los Angeles and then yielded four hits in seven innings against San Diego in picking up his second vicory.

LIVE BALL

"I felt as strong as ever before the game and was throwing a live ball," Simpson said. "Whenever I throw that kind of ball I tend to have control problems. The ball takes off on me."

Anderson said that his ball moves "four ways and I don't think even Simpson himself knows which way it is going to go.

"This was his best game so far because he became a power pitcher. Willie McCovey had to fight him off which is a feat in itself. In two years if he improves he'll be ahead of Bob Gibson (of St. Louis)."

Tony Perez backed up Simpson by knocking in four runs with a two-run homer and two singles. The homer came in the first inning after Ken Henderson had come up with the Giants' only hit, a double with two outs.

COMPTON

Simpson, a Compton, Calif., high school graduate, outpitched Gaylord Perry, who was replaced by a pinch hitter after giving up three runs and five hits in six innings.

The defeat was not the fault of the Giant defense. Alan Gallagher fell into the stands snaring a foul ball in the sixth inning, and McCovey nearly tumbled out of sight over a fence trying unsuccessfully to catch one in the third.

Last year, Simpson posted an unimpressive 7-13 record and 4.89 ERA with Indianapolis of the American Association. However, he came alive while playing in the Puerto Rican League during the winter and carried his outstanding performances into spring training.

"I don't like to sound cocky, but my confidence is increasing," Simpson said.

His performance seems even more impressive since the Giants tallied 16 runs Saturday in drubbing Cincinnati and they were leading the league in hitting entering the game.

'GOOD ARM'

"Simpson looked a lot better as a pitcher than I did as a batter," said McCovey who hit into a double play, popped out and walked twice. "He has a real good arm but it is his first time around and he's not yet in the Hall of Fame."

SANTA ROSA RELAYS

Three Marin 'B' Winners

East Bay powerhouses El Cerrito and Berkeley high schools slugged it out at the Santa Rosa Relays Saturday which saw a sprinkling of outstanding performances from Marin County Athletic League teams.

The highest finisher for the MCAL was ninth place Redwood with 10 points. El Cerrito won with 64 points, followed by Berkeley with 60.

Marin county accounted for three victories, all in class B events. Tamalpais High, which finished seventh to pace MCAL "B" teams, provided the most astounding performance of the meet by clipping 16 seconds off the meet record for the distance medley relay. Tam's team of Carlos Martinez, Dennis Morini, Mike Arago and Vian Collier hit the tape at 10:46.5, to kill the old mark of 11:02.2. Morini, only a freshman, was a last minute replacement.

Doug Green of San Rafael blazed to a 9:53.5 in the two-mile for a new meet record in that event.

Tam's Richard Brown won the high jump with a leap of 5-10.

Brown's teammate Gerald Robertson finished second in the varsity high jump with a 6-4 effort, which unofficially eclipses the MCAL record of 6-3 set by Tam's Willie Hector in 1957.

San Rafael's 440 relay team of Scott Duncan, Paul Crovo, Dennis Silva and Bob Peterson set one of three best marks of the season for the MCAL, finishing fourth with a time of 43 flat. The others were established by Bill LaHaye of Terra Linda with a shot put of 50-7¼, good for fourth place, and Al Schlette of Tam, who finished fourth in the long jump with a mark of 22-3¼.

In varsity scoring San Rafael came in behind Redwood in 13th place, followed by Terra Linda 15th, Tam 16th and San Marin 21st.

Parnelli In Easy Triumph

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP — Nearby Laguna Seca is widely known in sports car circles as one of the toughest courses in the nation. But the sharp twists don't bother veteran driver Parnelli Jones.

He demonstrated four or five ways of taking the turns in his Mustang as he led all qualifiers Saturday and then sped to a 40-second victory in the inaugural 1970 Trans-America Championship Race Sunday.

DONOHUE

The only man to finish in the same lap with the winner from Torrance, Calif., was Mark Donohue of Media, Pa., but in a Javelin he wasn't a close second.

Jones seldom slowed much over the 114 laps on the 1.9 miles track. His time of 91.375 mph smashed the Laguna Seca record of 90.36 set by Donohue in winning the 1969 event.

His elapsed time was one hour, 52 minutes and 36.55 seconds over the 171-mile distance. The 12 finishers from the field of 21 included George Follmer of Arcadia, Calif., a distant third in his Mustang, and Swede Savage of Santa Ana, Calif., fourth in a Barracuda.

Craig Murray of San Rafael, president of Sears Point International Raceway in Sonoma, was eighth in his Camaro.

Jones' victory was worth about $5,000. Surprisingly out of the money was the Camaro team of Jim Hall of Midland, Tex., and Ed Leslie of Carmel Valley, Calif.

LOOSES WHEEL

Laguna Seca officials issued a list of automobile standings. Trans-America points are awarded to cars instead of to drivers.

Mustang gained the inaugural lead with nine points, followed by Javeline with six, Barracuda with four, Camaro with three, Challenger with two and Firebird with one.

Lakers Sweep The Series

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Second might be best in the West, but the New York Knicks are having none of it in the East.

The Knicks, who breezed in four games ahead of the Milwaukee Bucks for the Eastern Division title in the National Basketball Association, stood poised today to prove in the playoffs that's where they belong.

The Knicks need only a victory tonight in New York to close out their best-of-7 division final playoff series after beating the Bucks 117-105 Sunday afternoon in a nationally televised game at Milwaukee for a 3-1 game lead.

VS. LAKERS

The Lakers beat the Knicks to the final by upsetting the regular season finish in the Western Division with a startling four-game sweep over the Atlanta Hawks, who had finished two games ahead of Los Angeles.

The Lakers completed the turnabout Sunday night in Los Angeles by exploding in the fourth quarter for a 133-114 triumph over the Hawks.

BIG LEAD

The Knicks moved to a 20-point halftime lead, but had to survive a scare in the third period when the bucks pulled within two points with 16 straight points. But they never got even.

Lew Alcindor once again led the Bucks with 38 points, but managed only nine rebounds. Willis Reed had 26 for the Knicks, but Cazzie Russell was the big man, coming off the bench and scoring most of his 18 points to pull the Knicks out of danger.

The Lakers entered the final period trailing 89-88, and were still behind 95-94 when they started a crushing 17-2 spurt that gave Los Angeles a record seven straight playoff victories.

Jerry West led the Lakers with 39 points and Elgin Baylor had 31, while Wilt Chamberlain had 11 and 21 rebounds, ruining an inspired effort by Atlanta Player-coach Richie Guerin.

The 37-year-old Guerin, who totaled only seven points during the regular season, started in place of injured Walt Hazzard and scored 31 points.

Cannon Takes First In Riverside Race

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — John Cannon, a 33-year-old Canadian living in Pasadena, Calif., held his pole-position lead from wire to wire Sunday in winning Sunday's Formula A feature of the $30,000 Continental Grand Prix at Riverside International Raceway.

EYERLY WINS

The companion race for Formula B and C cars was won by Mike Eyerly of Salem, Ore., who also started in the pole position in a Chevron Ford and was never headed. He averaged 103.774 mph in the 76.4-mile, 30-mile, 30-lap race and picked up $1,500.

The Formula A race was the season opener at Riverside and the first of the 14-race Continental Championship series for open-cockpit, open-wheel cars leading the $10,000 U.S. Road Race crown.

COMPETITION

"I thought I'd had it," he said. "But when I didn't black out I knew I was going to be okay."

His toughest competition came from Ron Grable of Cupertino, Calif., whose Lola Chevy blew its engine with only five laps remaining, Grable, running a close second, sput into a wall but was not hurt.

Cannon finished one lap ahead of Dave Jordan of Cypress, Calif., and Chuck Parsons of Deerfield, Ill. Jordan in an Eagle Chevy, picked up $4,050 and Parsons, driving a Lola Chevy, earned $2.600.

Eighteen of the 28 starters finished the race. Among the nonfinishers were comedian Dick Smothers, who went only one lap before the clutch in his Lotus Chevy failed.

V.D. IS NO JOKE
...you could die laughing
As a matter of fact, this year about 2,000,000 will miss the joke. Blindness, heart failure, psychosis and paralysis are just a few of its "humorous" effects. That's about how many new cases of V.D. public health officials estimate will be identified in this country. And these people will be luckier than others. Too often, initial symptoms go unnoticed, allowing the disease to go undetected for years while it destroys vital tissues and organs and is passed along to others.
The real joke is that venereal diseases are simple to prevent. Physicians, public health organizations and clinics have all the necessary information. And—your professional source for medically recognized products to aid in the prevention of V.D. is your local Pharmacist.
Get the facts so the joke's not on you.

Jaster Wins Bout, Davis Wins Race

SPRINTS AWAY

Davis, who accused Jaster of throwing at him, then sprinted away with Jaster in pursuit, but the foot race wasn't close since the Atlanta pitcher had to shake off several other Braves.

Davis dashed around first base and ran into the Dodger dugout while several Atlanta players and an umpire managed to stop Jaster near first. Players on both benches raced onto the field.

"I accused him of throwing at me deliberately," Davis said. "He hit me on the right cheek and since I had broke it before, I didn't want it hit again, so I ran.

"I guess I shouldn't have gotten as mad as I did, but I did get mad and threw the first punch," said Davis.

BRUSH-BACK

"They had been getting too many two-strike hits and I just wanted to move him back," Jaster said. "I wasn't trying to hit him, I wasn't trying to hurt him. When he started running, I just gave up."

The game had long since been decided. The Dodgers scored runs in the first five innings to build an 8-1 lead for right-hander Alan Foster, who scattered three hits over the final eight innings after Atlanta scored its only run in the first on consecutive singles by Tony Gonzalez, Hank Aaron and Rico Cartry, who has hit safely in each of the Braves' 11 games.

Report Raps Inter-School Athletics

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio University task force, in a report for release today, called for elimination of the school's entire intercollegiate athletic program, except basketball, within three years, according to the Dayton Journal Herald.

The recommendations, the newspaper reported in today's editions, capped a six-month study of the university's athletic program. Approval by OU President Claude R. Sowle and the board of trustees would reduce intercollegiate athletics to a "club sport" basis similar to the current intramural program.

The report recommends retention of basketball because the school only last year completed a $13 million arena.

Golf

RALEIGH, N. C. — Sandra Hayne finished with an even par 72 and won the Raleigh Ladies International Invitational Golf Tourney by three strokes with a four-under-par 212.

Tennis

CHARLOTTE, N. C. — Cliff Richey, San Angelo, Tex., defeated Robert Carmichael of Australia 6-4, 6-4, to take the men's singles title in Carolina's International Tennis Tournament and his sister, Nancy, brushed aside Laena Palmeova of Czechoslovakia 6-0, 6-0 in the women's finals.

Auto Racing

Horse Racing

Market Shows Small Loss In Quiet Day

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market showed a small loss in very quiet trading late this afternoon.

Prices had moved in a narrow range from the start.

The margin of declines over advances widened to about 150 among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Wall Street analysts said it appeared that many investors had retreated to the sidelines awaiting President Nixon's report on Vietnam tonight.

Glamor issues were turning the best performance, posting some substantial gains.

Late prices on the New York exchange included Jonathan Logan, off 1¼ to 51½; Mohawk Data, up ¾ to 45¾; American Smelting, off ⅝ to 28⅞; Bristol Meyers, up ½ to 57¼; American Cyanamid, up 1⅝ to 29¾, and Japan Fund, off 1½ to 39.

Among the glamors, gains included University Computing 1⅞ to 31⅝, Memorex 1⅛ to 106⅛, Telex 2 to 116, Disney 2⅛ to 134½, and Burroughs 1⅛ to 133⅞.

Philippines Eye Exchanges Curbs

MANILA (UPI)—The Securities and Exchange Commission has proposed a law limiting the number of stock exchanges in the country to protect investors.

"The proliferation of stock exchanges will bring about cut-throat and ruinous competition resulting in disparity of prices of the same issues in different exchanges," the commission said.

At present there are two stock exchanges in Manila. Several groups are planning to set up stock markets in surburban cities.

Zellerbach Sales Climb In Quarter

SAN FRANCISCO — (BW) — Crown Zellerbach Corp. has reported that sales for the first quarter increased by 8 per cent to a new sales record for the period, while net income declined 4 per cent.

Consolidated sales for the quarter reached $224,616,000, compared to $207,445,000 last year. Net income was $11,078,000, compared to $11,582,000, and amounted to 47 cents a share, contrasted with 49 cents in the first three months of 1969.

Commenting on the results, C. R. Dahl, president and chief executive officer, said that the company continued to be affected by the nationwide pause in housing starts and new construction, which has led to declining demand and softening prices in building materials.

He noted that the company sees little near-term improvement in building materials, barring an easing of present monetary restraints.

Box Use Increases

NEW YORK (UPI)—Per-capita corrugated fibreboard box consumption in the United States amounts to almost 100 average size boxes for every man, woman and child in the country, a 35 per cent increase in the past decade, according to the Fibre Box Association.

Slower Growth Seen For S. S. Kresge

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Would you give me your views on holding S.S. Kresge? I have shares that cost more than their present market value. — W.D.

A. When 1969 earnings were reported showing a 2-cent decline year-to-year in fourth-quarter earnings, the stock dropped 11½ points as funds stumbled over one another in disposing of their holdings. Reported 1969 results gained 14 per cent from $1.39 to $1.57 a share, still well below the $1.70 which had been expected.

Promotional cost-cutting, which kept volume high when many retailers were suffering from dropping sales, had the not unexpected result of squeezing margins in the final quarter. Other factors were increased interest costs on carrying inventory and nonrecurring expenses from opening five Australian K marts and the formation of a service unit.

Growth, which has been at a 25 per cent annual rate, is expected to continue at no more than 20 per cent over the next five years. Even this somewhat reduced growth rate exceeds economic expansion by a wide margin. I would continue to hold.

Q. I bought shares of National Industries last year at 19. What are its recovery chances? — L.L.

A. Last year was not a good one for National. Earnings, after a 44-cent write-down, were 20 cents a share versus 84 cents—restated to reflect sale of discontinued operations—in 1968. The drop in earnings resulted from the cyclamate ban which affected its soft-drink operations, losses related to sold subsidiaries and tight money in a softening economy.

Although 1970 earnings are expected to improve, first-quarter results will be affected by the TSC acquisition. TSC's retail operations are traditionally depressed in the January-March period. Long-term debt as of June 30, 1969, was $93.9 million pro forma, including TSC on a purchase basis.

A new isotonic drink, Energade, and a gas discovery in Ohio are expected to contribute to improvement in 1970 operations. Recovery in earnings should be reflected in trading levels.

School Fires At Stinson Called Arson

Other Blazes Hit Park, Power; Outdoor Classes

The Stinson Beach School was gutted yesterday by a fire set by arsonists, who also struck at Stinson Beach State Park, ruining a tractor grader.

The school burning disrupted normal classwork today.

A third fire, at the top of a power pole, which wasn't set, cut off power at 3:30 p.m. to most of the community for 11½ hours.

Fire Chief George H. White said the fire which broke out at the school at 1 a.m. was set in three places, by placing baskets of paper against the walls and igniting them.

The main classroom and a former classroom, used as a storage area, were swept by the flames.

Stinson's 45 students met this morning in the portable undamaged by the school fire. Supt. Clarence B. Larison said the youngsters will take field trips during the next few days until temporary classroom space can be found.

Today, the students were planning a litter cleanup around Stinson Beach, according to Mrs. Nancy Sullivan, head teacher at the school.

Sidney F. Walton Jr., principal of Sausalito's Martin Luther King School, has invited the displaced students to use King facilities until other more permanent arrangements are made. "We have plenty of room here," Walton said, adding he will bring his plan to the Sausalito School District Board when it meets tonight.

Lewis said the board will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow to determine what steps to take to house pupils.

Lewis said among the possibilities are using either the Bolinas Community Center or Stinson Beach Community Center or "putting up a tent."

There have been discussions at past board meeings of abandoning the Stinson Beach School and having one campus at Bolinas School.

Lewis said it was hard to estimate the damage since one of the rooms, the one being used for storage, was damaged by fire in 1967.

Chief White said that about 2 a.m. while firemen were at the school fire "someone tried to burn down the service area" at Stinson Beach State Park where the vehicles and workshop are located.

A fire was set at a tractor

Nixon To Outline Future Viet Cuts

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) - President Nixon will outline his approach to further U.S. troop withdrawals from South Vietnam in a television-radio address tonight-and perhaps unveil a surprise or two.

Nixon will speak at 6 p.m. PST.

Sources at the Western White House cautioned today against advance speculation that Nixon would announce a successor to Henry Cabot Lodge as chief American peace negotiator in Paris. Press Secretary Ronald I. Ziegler indicated earlier in the month that such an announcement might be imminent.

At the same time, these sources did not rule out the apparent likelihood that Nixon, in what is billed as a 10 - to 15 - minute "update report" to the nation, would go beyond mere discussion of troop levels and break new ground in presidential discussion of the Southeast Asian situation.

APOLLO 13 ASTRONAUTS BEGIN RELIVING JOURNEY

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 13's astronauts today began telling specialists what happened on their near-tragic space flight, a journey they feared they might not survive.

The first debriefing session started at 8 a.m. CST and concentrated on events leading up to the April 13 oxygen tank explosion that placed the astronauts' lives in jeopardy.

What the astronauts report may help pinpoint the cause of the accident which aborted man's third moon-landing attempt.

Invasion Of Cuba Claimed

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A weekend battle in Cuba between exile invaders and Fidel Castro's forces is the beginning of guerrilla war in the mountains of the Communist island, a spokesman for an anti-Castro group was quoted as saying today.

The spokesman for the militant group, Alpha 66, said several invading forces landed on Cuban shores during the past several days.

Castro announced Sunday via Havana radio that six men, including four of his own troops, were killed in the beach fighting. He blamed the invasion on "mercenaries coming from the United States equipped with modern automatic arms of the Yankee Army."

A spokesman for Alpha 66 told the Miami News that Friday's landings in Cuba were designed to start warfare in the mountains of easternmost Oriente Province.

The spokesman said the invaders' friends and relatives waited anxiously at Alpha 66 headquarters in Miami's "Little Havana" sector for further news.

The News said the nucleus of the landing parties came from a group that had a January invasion foiled by rough seas. That band of men found refuge at the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. One man was lost in the ocean and many of the arms sank when two small boats overturned, the News said.

Capt. Vicente Mendez, 39, led the ill-fated group of 16 in January. The News said Mendez also led the latest assault after a training session deep in the swampy Florida Everglades. There was no word on the jumping off point since such a departure from Florida would have likely violated neutrality laws, the newspaper said.

'Sick-Out' In Sausalito Schools Apparently Over

Conditions appeared back to normal today in the Sausalito School District's four schools as 58 employees — including 18 teachers — returned to their jobs after a two-day "sick-out" Thursday and Friday to protest recent personnel cuts by the district's board of trustees.

The return to normalcy preceded by a matter of hours a board meeting at 7:30 p.m. today, when recent decisions by the board, said to have triggered the "sick-out", will be discussed.

Also likely to come up tonight is a request by a citizens group that the Marin County Schools office take over administration of the district, a proposal that had county schools staff in session during the weekend and again late this morning.

Student attendance, which dropped sharply Friday with the absence of 161 of the district's 708 students, also appeared normal.

Sidney F. Walton Jr., principal of Martin Luther King School and King Vice principal James T. Toliver Jr. were also back at work after a two-day absence.

Although the teachers and other employees would not discuss either the reasons for the "sick-out" or the return to jobs, Walton, speaking on an Oakland radio station last night said the "collective sickness" was to call the community's attention to recent personnel cutbacks by the board which the principal said "will have the effect of wiping out all the good we have done this year."

Trustees have decided to eliminate the positions of Toliver, Raye Richardson, the district's multiethnic coordinator, Gabe Jackson, a community worker, and several teachers and teacher aides for budget reasons next year. The board also voted to close Bayside School and move students to Central School, action protested by many teachers.

"If people were upset by the chaos and confusion which resulted when we were gone for two days, they now have an idea of what every day next year will be like without us," Walton said.

Supt. Phillip W. Schneider said he was "delighted that

Laird Says Soviet Buildup Of Missiles Could Force U.S. Hand

NEW YORK (AP) - Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today "we are literally at the edge of prudent risk" in postponing decisions on major new offensive nuclear weapons to give U.S.-Russian arms limitation talks maximum chance for success.

Claiming a steadily rising Russian missile threat, Laird said that "if the Soviet strategic offensive buildup continues, the risk to our nation will become too great to sustain without major offsetting actions."

In a major speech prepared for the 70th annual meeting of the Associated Press, the Pentagon chief expressed hope for success at the strategic arms limitation talks - SALT - which have just opened a hard-bargaining phase in Vienna.

But Laird rejected arguments that the United States should,at the outset of the negotiations, unilaterally hold up impending deployment of multiple independently targetable warhead missiles (MIRVs) and expansion of the Safeguard missile ABM system.

"The place to resolve these issues is at the conference table with the Soviets," he said.

"Let us try to find out at the conference table the meaning of the Soviet Union's increased weapon deployments and let us conduct these important negotiations with full recognition of these continuing Soviet deployments."

Laird said the risks in deferring "hard decisions" on whether to go ahead with advances missiles and bombers are acceptable only if the United States proceeds with the long-planned MIRV deployment and what he called a "minimal addition" to the Safeguard system, as proposed this year by the Nixon administration.

Disputing critics who contend MIRV and ABM systems spur the arms race, Laird asserted these weapons are essential to preserve the U.S. nuclear force that deters Russian attack - the ABM by saving land-based U.S. missiles and bombers from surprise knockout and the MIRV by assuring that land-based and submarine-launched missiles can overshelm formidable Soviet defenses.

The defense secretary said the United States seeks "no more than a posture of effective deterrence" and that "we obviously could recognize as legitimate a Soviet desire for a comparable deterrent to protect its interests."

However, he said that Russia for the past five years "has engaged in a major effort to change the balance of power" and added that "a clear strategic superiority on the part of the Soviet Union would affect our interests and our obligations throughout the world."

Jews Feting The Passover

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Shortly after sundown today, in millions of Jewish homes, a child will ask: "Why is this night different from all other nights?"

That question has been asked, by the youngest boy present in each Jewish home, annually for more than 3,000 years. It marks the beginning of Judaism's oldest religious festival, the Passover.

The head of the family always responds to the question by telling the Biblical story of the mighty acts by which God delivered the children of Israel from slavery in Egypt about 1220 B. C.

The annual recounting of the story is an act of remembrance performed in obedience to a divine commandment which is preserved in the book of Exodus (Chapter 13, Verse 14):

"And when in time to come your son asks you, 'What does this mean?' you say to him, 'By strength of hand the Lord brought us out of Egypt, from the house of bondage.'"

Save Reed Schools Group Said Derailing Recall Move

The Save Reed Schools Committee has refused a proposal for recall of two Reed School District trustees to concentrate upon supporting a tax raise and participating in selection of a new superintendent, according to a member of its steering committee.

Mervin D. Field, who presented the recommendations of the group's steering committee at a meeting last Thursday at St. Stephen's Church, said he received general support for his position that recall should be "only a last resort."

Field moved that the committee propose a widely representative committee to screen candidates for superintendent to replace Robert B. Gaw, who has resigned. The motion ran into trouble, however, for specifying that trustees Leo Souza and Thomas S. Price be members of the screening committee. Several objected that trustees, who make the final selection, should not also be on the screening committee. Field then withdrew his motion.

Field won endorsement for a recommendation that the Save Reed Schools Committee try to get definite commitments from all board members as to their stand on the proposed 60-cent increase in the district's operating tax rate limit, to be voted on June 2. Richwagen and Wright opposed the last tax increase, which was defeated at the polls.

The Save Reed Schools Committee is an outgrowth of the Reed Mediators, formed by a group of parents during the report card dispute of last November. Richard Goff is chairman.

Enemy Fire Downs Five U.S. Copters

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five American helicopters were shot down in South Vietnam Sunday, the largest one-day toll in nearly a year, the U.S. Command said. Four Americans were killed and six were wounded in the crashes.

But the Communist command's offensive, launched on April 1, appeared to be losing momentum. The U.S. Command reported 20 enemy rocket and mortar attacks during the 24 hours ending 8 a.m. today. Six of the attacks caused casualties or damage.

Ground action also was light and scattered, with one American, two South Vietnamese and 57 enemy troops reported killed.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 13 civilians were killed and 69 wounded in three terrorist attacks.

American troop strength in Vietnam dropped to 425,000 last week, the lowest level in more than three years, according to the U.S. Command. The announcement was made 16 hours before President Nixon was expected to announce further troop withdrawals in a scheduled speech.

Nixon's third round of withdrawals, finished April 15, dropped the authorized troop ceiling to 434,000 men. Although the total strength was reported at 8,500 below that, a command spokesman said actual strength always runs 1 to 2 per cent underneath the ceiling.

In neighboring Cambodia, four government battalions moved up today to the edge of the riverside town of Saang, 18 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, and began making plans to dislodge the Viet Cong force that occupied it Sunday.

The Viet Cong moved in when government troops retreated from Saang, the closest the insurgents have come to the Cambodian capital.

The Viet Cong and their North Vietnamese allies are now active in much of the territory between Phnom Penh and the South Vietnamese border. Last week they chased a Cambodian army unit into South Vietnam, where the visitors were given friendly treatment.

Israeli Jets In Intensive Canal Attacks

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli warplanes struck intermittently for more than three hours today at Egyptian military targets along the central sector of the Suez Canal, a military spokesman said.

The spokesman said all aircraft returned safely.

The Israeli raid followed at least one heavy air strike by Egypt in the occupied Sinai Peninsula along the Suez Canal. Israel acknowledged the strike Saturday night, saying three Israeli soldiers were killed and eight wounded. At least one Egyptian plane was downed and its dead pilot fished out of the canal, Israel reported. A spokesman said two other planes were hit and apparently brought down.

Egypt had claimed all planes returned safely from the raid Saturday night, but said one plane was lost in a follow-up raid. Israel denied there was a second raid.

THEY CAME TO CHEER

The 'Home' Folks Turn Out To Welcome Apollo 13 Crew

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — James Lovell stepped briskly from the White House jet, paused briefly to smile hello and headed straight for a station wagon out of sight of the welcoming crowd.

"Hello, Mom," he said. "It's good to see you."

Only then was there time for the 5,000 who had come to cheer Lovell, Fred Haise and Jack Swigert home.

Home again. Back to the home they thought they might never see again.

Although their mission to land on the moon was not achieved, their return was a triumph.

They'd had other welcomes: from the swimmer who first reached their capsule after splashdown Friday, on the carrier Iwo Jima and from President Nixon and their families when they reached Honolulu.

This is the place where they trained for man's third visit to the moon, an effort thwarted by an explosion. These were the people who, by the thousands, were totally committed to bring them home.

People like flight directors Glynn Lunney and Milton Windler on whose many critical decisions their lives depended; like Deke Slayton, their immediate boss; like fellow astronauts who worked out bugs on the ground before they could develop into more trouble in space.

There were the officials who run things. There were Mission Control personnel.

But there were, too, the children from the astronaut's neighborhoods of El Lago and Timber Cove. Everywhere there were kids—the Space Center kids learn about thrust and apogee before they finish the alphabet.

"I can say this with more sincerity than I have said anything else in my life," Jim Lovell said from the platform, "We would not have been here today if it was not for the people on the ground, in Mission Control center, helping us all the way."

And Haise: "Perhaps I'm going to be a bit repetitious in a way, but of all the welcomes home that we've had, this one means the most because it was these people here that made it possible for me to be here tonight."

And Swigert: "It's really a pleasure to see so many people here tonight to welcome us back. Up there in the air I had some misgivings about what sort of welcome we might receive."

He needn't have worried. These were the people who worked the hardest while the world rooted the loudest.

In front of the platform, in back of the ropes reserved for VIPs, stood a slender, nearly bald man. When the speeches were over he moved toward an airman guarding the way.

At first the airman hesitated about letting him through. The man showed his badge and finally got in. He was Edwin Aldrin, who with Neil Armstrong was the first to step on the moon. He got a welcome like this last July, but now it was Apollo 13's turn.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Shift In Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Vietnam Moratorium Committee, sponsor of last fall's massive antiwar demonstration, will shut down its national office at the end of the month and concentrate its efforts on local organization.

The shift in tactics by the committee, which came into being nearly a year ago, was announced Sunday by Sam Brown, one of its four national coordinators.

The committee organized a mass antiwar march on Washington last Oct. 15 and joined with other groups in sponsoring a Nov. 15 demonstration against the Vietnam war.

Not Endorsed

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP) — The state assemblyman whose vote earlier this month assured enactment of one of the most liberal abortion laws in the nation has been denied endorsement for re-election by the Democratic Committee of the heavily Roman Catholic county in which he lives.

Five times since 1960 Assemblyman George M. Michaels was endorsed by the Cayuga County Democratic Committee, and five times he won election to the legislature. Michaels is a Jew.

Sunday night, Michaels was defeated for endorsement 72 to 43 by a fellow Auburn attorney, John Rossi.

"I fully appreciate that this may be the end of my political career," Michaels had told his Assembly colleagues April 9 as he switched his vote on the abortion question from a no to a yes.

Pope's View

ROME (AP) — Pope Paul VI says the Roman Catholic and Orthodox churches should merge into "one single faith and in one single church for all Christians."

The pontiff expressed this view Sunday during his Sabbath blessing to an audience of thousands in St. Peter's Square. He cautioned, however:

"We cannot think to reestablish a sincere union of the Roman Catholic and the Orthodox churches at the cost of damaging the Oriental Catholic churches or through doubtful ways of intercommunion that put aside the demands of the true doctrine and could cause illusions and confusions."

Leaves Hospital

BLUFFTON, Ohio (AP) — Comedienne Phyllis Diller left Community Hospital here Sunday after recuperating from surgery performed earlier in the week.

Miss Diller, a native of Lima, Ohio, came here for the operation because she knew one of the surgeons at the hospital. The operation was described by a hospital spokesman as "remedial surgery of a female nature."

Alger Awards

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Hiram Fong and Mayor Carl Stokes of Cleveland have won Horatio Alger awards for persons of humble origin who have made good.

They were among 10 winners selected by the Horatio Alger Awards Committee of the American Schools and Colleges Association. All will receive bronze plaques at a dinner May 6.

Four Resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York Times Associate Editor Tom Wicker was among four contributors who have resigned from public television's "Newsroom" program in the wake of the firing of the program's editor, William Woestendiek.

Bombs In Seattle

SEATTLE (AP) — Four bombs which exploded within nine minutes damaged a state representative's home, a church and two business establishments.

No injuries were reported in the blasts, latest in a string of more than 65 in Seattle in recent months. All the explosions Sunday occurred in the predominantly black central area.

Asst. Police Chief Gene Corr said the bombings probably were caused by "more than just a loose knit organization."

Asks Budget Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., today urged President Nixon to make public new budget estimates on the cost of the Vietnam war, saying Congress has been asked "to spend billions in the dark."

The budget for the year beginning July 1 does not disclose estimated war costs on grounds that secrecy is necessary to maintain the security of Nixon's Vietnamization plan.

With war spending sharply decreased, Proxmire said in a letter to the President, "it appears that the Pentagon has usurped at least $10 billion of the so-called peace dividend in outlays for new weapons systems.

High Court Lets Stand Anti-Communist Ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court let stand today a lower court ruling that struck down as unconstitutional a 1968 revision of the federal anti-Communist law which kept the Subversive Activities Control Board alive.

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia ruled against a provision allowing the board to find that individuals were members of the U.S. Communist Party. The government appealed the Dec. 12, 1969, appeals court ruling but the Supreme Court announced in a brief order it would not review the finding.

In other actions, the Court:

—Let stand two lower court decisions that the federal government may deny employment to a homosexual because of his off-duty conduct.

—Agreed to rule next term whether a southern city has the right to close all of its public swimming pools after being ordered to integrate them. Under challenge is the action of Jackson, Miss., authorities who closed five pools on grounds that operating them on an intergrated basis would create a public danger and also would be uneconomical.

—Accepted for review a challenge of a Pennsylvania law earmarked for church-sponsored schools a multimillion dollar share of income from a horse racing tax. The case involving the issue of separation of church and state will be heard next term.

—Denied a request by Florida Gov. Claude R. Kirk that the Manatee County School busing dispute be transfered from the lower federal courts to the Supreme Court itself.

The brief order left as final a decision by the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals on Jan. 9, 1970, upholding four convictions and vacating a fifth —that of Yippie leader Jerry Rubin.

Besides Mailer, those involved in the appeal were Jose Cassiagnol, Bruce Grant and Peter Kiger.

They were arrested on charges of crossing over a line of U.S. marshals into a restricted area.

Sentences ranged from 5 to 30 days in jail.

—Accepted for consideration next term a case in which California's hit-and-run law was challenged as violating the constitutional protection against possible self-incrimination.

—Ruled 6 to 2 that state authorities may not reduce welfare payments to dependent children because of a "man in the house" unless it is shown that he is contributing to the family support. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice Hugo L. Black dissented in the California decision which reversed a lower court decision against a federal regulation that state authorities must establish proof that the man is actually contributing.

The Court's action on the Subversive Activities Control Board (SACB) came in the form of a brief order with no opinion. There was no immediate conclusion on its ultimate effect on the board.

Admitted Young Burglars Work Off Damage In A Pilot Program

An experimental program for working with juveniles in trouble with the law is being tried by Corte Madera police in the cases of five juveniles who have been held responsible for a series of burglaries on Paradise Drive.

Those involved were identified by police today as: Gregory Bowers, 15, 85 Granada Drive; James Peak, 13, 228 Granada Drive; Kevin Peltz, 13, 82 Mariner Green Drive; John Oosterbaan, 10, 22 Mariner Green Drive and Thomas Tompkins, 13, 2 Mariner Green Drive.

The are believed responsible, according to Detective Sgt. George W. Koehler, for two break-ins at Morris Roofing, three at Denny's House of Plumbing, two at Granada School, two at North Bay Lumber Co., one at Motorcycles Unlimited and one at the Patio Car Wash.

Most of the items stolen, valued at about $200 have been recovered, Koehler said. But about $900 damage was incurred by the businesses in the break-ins and accompanying vandalism.

Rather than just sending the boys through Juvenile Hall, Koehler said, the department "is trying something new."

With the cooperation of the parents and the businesses which were hit, he said, the boys will work off part of the restitution to the firms involved.

The parents will make part of the restitution, he said.

In addition, Detective Gary Cusimano will be assigned to work with the boys and be avilable to them for counseling.

"If we can establish rapport with these kids now, they'll realize that police officers are human," Koehler said.

He said if the program of working with the boys works in this case, it will probably be continued in other juvenile cases.

The program was developed in conferences with the families that continued into last weekend.

"It's an extra burden," he said, "but if it works, it's worth it."

More Windows Reported Smashed In Three Cities During Weekend

Glass smashing vandals attacked the Novato office of the Independent-Journal and eight business firms in three cities during the weekend .

Four stores in Novato, one in Petaluma, and three in San Rafael sustained window damage in the glass breaking rampage.

A Santa Rosa firm was hit last week, it was reported today.

The Independent-Journal office at 1535 Grant Avenue received another broken window and a second hole in the glass in its sign in front of the building. It was noticed by police at 11:34 p.m. yesterday.

This is the third time that the Novato office of the Independent-Journal has been hit by vandals since the start on Jan. 7 of a strike against the I-J by San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

Grand Auto at 7427 Redwood Highway, Novato, sustained $400 damage when a metal nut was shot through one of the big windows at that firm sometime between 6 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. yesterday. This is the seventh time that firm has been the victim of window breakage.

Ted Schuman Chevrolet at 7123 Redwood Highway had one window valued at $150 broken during the same period. This is the second time that firm has been the victim of vandalism. Last Tuesday night the firm had 71 tires punctured.

L. J. Dervin Ford Co. at 6995 Redwood Highway had one plate glass window valued at $250 broken the same night.

Johnson's Red Barn at 7388 Redwood Highway had another hole shot through a window which was broken previously. It was discovered by police at 12:30 a.m. today. This is the second time that firm has been hit.

All of the Novato merchants reported receiving warnings not to advertise in the I-J and said that they feel the vandalism is directly connected with the union's strike.

Two San Rafael business firms attacked by window smashing vandals last Monday were hit again during the weekend, police reported today. A third San Rafael business was also hit and an attack failed on an appliance store also hit last Monday.

Vandals yesterday samshed four windows at Casa Marin Furniture, 1654 Second Street, police have reported. The firm was attacked by vandals last Monday.

San Rafael Health and Dietary Foods, 1132 Fourth Street, was also hit again today for the second time in a week. Triangular wedges of lead were shot through a front glass door and window before 12:15 a.m., police said. The vandals left behind two calling cards to a Larkspur glass firm, police added.

Owner Howard D. Embry told police he had received a letter advising him to stop advertising in the I-J.

Pieces of pipe and triangular metal wedges were used to smash five holes in front windows yesterday at Sherman and Clay, 1301 Fourth Street, San Rafael police reported today.

Manager Margo Margossian told police his firm had received letters from the union regarding the strike.

A piece of half-inch pipe was used in a window breaking attempt that failed early today at Martin and Harris Appliance Service, 1604 Fourth Street, owner Harris W. Martin has reported.

Martin reported his Petaluma branch at 150 Kentucky Street, had its front door shattered today by a lead slug. Police found the shattered door at 4:30 a.m., Martin said.

Both Martin's Petaluma and San Rafael stores werer also hit by vandals last Monday. Matin estimated today's damage at about $150.

Five windows at Able's Trailer Supply, Santa Rosa, were smashed Tuesday night after a series of telephone calls urging discontinuation of advertising in the I-J.

The owner, Gilbert Horton, said he had received four threatening telephone calls and had refused to withdraw the one-inch classified ad he had been running daily.

The windows, valued at $500, were broken with five large metal nuts, the same method used in vandalism acts against other Marin and Sonoma businesses which advertise in the I-J.

everyone has apparently made a rapid recovery from their 'illness'."

On another Sausalito front, a petition on Friday from the Sausalito Citizens for Excellence in Integrated Education that the Marin County Schools office take over management of the district appeared to have been turned down today by the county office.

Deputy County Supt. Stanley Friese said the county "will not come in and take over a school district and replace a board elected by the people."

Friese said the superintendent's office "stands ready to help the Sausalito district" in any way it can. "We will be happy to work with Sausalito if they want us to help them in solving their crucial problems," he said, "and we will make any resources we have available to them.

"But we can't just go down and take over a district because we get a letter from a group of citizens," he added. The CEIE letter, sent to county schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis, called for an immediate takeover by the county because of what the letter termed "chaotic conditions" caused by the employee strike.

However, Hollis, today also said that his office has the authority to act "under Section 352 of the Education Code, which says I am to administer the schools." Hollis added that any action taken would be in cooperation with the Sausalito School board. "We have been working very closely with the board," he said.

Friese said his office will "probably" send a representative to tonighis special meeting of the board which was called to discuss the board's controversial decisions. The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the district office, 630 Nevada Street.

Tiburon Ballot Recount Begins

A recount of ablots in Tiburon's city council election began midmorning today, and was expected to take five to six hours to complete, city officials reported.

The recount was requested by Alvin R. Kuhn, who finshed two votes behind M. Carlisle Becker in a race for the third seat on the council, according to the unofficial tally last Tuesday night.

Kuhn posted $80 to cover the cost of the recount, and if he still loses, also loses the $80.

A 17-year-old San Francisco youth was reported in good condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael, under observation for head injuries received in a one-car crash yesterday at 2:45 p.m. eastbound on Panoramic Highway just west of Bridge Avenue.

The California Highway Patrol said the car driven by Paul R. Urch went over a 10-foot embankment after the youth hit loose gravel as he attempted to pull onto the shoulder of the road.

Point Reyes Land Trade In 30 Days

I J Special Report

RENO — The federal government will go ahead with an exchange of public land in Nevada to acquire 2,455 acres in Point Reyes National Seashore.

Nolan F. Keil, director of the Bureau of Land Management in Nevada, said the trade could be completed in 30 days "if there are no adverse reactions."

The proposed exchange for 150 acres of surplus federal land at Las Vegas Airport is worth about $2 million, the BLM previously reported. The Point Reyes land involves the 1,182-acre Sayles Turney properity near Drake's Bay and the 1,273-acre Millard Ottinger property adjacent to Tomales Bay State Park.

The exchange is being sought by Clark County, of which Las Vegas is the county seat. Howard Hughes reportedly plans to develop the airport property.

Purchase Power Of Food Stamps Program Climbs

Marin County residents participating in the food stamp program increased their grocery buying power by $250,000 last year, according to Betty Presley, director of the Department of Public Social Services.

A total of 79 Marin County grocers are authorized to accept food coupons, Miss Presley said.

She said 1,330 households are using food stamps with 3,367 persons involved.

The program began in Marin in April 1969. Records show that Marin participants have purchased $275,916 worth of coupons which have a purchase power of $626,564.

The stamps are designed to give low income people the opportunity to buy food coupons with the amount of money they would normally be expected to spend on food. The stamps, however, allow participants to buy extra food for the same amount.

Marin Peace Corps Aide In Vietnam Protest

A Mill Valley man, now with the Peace Corps in Peru, has joined 99 co-volunteers and Peace Corps staff in a letter to President Richard M. Nixon protesting the Vietnam war.

Geoffrey Barnard of 1 El Capitan Avenue was among the signers of the letter which called for "an end to American control in iVetnam beginning with the immediate withdrawal of the military."

The petition also rejected the President's policy of Vietnamization "as merely a continuation of the war."

grader, resulting in damage estimated at $20,000, he said. This fire was set by igniting fuel with a match, the chief reported.

While firemen were at the park, there was a fire in a power pole along Calle Del Pinos, which burned off the top of the pole and a 14,000-volt line cutting off power to "two thirds of the community" for 11½ hours.

This fire wasn't set, the chief said.

There was a turnout of 15 volunteer firemen and three pieces of equipment, the chief said.

airwaves to discuss the Vietnam war, last Dec. 15, the conflict has broadened, particularly in Cambodia which seeks U.S. arms following a coup that overthrew the neutralist government of prince Norodom Sihanouk.

Through Ziegler, the United States has deplored reported Cambodian massacres of Vietnamese living in that tiny country. And the State Department has said the arms request is under study.

The Nixon administration also has taken an interest in a statement last week by Jacob A. Malik, Soviet ambassador to the United Nations, that indicated possible interest from that quarter in a new Geneva conference to take up the entire Indochina situation. However, Malik told ABC-TV News Saturday that "convening such a conference is unrealistic at the present time."

PASSOVER

derived from the final punishment inflicted upon Egypt when its ruler, the Pharaoh, stubbornly refused God's demand that he "let my people go."

The book of Exodus tells how the angel of death visited Egyptian homes, destroying every first-born son. But the deadly visitor "passed over" the homes of the Israelites.

In the Bible, the annual celebration is called "the feast of unleavened bread."

Unleavened bread, called Matzah in Hebrew, is eaten throughout the Passover festival, which is observed for seven days by reform Jews and for eight days by conservative and orthodox Jews.

Passover begins with a ritual meal called the seder. It is traditionally celebrated by each family in its own home. The table is spread with the finest linens and best silver.

At sundown, the mother lights candles on the table, and the whole family gathers around. It is then that the child asks the well-rehearsed question: "Why is this night different from all other nights?"

Sheriff's deputies broke up a crowd of from 150 to 200 juveniles at Paradise Beach Park, Tiburon Peninsula, Friday night after they became rowdy and loud and created a disturbance.

Deputies said beer cans and wine bottles were strewn about in the area at 10 p.m.

A 16-year-old Ross boy was arrested for indecent exposure when he bared his buttocks to the deputies as they turned the spotlight on the crowd, the sheriff's office reported.

He was cited to appear in juvenile court at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Federal Aid Is Likely In Tornado Area

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (UPI)—State officials checking the rubble of tornado-crippled towns in the Texas Panhandle said Sunday Gov. Preston Smith likely will ask President Nixon to declare the 200-mile strip a major disaster area.

The twisters, too many to count, killed 26 and injured hundreds in 11 towns along this flat stretch of cotton-farming land. One official estimated damage at near $5 million.

The investigators, including three from Gov. Smith's staff, flew over the devastated areas and then landed at Plainview, where the storm splintered and smashed a two-mile path, to reassure city officials.

Plainview had some electric power restored, the water was working again and most areas had telephone service. A major problem was that the tornado that hit downtown wiped out the town's major electrical plant.

A tornado skipped across northeast Mississippi Cunday, killing five persons, injuring more than 70 others and destroying or damaging 300 homes.

Sprawned by the collision of warm Gulf air with an advancing cold front, the tornado dipped first near Ripley and then lifted for a 21-mile swing to Corinth, a city of 15,000.

The funnel again descended at Corinth, skidding over a three-to-five-mile strip of houses and leaving behind a 200-yard wide path of death and destruction. Then it lifted and moved into Tennessee where more damage was reported.

Red Cross officials said five persons were dead, 20 admitted to Magnolia Hospital, five in critical condition sent to Memphis, Tenn., hospitals, and 40 to 50 others treated and released. An estimated 100 homes in the area were destroyed and 200 more were damaged.

Adult Swimming Class Scheduled

The course, to be held on Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 9 p.m., is designed to teach adults both to learn to swim and to improve their present swimming abilities.

The course will be taught in the Redwood High School pool.

Strong Quake Jolts Turkey

ISTANBUL (UPI)—A series of new tremors shook western Turkey Sunday, causing widespread damage among the thousands of persons left homeless by an earthquake March 28 that killed 1,000 persons.

Officials said the only injured reported were two elderly women.

The epicenter of the strongest of the latest tremors was Cavdarhisar, where a mosque and 41 houses collapsed. The quake registered 7.5 on the unlimited Richter Scale.

Uneasy Calm After Death Of Student

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Authorities say they will maintain "heavy patrols as long as necessary" in the student-populated community of Isla Vista, still uneasy after four days of violence which produced one death.

Nearly 100 officers ringed a beseiged Bank of America branch Sunday while up to 200 more patroled the one-square-mile area next to the University of California at Santa Barbara.

Three firebombs were tossed into the street near the bank Sunday night by two youths who ducked into a nearby apartment building. They were not apprehended, a sheriff's department spokesman said.

The only other major incident Sunday was the wounding of Bryan Netin, 19, by birdshot of a police shotgun.

A memorial service Sunday for a 22-year-old student felled by a bullet Saturday was canceled because deputies prohibited large gatherings or rallies in the campus area.

The student, Kevin Moran of Saratoga, Calif., was shot after putting out a fire in the bank early Saturday. Sheriff's spokesmen said they believed it was a sniper's bullet because of its size, smaller than those used by officers.

Struggles For Identity By Minorities Explored

Current highly publicized identity struggles by some American minority groups, were put into historical perspective during the weekend at a three-day ethnic studies conference at Sonoma State College.

Speakers differed, however, on just what the historical perspective is.

While one lecture audience was being told no minority group was going to overcome the identity problem until they all do, another audience in a different building was being told that at least one minority group already has.

The "Black-Brown-Red and White Conference" drew about 200 educators and students from throughout the West Coast to lectures and discussions of the American identity problems of the Irish, the Jews, Japanese and Chinese, as well as of the Blacks, Indians and Mexican-Americans.

Dr. Eli Katz, professor of Hebrew studies at the University of California, concluded his discussion of Jewish identity in America by saying that "until the question of ethnic identity is settled for all, it will be settled for none."

He said the identity problem for the Jew in America today, for the most part third-generation Americans, centers on the conflict between his inability to support fully the policies of the Israeli government while at the same time feeling impelled, as a Jew, to support the existence of Israel.

Katz criticized the "melting pot" theory of America's assimilation of minority groups. The success of the melting pot really means that the American, whatever his ethnic background, comes out "talking and looking like an Anglo-Saxon."

While Katz was saying that the Jews, and all other minority groups, are still struggling for "imperialistic" America, Dr. Thomas Caulfield, professor of history at Sonoma State, was telling his audience that the Irish have already made it.

"Irish identity is a thing of the past," he said.

The Irish experience in America, he contended, was no different than that of other minority groups who are now following the same steps the Irish took.

He outlined the process as beginning with the dominant culture's notice of the minority group, followed by discrimintion against it.

The minority group turns to militancy and then to what he called "co-option," in which it adopts the main manifestation of the dominant culture: politics.

He said other minority groups can learn by a recognition and evaluation of the Irish experience. For instance, the Negro is just now turning to co-option, he said.

The conference was sponsored by the college's ethnic studies division.

"Emergency situations aren't optional. That's why 4 disc brakes are standard on every Mercedes-Benz."

You know the feeling. The hour's late. The road is clear. The slow metronome of the wipers keeps you company. Your mind is already home.

Then it happens.

Just over a rise you find a trailer truck sprawled in your path. There is only one thing between you and a 20-ton roadblock. Your brakes.

In a Mercedes-Benz, those brakes would all be the disc type. Not just the front ones. All four. We offer no options. We believe that the braking system is one of the most vital mechanisms on an automobile. So it must be the best we can build.

Disc brakes better resist fade.

It's a stubborn attitude. And an expensive one.

When you've got to stop

Disc brakes are superior to common drum brakes for three reasons.

One, a disc brake is better able to dissipate heat—a major cause of brake fade.

Two, there's far more effective braking area on a disc brake than on an ordinary drum brake, giving you more stopping power.

Three, a disc brake is less affected by water and you face less danger of brake failure, even in a cloudburst. In addition, the Mercedes-Benz braking system is designed to give a controlled straight-stop—even when you have to stop short from high speeds. (Which is a polite way of saying "panic stop.")

You'll feel this extra margin of control and braking power the first time you test stop a Mercedes-Benz.

Because we believe, when you've got to stop, you've got to stop.

But don't stop here

In fact, a Mercedes-Benz may even change your driving habits. Because if your knuckles now whiten every time you face a sudden curve in a swarm of flickering brake lights, a Mercedes-Benz could prove to be a relaxing experience.

Our four-wheel independent suspension plants those tires on the road like no ordinary suspension could. Helps you take curves in one, smooth swing—evenly between the white line and the guardrail. And the next time you drive your own car, count how many times you have to make those tiny steering adjustments to keep it from wandering. Our recirculating ball-type steering, even with power added, helps to give you a certain "feel" for the road and a confidence that the car will track where you aim it.

We believe that a 70-mile-an-hour expressway is no place to play with your steering wheel.

Look for the little things

A lot of "near great" cars missed being great because of sloppy workmanship, slapdash assembly or lack of attention to details.

So after you test drive a Mercedes-Benz and see the big differences in handling and control, take a few moments to examine the little differences. Run a matchbook around the hood, trunk and door openings. See how the gap is exactly the same throughout. (Try that on your present car.)

Notice that every seam has been filled and smoothed, like the finish of fine china.

Reach under the dash. Not a wire to be felt.

Look at the trim. If it looks like wood, it is wood—not plastic. If it looks like chrome, it is chrome—not plastic.

We could take some shortcuts, make some compromises. Our cars would still be good enough for most people. But they wouldn't be good enough for Mercedes-Benz.

DEEP STEAM wall-to-wall carpet cleaning offers you :

GENTLE CLEANING ACTION . . . no brushes or scrubbing action is used to wear or distort the carpet pile.

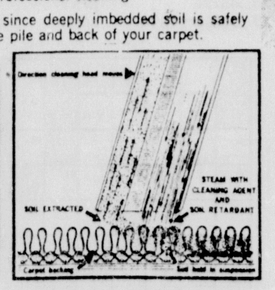
SAFE PROCESS . . . guaranteed to be completely safe for all fabrics, and under any condition.

GREATER ECONOMY because the Deep Steam cleaning process Soil Retards and Mothproofs your carpet. This minimizes the need for frequent professional cleaning.

LONGER CARPET LIFE since deeply imbedded soil is safely extracted from both the pile and back of your carpet.



HOW DEEP STEAM SOIL EXTRACTION WORKS

Deep Steam Soil Extraction equipment applies wet steam with a professional formula and soil retardant under pressure deep into the carpet fibers. The two cleaning agents combine to break down soil and the static electric charge, which holds the soil deep in the pile of the carpet, and brings this soil into suspension. Then, instantly, the moisture and soil are removed by the powerful continuous extraction process into a separate stainless steel container. During this cleaning operation every fiber is coated with SOIL RETARDANT and MOTHPROOFING to keep your carpet cleaner and protected longer.

The Old Method

The conventional shampoo scrubbing method uses preliminary vacuuming to remove some loose soil. The shampoo equipment, with harsh brushes, utilizing different types of liquid detergents or powders, scrubs the remaining soil DEEPER into the carpet . . . and even with the help of a wet vacuum fails to remove most of the soil or residue. This residue which is left in the carpet then works its way to the surface and attracts more soil. Soon your carpet may appear more soiled than before!

Today is Monday, April 20, the 110th day of 1970 with 255 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full stage. The morning star is Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1903 Andrew Carnegie gave $1.5 million for the construction of the Hague Peace Palace in the Netherlands.

In 1926 a picturegram of a bank check sent from London to New York was cashed. It was the first time a bank honored a check not actually in its possession.

A thought for the day: Norwegian poet Henrik Ibsen said, "The public doesn't require any new ideas. The public is best served by the good, old-fashioned ideas it already has."

Riles To Campaign Again In Marin

Wilson C. Riles, candidate for state superintendent of public instruction, will pay a return visit to Marin County on Thursday and Friday.

Greedy Enough To Double? Then Better Play Cards Carefully

When the opponents have most of the high cards you expect to lose points. If they overbid, you should sit back and collect your profit gratefully. If you're greedy enough to double in ths pleasant situation, you'd better play the cards well enough to justify your greedy move.

HELPING HAND

Today's hand helped 18-year-old Robin Klar and Tina Rockaway win the national women's pair championship in Portland, Ore., a few weeks ago. The two young Houston experts bid the spots off the cards and would have gone down at their ambitious slam if East had remembered that a closed mouth gathers no foot.

Miss Klar ruffed the opening diamond lead and led a club to dummy's king in order to return the singleton trump. East played low, trying to look innocent, but she had already shown her big teeth by doubling.

Young Robin Klar tried a finesse with the nine of hearts and held her breath. West discarded a diamond, and declarer led another club toward dummy.

GUESSES QUEEN

West played a low club, and declarer wavered. It was possible for West to have the queen of clubs, but then East's double would be based on just the five trumps and the king of spades. Miss Klar played dummy's ace of clubs and held her breath again. (It was a breathless tournament for the young expert.)

The queen of clubs fell, and declarer ruffed a diamond. Now, with a complete reading on the East hand, Miss Klar took the three top trumps and gave East her trump trick. East had to return a spade, and South's queen won.

NO PROBLEM

There was no further problem: declarer had already won a deep trump finesse, had picked off a doubleton queen and had executed a throw-in play to bring home a doubled slam.

Incidentally, East could have defeated the contract if she had put up the ten or jack of trumps when declarer led dummy's singleton trump.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠—A 8 7 4
♥—5
♦—J 10 7 4
♣—A K J 9.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one club.

With four cards in each black suit, in a biddable hand, open with one club rather than one spade. Don't go out of your way to bid the weak diamonds in a hand of this kind.

GEISHA GOODIES — Tim Partridge eats rice from Japanese bowl with chopsticks after being served by Geisha girls Marina Bejanski and Betty Tolosa. The children, fourth graders at Laurel Dell Intermediate School, donned Japanese garb today to demonstrate the things they have made for Public Schools Week during an eight week study of Japan. The kimonos, shoes, table and eating utensils were made by the youngsters in the class to simulate life in a Japanese fishing village.

Public Schools Week Events Begin

Public school children throughout Marin County have spruced up their schools with displays and plan plays, films, music and demonstrations to entertain their elders during Public Schools Week.

Typical of the youngsters' effort is a simulation of the Japanese fishing village of Tomari on Hokkaido Island by fourth graders at Laurel Dell Intermediate School, San Rafael. The children have made kimonos, geitas, fans, tea and rice bowls, rice paper, abacuses, and models of buildings in the town during the past eight weeks. The exhibit may be seen today from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The "week," which actually runs until April 30, in Marin was kicked off this morning with tours of children's centers and preschool programs at Manzanita School, Marin City, St. Paul's Episcopal Church School, San Rafael, and Novato Children's Center, Novato, sponsored by the Marin County Schools office.

Martin Luther King School in Sausalito and the San Anselmo District office in San Anselmo were also open to interested adults.

The schedule tonight includes a series of open houses and the election of Parent-Teacher Association officers at Lynwood School in Novato.

The schedule for Public Schools Week open houses in Marin is:

TODAY

Bolinas — Bolinas School, 7 to 8 p.m.

Novato — Lu Sutton School, 7 to 8:30 p.m., Marion School, 7:30 to 9 p.m., Pacheco School, 7 to 9 p.m., Pleasant Valley School, 7:30 to 8:45 p.m.

San Rafael —St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 10:30 a.m. to noon, and Forest Meadows Development Center, 3:30 to 5 p.m.

Marin City — Manzanita School, 10:30 a.m. to noon.

Lawyer Seeks Riot Trial Outside Marin

The attorney for seven men accused of felonies stemming from a riot outside the Independent-Journal building in San Rafael on Valentine's Day has charged that they cannot receive a fair trial in Marin County.

Attorney Robert D. Carrow has asked a change of venue for one of his clients, John Joseph DeMartini, 44, of Mill Valley as a test case for the other defendants.

Carrow charged in his petition that the "atmosphere in Marin County is so verily charged with prejudice against the defendant engendered by the constant, unremitting barrage of inflammatory news items and special articles. . .that it is inconceivable he could receive a fair trial."

Carrow also said that KTIM, the only local radio station, which is "substantially owned and controlled" by the I-J, has contributed to the atmosphere he said exists.

The attorney claimed that the I-J has given a "biased accounting of the feeling between the union and the newspaper."

Carrow's client, DeMartini, is vice president of the San Francisco Typographical Union Local 21, which has been on strike against the newspaper since Jan. 7. He and the others were arrested during a riotous demonstration which resulted in property damage to the I-J plant as well as injuries to 17 persons.

The demonstration had been called in support of the striking union.

Carrow said further, in his petition, that since the I-J has a circulation of 44,000 and that there are 60,000 households in Marin County, most households receive the paper.

Unless a jury of 12 persons "who didn't read the paper or listen to the radio" could be found, the trial would be a "mockery of justice" Carrow claimed.

His motion for moving the trial to another county was set for a hearing before Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court at 10 a.m., April 29.

The accused men are charged with offenses including felony assault on officers, possessing unlawful weapons, and various misdemeanor counts.

CRA Branch Backs Pessner For Senate

Hugh O. Pessner, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, has been endorsed by the Corte Madera branch of the California Republican Assembly.

Alice Tennler, vice president of the 16-member group, said the endorsement was based on Pessner's "drive for less government control over lives and business, stronger measures against the widespread disobedience and anarchy, establishment of equal taxation to replace the present graduated tax which penalizes the productive segment, and enforcement of antisedition laws in order to free citizens from Communism's mushrooming influence in our government, churches and schools."

Clausen Pushing For New Park Property

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Legislation that could speed state acquisition of surplus Army property on Marin's headlands at the Golden Gate has won strong support from Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District.

The legislation, being considered by the House Parks and Recreation Subcommittee, of which Clausen is a member, would allow transfer for parks and recreation purposes at discounts substantially below the 50 per cent allowed. In some cases, the transfer could be at no cost.

Clausen, testifying before the committee, said that "with nearly 45 per cent of the land in California presently owned by the federal government, it is obvious to me that some of this land has a much greater potential in the hands of local government."

Clausen noted that the federal government had "always encouraged local government to acquire and develop open space, but we have never provided them with the tools to accomplish this objective.

"We can and must bring the 'parks to the people,'" and I know of no better way than to release those parcels of federal land that are of absolutely no use to the federal government," Clausen said.

Fairfax Trustees To Discuss Budget

The Fairfax School District board will discuss the 1970-71 budget and salary data when it meets tomorrow at 7:45 p.m. at the district office, 58 Park Road.

Also on the agenda are reports on enrollment and report cards.

Those attending are urged to bring a "present" for Shakespeare which might be useful to the festival during its coming theatrical season.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

An Astonishing Criticism Of Richardson Bay Plan

Our hopes for enlightened and even-handed administration of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission's great powers over the future of the Bay Area are not encouraged by its staff's report on Marin County's master plan for Richardson Bay.

Joseph E. Bodovitz of Mill Valley, BCDC's chief executive officer, last week damned the plan as "so completely at variance with so many key policies of the commission's bay plan as to be thoroughly unacceptable."

WE FIND THIS rather extreme language. We think the plan a rather good one.

It represents (like all good plans) considerable compromise. It offers a practical method for improvement (as any good plan should). The end result appears far more desirable than the present condition of Richardson Bay, which is so noisome that it beggars belief that anyone would want to keep it in the name of "conservation."

HOW IS THE PLAN so completely at variance with BCDC's policies?

Mr. Bodovitz objects strongly to the provision for high-rise buildings. We are inclined to go along with him there. Two members of the Marin County Board of Supervisors also objected to the highrise buildings. But should the whole plan be rejected because of them? That it should, strike us as bordering on the ridiculous.

Next, Mr. Bodovitz criticizes the plan for not saying what would be done about the present pollution of Richardson Bay.

This is astonishing. That is what the plan is all about. It is a proposal for allowing development accompanied by dredging to get rid of the pollution.

The plan provides for dredging a deep channel, for filling part of the extremely polluted mudflats which are submerged at high tide so that their pollution is carried into San Francisco Bay every day, and for open waterways among the fills, which would provide scouring to avoid recurrence of such pollution.

Surely Mr. Bodovitz cannot have examined the plan and still think it offers nothing to solve the pollution problem!

WE ARE UNIMPRESSED by Mr. Bodovitz's research which, he reported, disclosed that an 1859 survey showed Richardson Bay as filled with mud as it is today.

We have not seen the survey, but we have seen extracts from the log of Capt. Juan Manuel de Ayala in the San Carlos, which sailed into what is now called Richardson Bay, not in 1859 but in 1775.

Ayala anchored first at Fort Point. Next day, as Lawrence Kinnard, University of California history professor, relates in his "History of the Greater San Francisco Bay Region":

"Seeking a better anchorage. . .he explored what is now Richardson's Bay and named it Ensenada de la Carmelita."

The San Carlos was a fairly shallow draft vessel — but not so shallow draft, we fancy, that it would be able to explore Richardson Bay today.

MR. BODOVITZ offers no suggestion for bettering the plan, except the ethereal one that Marin County take the bay over as a public redevelopment project. Having seen what has happened with public redevelopment projects in San Francisco and elsewhere, we scarcely think that holds promise of anything superior to the plan proposed. Besides, it is impractical. The present plan is practical.

If the Bay Conservation and Development Commission is genuinely concerned about developing and improving San Francisco Bay — as it claims to be and as the legislation creating it says it should be — we suggest that it take a more practical approach than has its chief executive officer.

The county's Richardson Bay plan may need some modification. But to reject it is to throw out the baby with the (very dirty) bath water.

Oil Counties' Assemblyman Cites Offshore Drilling Needs

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO —(CNS) — Although the controversy over further drilling for oil in the Santa Barbara channel has simmered down somewhat, the issue still is being argued.

The facts in the caseconcern Assemblyman William M. Ketchum, R-Bakersfield. Ketchum's 29th Assembly District is comprised of Kern, Tulare and San Luis Obispo counties, and encompasses almost 30 per cent of the producing oil wells in California.

"THIS PAST year or so," Ketchum says, "hundreds of thousands of words have been written or broadcast about California's off-shore oil operations. Some of the stories have been factual, but most have been slanted one way or the other, and not a few have been hysterical.

"Any worthwhile conclusion should be based on fact, rather than fancy."

Whereupon, Ketchum gives an unbiased account of the history of oil exploration in the channel, which began in 1896. He points out that oil seepage dates back to prehistoric times in the channel, and the amount of oil released by natural seeps is considerable, from 50 to 70 barrels a day at one point alone, and possibly several hundred barrels a day over-all.

He said support should be lent to the theory that pumping of oil should continue to ease pressures, which in turn would diminish seepage through the fractured channel bottom.

KETCHUM CALLED attention that cutting off the Santa Barbara channel production would result in a tremendous amount of import by tanker, which poses as much danger as drilling.

The assemblyman said further that additional bans on off-shore drilling could bring about many complications. Among them would be prevention of the development of fresh water from under the ocean floor; evaluation of mineral deposits other than oil, and drilling for scientific purposes, such as investigating sand transport, deposition and erosion, and seismic or earthquake research.

The state Lands Commission, which makes the rules for activities on the state's tide and submerged lands, has a good set of rules which are sufficient to govern the activity, Ketchum said.

A legitimate criticism of the contemporary generation of parents is not that they are too removed or detached but that they live the life of their children too much. The consequence is that parents often conceal their critical judgment of, or displeasure with, their offsprings' activities in cases where they cannot make over their own point of view to bring it in accord with that of the younger generation. — Sidney Hook.

Dogs Run Loose Despite Leash Law

I would like through your paper to thank the two writers of letters in the April 11 issue in defense of the Humane Society.

We are supposed to have a leash law in most of Marin County, but dogs, many without license tags, roam the streets in packs unrestrained, befouling gardens, sidewalks, and our beautiful town park.

One obnoxious dog in this neighborhood chases small children and old ladies in a menacing way. Some mothers have to walk their children to school. I have seen one delivery man several times carrying a club so he could make deliveries.

This dog has been reported to the police and the Humane Society but nothing seems to ever be done to curb his menacing behavior.

I am sure the Humane Society does the best they can on a limited budget, but it is beyond my comprehension why quiet law-abiding citizens must put up with the annoyance caused by persons being licensed for a few dollars to keep a public nuisance, which constantly barking, roaming dogs certainly are.

I agree with the letter writer who said it is the owner of the roaming dogs and not the innocent dogs who should be impounded.

Pleased To Learn Dogs Under Control

I was very pleased to learn, through a letter to your paper from a Miss Nan Fowler of Mill Valley, that the "animal control" station wagon is actively patrolling the streets and parks of Mill Valley.

Just a short time ago I addressed a letter to the Mill Valley Police Department asking them whether anything could be done about the unleashed dogs in Old Mill Park. I had taken my two young grandsons, with their buckets and shovels, to play in the sand but our brief stay there was made miserable by three dogs barking, fighting and racing through the area.

I wonder whether your reader is cognizant of the fact that "dogs wearing collars carrying identification and a cluster of jingly I-D things" still does not give dogs the privilege of running wildly through our parks and streets.

My thanks to the Humane Society for helping to solve one of the most serious nuisances in Mill Valley.

Party Loyalty Challenge Amazes

I note in your issue dated April 15 a press release article by one Behr stating he challenges party loyalty of other Republicans running for the same office.

I have always been a Republican in this county for over 37 years and I am very much surprised to find Mr. Behr running as a Republican. Also, I note that many of his followers have changed their registration from Democrat to Republican to help his cause.

Return To Spirit Of Constitution

I think your editorial of April 15 discussing the constitutionality of the Vietnam War was very pertinent. You have pointed to a very important point.

I have been told by some legal people that there exists a body of law handed down by the Supreme Court which holds that no federal body can "abrogate" or "pass the buck" as regards its constitutional obligations. This means Congress cannot via a "Tonkin Gulf" resolution effectively authorize the President to declare war. Short of the appropriate constitutional amendment only Congress can declare war.

I am becoming increasingly amazed at the ingenuity of our Constitution-writing forefathers. They had seen England plunged into the Revolutionary War largely on the whim of a single man, George III. They wished to avoid this and understanding so well the foibles of human nature, they knew that if you get a diverse body like Congress to declare war, that the majority of the people would be behind it. When this constitutional process has been followed our country has tended to avoid the problem of discontent it now faces.

I say let's retunr to the letter and spirit of the Constitution and we'll do a lot better, and especially avoid getting our sons shot up in wars with poorly defined aims and public support.

The Errors Of Vladimir Lenin Plague The World In 1970

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The epitaph of Valdimir Lenin, born 100 years ago this month, ought to read: No Man Did So Much To Suffocate the Freedoms of So Many.

The evil which Lenin perpetrated was his totalitarianism out of which he bequeathed to much of the world the concept of the centralized, monolithic, all-powerful party which, after seizing power by force, showed how to disarm its captive people permanently by erasing all the means of dissent and taking to itself all the means of control.

THE GRIEVOUS HARM Lenin did is two-fold. He perfected totalitarian rule in Russia, and he was able to invest it with a mystique of idealism which continues to deceive many people in many countries. Robert Conquest, the distinguished British Sovietologist, puts it this way:

"In the past, dictatorship was a temporary expendience, and parliamentary democracy was commonly held to be the most highly evolved political system. This is no longer so. Now the mystique of the one-party state is widespread. It is not just a means of governing the state in a disciplined way by a single authority. It is a method which claims superiority over the old democracy."

LENIN SAID that he did not intend to perpetuate dictatorship by the state. His was a minority clique in a minority party which overthrew by force the elected Russian parliamentary government. It was Lenin's theory that once the enemies of communism were removed, freedoms could be restored and democratic participation achieved. He said he foresaw the withering away of the all-powerful state.

It never happened.

As early as 1918 Rosa Luxemburg, a faithful Communist, told Lenin that without having to stand up to freedom of speech and elections the quality of Communist rule would wilt and wither.

But Lenin was afraid to yield power even to the proletariat. In his last year when he was very ill and Josef Stalin was looming as his successor, he seemed to realize that somewhere a wrong turn had been taken, but he did nothing to change its course.

This is why Conquest concludes that if Lenin were to return today he would be horrified to "see that 50 years after the revolution, the party had still failed to put down democratic rule and that it continues to operate as a mechanism whose function is to impose the will of a limited and mediocre group of leaders."

IT IS BECOMING evident that communism isn't working, that it is mired in inflexible doctrines, that it holds no key to the problems and the opportunities of the '70s.

Much of Marx's searing criticism of 19th-centruy capitalism was well taken. Wages were low, hours were long and capitalism seemed unable to distribute its consumer goods to the many.

But the Communist solution is not working and it is 20th-centruy capitalism which has proved that it has the inner dynamism to change and reform and produce a widely shared consumer abundance for the many.

LENIN'S VIEW was that imperialism would prove to be capitalism's last desperate gasp. But history is not on Lenin's side. The democratic, capitalist nations have shed imperialism, and the Communist nations in Eastern Europe and in Asia have embraced the imperialism Lenin said would bring about capitalism's downfall.

Lenin predicted that capitalist-imperialist rivalry would be the main cause of war. It isn't. The sharpest and most dangerous imperialist rivalries are between Communist imperialist states — as between Russia and Red China. Since World War II, the Soviet Union has used its army only against other communist nations.

These events give new substance to the judgment of one of Lenin's close colleagues, Victor Chernov, in an article written shortly after Lenin's death, that communism would inevitably move into a period of "disintergration and disillusion."

Boost In Social Security Benefits Seen This Year

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — It is now virtually certain Congress will vote another 5, and possibly 10 per cent increase in Social Security benefits.

The last hike, 15 per cent, became effective Jan. 1. The new raise will likely be dated next Jan. 1, but Oct. 1 of this year is not improbable. That is a month before election and would have potent voter appeal.

Reasons for the virtual certainty of another Social Security boost are two highly significant backstage factors:

THE TOP Democratic and Republican leaders of the congressional committees handling this legislation favor it — starting with the House Ways and Means Committee where it is now pending. Both Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., and Rep. John Byrnes, Wis., senior Republican, have indicated approval of a 5 per cent increase — and may be willing to go as high as 10 per cent. That also is the attitude of Sen. Russell Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. A clear majority of both these key committees feel the same way.

There is a sufficient surplus in the Social Security benefit fund to finance a 5 per cent hike without boosting taxes or the wage base. It's possible this surplus could be enough for a 10 per cent raise. As of this July 1, the surplus will be $2 billion. As of July 1, 1971, it is figured to amount to $5.2 billion. Another 5 per cent increase would cost $1.7 billion.

IN ADDITION to another across-the-board hike in Social Security benefits, Congress will also —

Boost monthly minimum payments from $65 to $80 — and possibly more. There is considerable bipartisan sentiment for a minimum of between $90 and $100.

Allow men to start collecting full Social Security at 62 instead of 65, as is the statutory age for women.

Raise to $1,800 the present $1,680 ceiling on income that can be earned without losing Social Security benefits.

These increases will be included in legislation, now being considered by the Ways and Means Committee, making a number of major changes in the financially shaky Medicare system. Chairman Mills' aim is to get the combined bill before the House by the middle of May. That would enable it to reach the Senate by June 1, and open the way for final enactment by Aug. 1.

STRIKINGLY indicative of this year's remarkable speed-up in congressional tempo, in graphic contrast to the molasses-slow dawdling of last year, is the flat prediction of Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, that all major budget bills will be disposed of in the House by July 1.

Last session, some weren't acted on until January of this year.

If Marin Had An Ombudsman, He Could Learn From Thompson

We've never seen an Ombudsman in action, but if ever there were one in Marin, he would probably operate much like the Human Rights Commission.

An ombudsman is one who listens to citizen grievances, cuts through official red tape, and tries to remedy the grievance, usually through consultation and persuasion.

That's just about what the human rights department seems to be doing.

TAKE THE CASE of apartment tenants who are upset over sudden rent increases but have no place to go. Everybody agrees that legally there's not much a tenant can do. But when the citizens appeared before the commission, the staff members of the department, accompanied by the county counsel, made an informal call on one of the apartment owners. And as is usually the case, when people meet face to face, they turn out to be more reasonable than when they take pot shots at each other via letter or telephone.

So the landlord agreed to extend the stay for one tenant and to renew the lease of another at reasonable rentals. The problem isn't solved by any means, but at least it's a start.

Austin Thompson, who heads the human rights department, has been working behind the scenes on many other issues. It's difficult to assess the effectiveness of this type of work because much of his success is measured in what doesn't happen — in tensions eased and violence cooled before it erupts.

SAUSALITO'S city council race had to be the only local election in California last week to receive international press coverage, pretty heady attention for a city of 6,700 persons.

The reason was the candidacy of Sally Stanford, making her sixth bid for a council seat, which all goes to prove that the sun never sets on Miss Stanford's friends and admirers.

In the days before the election, which she lost by a mere 38 votes, she received telephone calls from newspapers in London, Australia, New Zealand, Washington, D.C., Chicago, Los Angeles, and her old home state of Oregon, to name a few.

But she was most pleased by a call from Prince Aku of Honolulu, a member of Hawaii's former royal family, saying he was sending her a certificate designating her a legend in her own time. "Hmmph!" sniffed one of her Sausalito friends, "the prince is a little late; we've all known she was a legend for years."

STUDENTS AT Stinson Beach School are in the process of completing a 20-minute documentary film, filmed in both color and black and white, showing the differences between life in the city and life in the country.

Cost for the film—$100—was financed by the sale of cupcakes, which should be some kind of first for the California film industry.

Hollywood producers who are always complaining about the skyrocketing cost of motion picture production are invited to consult Mrs. Nancy Sullivan or William Niman, teachers at the school, if they feel the need for a bit of advice.

T. N. ALEXAKOS

The Subleties Of Language, Key To Writing With Clarity

Years ago, as a young lad and an innocent in the wonderful world of words, I wrote a novel. I worked on it a long time, months, as I recall, and filled every page in a large ledger book my father had given me to use. I was 11 at the time and a fan of Edgar Rice Burroughs, so naturally my book was about savages, wild beasts and spectacular adventures of derring-do. When my masterpiece was finished, I gave it to my teacher for her criticism. She kept it several days and then returned it. "you know," she said, with straight look into my eyes, "I could just hear those tom-toms!"

I know of nothing else she could have said that could have made my interest in writing soar any higher than it did. Whether she did the right thing or not I don't know, and occasionaly I think she would have done me a favor had she told me to practice my multiplication tables and forget about writing. But she didn't, and that's that — and so I was hooked.

IT TOOK a few years and stacks of scribbled pages before I realized there was more to putting one word after another than just saying it as you feel or think. I was learning about rules and finding there's a great difference in not writing according to the rules when you don't know the rules, and not writing according to the rules when you know them.

In those later days I was reading everything I could put my hands on about bull fighting, and one quiet afternoon I realized the bull was always called the "brave bull" and never the "courageous bull". It was my first insight into the phantamagoria of the living language, and the first time I discovered that the dictionary was not all I had believed a dictionary to be. It was not the court of last resort or the final arbiter as to the meanings of words.

Calling a bull courageous would instantly alert every afficiando that you knew little of the business of the bulls. Just as if, when talking with golfers, you said "slice" when you should have said "hook," they would know that you don't know the game. So it is with writing.

THOSE WHO WISH to write and be serious about it must know the language and it's a never-ending discipline. And you can tell when a writer knows his trade. His command of the language is not so much in his use of polysyllabic words as his knowing the subtle distinctions in common words. Take the words cruelty and brutality as an example. Frequently they are used interchangeably, yet there is a distinction. In a slaughterhouse there is usually little cruelty although much brutality. At a cocktail party there is seldom any brutality although you may find a shocking amount of cruelty.

Why is it that an artist is said to be working, but you never hear of an artist laboring?

Miss Bette Davis is noted for her skillful portrayals of ladies who were exceedingly polite and hardly ever courteous.

What is the distinction between talking and conversing, between humor and comedy, a humorist and a comedian, between power and force, sad and tragic, illusion and delusion?

UNHAPPILY, the dictionary is of little help. You must probe your own way, listening carefully and reading well those masters of the language.

Mark Twain said, "The difference between the right word and the almost right word is the difference between lightning and the lightning bug."

DAMP, CLOSED GROVE

Mother Attacks City Park Plans

A Larkspur housewife is making plans to take on the city in a try to make Dolliver Park a year-round facility.

"It doesn't have swings," said Joyce Losee of 69 Hatzic Court. "It doesn't have a seating area for mothers, or ground cover that drains properly, or a crosswalk across Magnolia Avenue."

The park serves a densely populated area, she said, and should be available all year instead of only in summer. And this year, she said, no recreation program is planned at the park and it may not be opened up.

The situation at Dolliver Park is the same as it has always been, said Harlan Berry, parks and recreation director. The park will be opened from May through October 1 or thereabouts, and playground facilities will be provided. It's too cold for winter operation, he said.

Mrs. Losee said City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst reportedly was considering closing the park because of vandalism costs, but Berry said there was no such plan.

"We had some vandalism there last year," Berry said, "a few fires were set, and rest rooms damaged. But that's not the reason for closing the park. The climate just isn't suitable for year-round operations."

Dolliver Park is a deep-shaded redwood grove that runs along Madrone Canyon next to Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur's main stem.

Mrs. Losee said the city was shorting Dolliver Park to build more facilities at Piper Park, a 50-acre area between Henry C. Hall School and Corte Madera Creek, a mile north of Dolliver Park.

The two parks are entirely different in nature, she said, and "they're going to spend a lot of money on a park a long way from my home. . .and not on one that's within a mile."

Berry said a tot lot is being developed at Piper Park, but "as far as any reduction of one (park) to build the other, there hasn't been any of that." Long range plans at Piper Park include baseball diamonds, a boat dock and other facilities, but no money has been budgeted for development.

Berry said no recreation program is planned at Dolliver this summer because summer recreation will be on the playgrounds of Larkspur-Corte Madera and Henry C. Hall schools.

Some of the Dolliver Park equipment is left year-round, he said, but it is too cold and wet in winter months to leave such things as swings.

At Mrs. Losee's invitation, Berry is to speak later this month to the Madrone Woodlands Homeowners Association to explain the park plans and situation.

Mrs. Losee said Bathurst had said no more city funds would be sunk into Dolliver Park because of heavy vandalism, even though she and several other women had volunteered to be park-sitters and guard against vandalism. The police department has indicated, she said, that it hasn't enough manpower to prevent park vandalism.

She said vandals have burned holes in plastic tables, broken restroom roofs and caused other damage in the park, but said the city should not close down public facilities in fear of such damage.

What she plans to do now, Mrs. Losee said, is talk with neighbors and other residents to see what they want for Dolliver Park's development. Once she has gathered some support, she said, they will go back to city hall to seek action.

Much Delayed Horse Control On City Agenda

A controversial proposal to regulate the keeping of animals in San Rafael will again be before the city council at 8 p.m. today.

Twice before the proposed ordinance has drawn overflow crowds of horse lovers to the council meetings, only to have the council postpone action both times.

A section of the proposed ordinance states that no horse may be kept less than 35 feet from a dwelling on the same premises, or less than 100 feet from any church, school, or building occupied by humans.

The council will also receive a report from Norris M. Rawles, director of public works, on the estimated costs of maintaining the Glenwood storm water pump station.

At its last meeting, the council balked at accepting the station from the San Rafael schools until it knew how much it would cost the city.

Rawles's report says the total cost to the city will be $2,830 a year.

The council will also consider the resignation of Roy R. Rhodes from the parks and recreation commission.

Go-Ahead Given On Sewer Plans

Directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utilities District have authorized Kennedy Engineers of San Francisco to proceed with plans for a new sewer collection system.

After reviewing plans Saturday, directors asked the engineer to determine if part of the existing trunk line could be used, reported Chairman Jose A. Silva.

The district, under fire from the San Francisco Regional Water Quality Control Board, is moving toward a plan for a joint sewage treatment plant and outfall with the Stinson Beach County Water District.

ETHEL HINNENKAMP
Novato's nominee

President Of Club Is Nominated

Ethel Hinnekamp of 7 Nave Court, Novato, president of the Novato Senior Citizens, is that club's nominee for Marin Senior Citizen of the Year.

Mrs. Hinnenkamp, whose quick smile and lively mannerism make her appear much younger than her 70 years, has guided the club during its last, and most successful, two years.

And she was an emergency selection for the president's slot.

Her husband, George, had been elected to that spot but on the night he took office, sustained a stroke. Mrs. Hinnenkamp picked up the reins of the 265-member club and has guided it ever since.

Born in Indiana, the nominee is the mother of three children and eight grandchildren. She came to San Francisco in 1948 and to Marin in 1965. When first in San Francisco, she was the manager of Morrow's Nut House.

"It was like starting a new life in San Francisco," Mrs. Hinnenkamp said. "But I soon made new friends and knew almost everybody who came into the Nut House."

She became active in the Novato Senior Citizens in 1966 and it was through the club that she met her present husband, her first husband having died in 1948.

She has devoted many hours to both the senior citizens and other oganizations. She was a 35-year member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, past president of the Howard C. Sperry VFW Post in San Francisco, county chairman and hospital chairman for the VFW Auxiliary and a member of the Novamarin Grandmothers.

Geritol Hit By $1 Million Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department filed a $1 million civil suit today against the maker of "Geritol" and an advertising agency, charging them with violating a federal trade commission ban on misleading advertising.

Atty Gen. John N. Mitchell said the suit, filed in New York City federal court by U.S. attorney Whitney North Seymour Jr., was against the J. B. Williams Co., Inc. and Parkson Advertising Agency, Inc.

The 11-count complaint charged them with violating a 1967 FTC order by continuing to broadcast television commercials that represented Geritol as an effective remedy for tiredness, loss of strength, rundown feeling, nervousness and irritability.

State To Seek Death Penalty In Slaying Case

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The state sought the death penalty today for Robert Beausoleil, a member of the "Manson Family" convicted of the torture slaying of bagpipe musician Gary Hinman.

Beausoleil slumped in his chair and covered his face with his right hand Saturday when the verdict of the seven-woman, five-man jury was read.

Prosecution witnesses testified Beausoleil stabbed Hinman to death last July 27 after torturing him for 48 hours to force him to turn over $20,000 which was believed in his possession.

The witnesses said Charles Manson, alleged mastermind of the Tate-Labianca slayings, ordered the defendant to kill Hinman. Taking the stand on his own behalf, Beausoleil said Manson actually committed the slaying.

Nominee For Senior Citizen Honor Picked

Ethel Davis, an 81-year-old former concert pianist, has been nominated by the Marinwood Park and Recreation Commission for Senior Citizen of the Year in Marin.

Despite nearly total blindness, Mrs. Davis is a familiar community figure, especially at parties of the Marinwood Funsters, a senior citizen group for whom she plays the piano and entertains.

A native of Wisner, Neb., she attended the University of Nebraska and State Normal School at Ypsilanti, Mich., on a music scholarship.

Her father, who raised thoroughbred short horn cattle, was founder and president of the first bank in Cummings County, Neb. She was the youngest of six children.

She has been the church organist wherever she lived and in her early years played concerts and recitals with some of the most outstanding musicians and singers of that time.

While living in Ogden, Utah, Mrs. Davis was a pioneer in the nursery school field, opening and teaching at the first nursery school in the city. She also was one of the founders of the USO in Ogden.

She has been a resident of California since 1942. At the age of 58 she learned to swim, and at the age of 65 she returned to college to study the organ.

Mrs. Davis of 510 Quietwood Drive, still corresponds with two grammar school friends in Nebraska.

She has a son, Mansfield, an attorney in San Francisco specializing in maritime law; a daughter, Kathleen Goode, a computer programmer in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Sausalitan, 23, Found Dead In Room

Gary Gene Michaels, 23, of 111 Central Avenue, Sausalito, was discovered dead at his room Saturday evening, possibly from an overdose of drugs, according to Deputy Coroner Richard W. Madigan.

Michaels, assistant credit manager of Western Girl, an employment agency in San Francisco, reportedly was despondent over his job.

Michaels was discovered by Ronald Moskowitz from whom he rented the room.

The Sausalito Fire Department responded with its resuscitator at 6:47 p.m., and Michaels was pronounced dead at the scene by a doctor.

He had been a resident of Marin for seven months and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Michaels of Portland, Ore. The funeral will be held in Portland.

Book Fair's Net

The Fairfax School District book fair, held earlier this month, netted $62 from the sale of about 400 new and used paperbacks, the district said. The profits will be used to purchase additional books for school libraries.

Another Look Slated On Houseboat Colony

Marin County supervisors will take another close look tomorrow at the houseboat colony at Waldo Point, where the number of county code violation are reported mounting.

The supervisors' all-day meeting will begin at 9 a.m. on the third floor of the Civic Center.

The houseboat situation at Gates 5 and 6 is deteriorating, said County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney. "In addition, illegal houseboat construction continues unabated all over Richardson Bay," he added.

Assistant County Administrator John F. Barrows will ask supervisors to assign a resident marina-houseboat inspector at Waldo Point so that boat construction and related activity can be checked virtually around the clock.

In other matters, Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. is scheduled to nominate a successor to Planning Commissioner Niels Schultz; two vacancies on the human rights commission may be filled; action is scheduled on separating the building inspection department from the public works department and letters from both sides in the strike at the Independent-Journal will be submitted.

Also to be discussed are a proposed police-community relations training program, youth programs, a request for permission by the juvenile delinquency prevention commission to apply for $100,000 in federal funds for a research project and a discussion of the opening and maintenance costs of the new county park at McNears Beach.

Car Pool Given Ecology Award

Members of a long-time Sausalito to University of California Medical Center car pool have been awarded the first Ecology Incentive Award by the Marin Ecology Center.

Car poolers receiving the award were Dr. George Ellman of Tiburon, Justine Roberts of Mill Valley, Glenda Vandergrift of Larkspur and Dr. Chalres Fleckles of Mill Valley.

The University of California chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority also won an award for handing out car pool questionnaires at the Golden Gate Bridge.

Rare American Art Pottery

Collectors of American art pottery will have the opportunity to see several fine pieces at the Marin County Antiques Show and Sale which opens Thursday at the IDESST Hall, 511 Caledonia Street, Sausalito, according to the Rev. Paul Evans of Mill Valley, a recognized authority on American pottery.

Among the dealers coming to the show will be two who specialize in art pottery and art glass.

Reverend Evans, a young Episcopal priest, has one of the country's most significant collections of art pottery. A graduate of the Berkeley Divinity School at New Haven, Conn., in 1963, he is editor of Pacific Churchman, the official publication of the Diocese of California, and vicar of St. Barnaba's Church in Antioch. He is also editor of the Western Division of Spinning Wheel, a national publication on antiques-collecting, and was formerly editor of Western Collector, a similar publication.

The field of art pottery is virtually unexplored by potential collectors, according to Reverend Evans, whose interest in it developed while a seminarian in New England. Although his own collection centers around the works of the earliest of the American art potteries, Chelsea Keramic Art Works and its successor, the Dedham Pottery, of Massachusetts, he has begun to collect pieces from some excellent California potteries, such as Arequipa in Fairfax, Roblin Potteries of San Francisco and the Stockton Art Pottery.

"THERE WERE at least 50 major producers of art pottery in the United States between 1872 and 1920," he observed, "principally centered around the large clay deposits in Massachusetts, Ohio, California and Colorado. Every dealer in old china, glass and pottery probably has at least one interesting piece in his shop."

The author of numerous artlcles in this field, Reverend Evans is particularly fascinated by the story of the Robertson family of Massachusetts and California, founders in 1866 of the Chelsea Keramic Art Works. He owns several examples of their unique blending of classical Greek form with the glazes of the Orient.

"The secret of the long-lost crackle glaze was discovered by Hugh Robertson of Chelsea while searching for another lost formula, that of the sang de boeuf, or dragon's blood, glaze which had been lost since the Ming Dynasty in China," said Reverend Evans who has many examples of these beautiful glazes in his collection.

His rarest plate is one in the reverse rabbit pattern where the rabbit design which became the Dedham pottery trademark is running counter-clockwise, later changed to the more usual clockwise pattern. These plates were all hand-decorated in designs secured through a special contest the Boston Museum of Arts offered in 1892. The Evans collection includes most of the popular motifs — the iris, water lily, duck, turtle, turkey, rabbit and others.

Although his specialty is art pottery, his interest in antiques extends to other areas as well, as evidenced by the fine old grandfather's clock, interesting chest-on-chest secretary and other pieces of furniture in his home.

He hopes to discover another interesting item for his home at the antiques show this weekend. The hours of the show are noon until 10 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday and noon until 6 p.m. Sunday.

THE REV. PAUL Evans of Mill Valley, who is recognized authority on American art pottery, explains the interesting points about an 1874 redware vase from his collection to Mrs. Benjamin Upham Jr., assistant chairman of the Antiques Show and Sale, which opens Thursday for a four-day run at IDESST Hall, Sausalito. The Episcopal Churchwomen of the Mill Valley Church of Our Saviour are sponsoring the antiques show, which will feature some of the American pottery, a newly popular collectors' item.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

DEAR HELEN:

Whoever said your best friend is your worst enemy really had something. This couple is supposed to be bosom buddies with us. I've lent the girl clothes and have fed them many times.

Though she looks better in my dresses than I do, she didn't seem the type to play around. Yet yesterday I was looking in my husband's wallet for a credit card and came across her picture — in my bikini! It was signed, "Yours, Bunny!"

My husband says she gave it to him as a joke, because it was "his" swim suit — the "yours" meant the bikini, not the girl.

Today I got the picture out of the wastebasket where he'd thrown it after our little spat; crossed out the "yours" and replaced it with "mine . . . Nell," and returned it to her, by mail.

Is this sufficient? — SUSPICIOUS NELL

DEAR NELL:

It's sufficient to win back a bikini and lose a friend. But it shows deficient faith in your husband, your friends, and yourself. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Many years ago my parents divorced, my mother remarried and my father went to live with his mother, where he has remained.

Now that I'm married and have children, Dad comes over to visit at least five days a week. The children love this because he spoils them solid. They don't do their work, they talk back, they take his word over mine. Trouble is he never has to pay the consequences. clean up the messes, etc.

I don't get my husband's support because we're considering divorce. Should I just throw all the men out and start over? — TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED:

I don't guarantee the results, but why not give an outside job a try? When your Dad has full responsibility for the children he may shape them up — or else he'll ship out. When your husband sees you as an interesting individual not just a household fixture, he may think better of his marriage.

At any rate, you'll feel less hopeless about the situation because you've taken a step to change it. Good luck. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I have a son, 19, who enlisted in the navy to avoid getting drafted. But there's one problem: We don't want him to go in the service. We'd rather he got a job instead, and he'd like that better, too.

He quit school in the 10th grade and has worked on and off, but hasn't found anything to satisfy him. Now that he's older, he can probably do better.

Is there any way he can get his name off those navy papers he signed? — S.D.

DEAR S.D.:

No way. But your son can get a high school diploma if he signs up for courses offered by the navy. And that might mean $50,000 added to his life income. Not a bad exchange for a few years of "free" world travel, yes? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Could you provide a good short toast for a going-away dinner? — ABOUT TO BE ASKED

DEAR ATBA:

How about "may whatever befalls you fail to fell you." — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

What You And Ralph Nader Had For Breakfast Today

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON—Wanna know what Ralph Nader had for breakfast the other day before raising so many questions about chemical additives in food products?

I don't really know, but if his diet is anything like that of the average American, he would not be able to avoid some of the following goodies, taken from a longer list in Prevention magazine.

JUICE with benzoic acid (a preservative), dimethyl polysiloxane (an anti-foaming agent). CEREAL with butylaed hydroxyanisole (an anti-oxidant), sodium acetate (a buffer), Red No. 2 (a dye), Yellow No. 5 (also a dye) and aluminum ammonium sulfate (an acid). SAUSAGE with ascorbate (anti-oxidant), calcium phosphate. (an anti-caking agent), sodium chloride (a preservative), potassium nitrate (a color fixative), and guar gum (a binder). TOAST with sodium diacetate (a mold inhibitor), monoglyceride (an emulsifier), potassium bromate (a maturing agent), aluminum phosphate (an improver), calcium phosphate monobasic (a dough conditioner), chloramineT (a bleach), aluminum potassium sulfate (an acid in baking powder). BUTTER with hydrogen peroxide (a bleach), Yellow No. 3 (a day) and nordihydroguaiaretic acid (an anti-oxidant). MILK with hydrogen peroxide (a germicide) and oat gum (an anti-oxidant) and JELLY with sodium benzoate (a preservative), methyl cellulose (a thickener), Green No. 3 (a dye) and gum tragacanth (a stabilizer).

Nader pointed out that food products for which their is a standard list of ingredients don't have to list those ingredients on the label. If they were listed, lunch would look something like this:

SOUP with butylated hydroxyanisole (an anti-oxidant), sodium phosphate dibasic (emulsion for tomato soup), citric acid (a dispersant in soup base). CRACKERS with aluminum bicarbonate (a leavening agent), sodium bicarbonate (an alkali), diglyceride (an emulsifier), and methylcellulose (a bulking agent). SODA with sorbic acid (a fungistat), polyoxyethylene sorbitan monolaurate (a flavor dispersant), sodium alginate (a stabilizer), Blue No. 1 (a dye), cinnamaldehyde (a flavoring) and caffeine (which must be listed on all soft drinks but Dr. Pepper and the colas). ICE CREAM with mono and diglycerides (emulsifiers), agar-agar (a thickening agent), calcium carbonate (a neutralizer), sodium citrate (a buffer), amylacetate (banana flavoring) and vanilldene kectone (Vanilla flavoring).

FRUIT CUP with calcium hypochlorite (a germicide wash), sodium chloride (a substance to prevent browning), sodium hydroxide (a peeling agent), calcium hydroxide (a firming agent), sulfur dioxide (a preservative) and Red No. 3 (a dye). MEAT with alkanate (a dye), methylviolet (marking ink), asafoetida (a flavoring), sodium chloride (a preservative), sodium ascorbate (an anti-oxidant), guar gum (a binder) and magnesium carbonate (a drying agent). FRUIT PIE with sodium diacetate (a mold inhibitor), sorbic acid (a fungistat), butylated hydroxyanisole (an anti-oxidant), sodium sulfite (anti-browning agent), Red No. 3 (a dye), aluminum ammonium sulfate (an acid), potassium bromate (a maturing agent) and bleach.

ON THE AGENDA

'How To Entertain And Enjoy It Anyway' Is Last A.M. Lecture

Talking about how to entertain and enjoy it anyway, Nan Birmingham will present the last in the A. M. lecture series Friday morning at the Tamalpais Theater in San Anselmo sponsored by the Family Service League.

Seen on television's Girl Talk and other shows, Nan Birmingham is remembered in the Bay Area for her two-year stint in the Straw Hat Theater in San Francisco. She is the wife of best-selling author Stephen Birmingham ("Our Crowd", "The Right People") and famous in her own right, as hostess-cook for celebrities of the stage, literary, film and social worlds. A graduate of the Cordon Bleu of Paris, her formal training as a cook has been conditioned by housekeeping and hostessing for a husband who retired at the age of 28 to become a best-selling author whose dinner hour is around midnight, and the raising of three children, two dogs and a goldfish.

In her talk she tells how she learned—the hard way—the secrets of successful entertaining which, she claims, have nothing to do with how much money you spend.

A drama major from Stanford University, she did leading summer stock work with the Peterborough Players of New Hampshire and the Bolton Landing Players at Lake George, was a student at Michael Shurtleff's Actor's Workshop and is a graduate of the Stanford NBC-Radio School.

Preceding the program a coffee hour will be held in the lobby of the theater. Tickets will be available at the door.

THE NOVATO Chapter of Order of Eastern Star will hold a public schools night at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Druids Hall in Novato.

Mrs. Robert McKeay will be chairman assisted by Mmes. John Hoekman, Junius Thomson, Walter Halkovich, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilson and Mr. Robert McKeay.

THE OUTDOOR Art Club in Mill Valley will present "The Magic Of Haskell" as its program at the guest tea Thursday at 2 p.m.

Tea will be served by Mrs. Donald Harper, assisted by Mmes. Robert House, Jack Younger, Lionel Farber, Roland Herbert, James Ballard, Philip Welchman and Irvin Sutley. Pouring will be Mmes. Cornelius O'Boyle, John Norris, Martin Huff and Charles Gorrill.

Mrs. Marsh Marsh will decorate the tables and clubhouse, and greeting guests will be Mmes. Norman Chaponot, Raymond Young Jr. and H. M. Kahn.

MRS. JACK MC CALLUM, chairman of the 18th Annual Antiques Show and Sale starting Thursday and continuing four days at the IDESSI Hall in Sausalito, has announced names of those heading committees for this major fundraising event for the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley.

The steering committee is composed of Mmes. Peter Behr, Michael Leonis, Harrison Leppo, Eugene McGeorge, E. M. Pearson, Edward Simons, John Wyand and McCallum, Reinke and Martindale and Harry Smith.

Others in charge of various duties in this project which calls on the talents and services of all women in the church are Mmes. Kenneth Kew, J. Caleb Cope, Robert Brinton, Gerald Smith, Richard Jessup, James Behr, James Lisk, Ennis Gicker and Hyman Krongard.

"TRENDS IN Education in the Seventies," is the topic of Stanley Freise, deputy superintendent of Marin County Schools, who will speak Thursday to the Ross Valley Council of P-TAs installation luncheon at the Edgewater Inn restaurant in Corte Madera.

New officers are Mrs. A. M. Ferrell, president; Mrs. James Walker, vice president; Mrs. Robert Riboli, secretary; Mrs. Harry Simon, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Berry, parliamentarian and Mrs. Louis Cimina, auditor. Mrs. Edwin Caldwell is reservations chairman.

MEMBERS OF the Bay Area Smith Clubs will go to the Oakland Museum Thursday to see "The Arrested Image." They will meet on the Marina in San Francisco at 11:45 a.m., and will have a picnic in Oakland before the tour.

MILL VALLEY'S Blythedale Rebekah Lodge 305 announces district president Louzella Peterson of Tamal Lodge in San Rafael will make her official visit to the lodge Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Odd Fellows Hall.

She will be accompanied by her marshal, Lillian Mathies of Tamal Lodge. Blythedale noble grand Mrs. Ethel Skinner will preside and Mrs. Betty Columbo will be chairman for the evening.

THE ROHNERT Park Women's Association will hold a rummage sale at the Silver Dollar on Fourth Street in Santa Rosa on Wednesday with the proceeds going to the Brook Hill School For The Deaf in Santa Rosa.

Donations may be made by contacting Mrs. Ron Neuerburg or Mrs. Curtis D. McMahon of Rohnert Park.

THE ANTIQUE study group of the Novato Newcomers Club will meet Wednesday at 9 a.m. to form car pools at the Novato Fair Shopping Center to visit the home of Mrs. E. J. Mahoney, Greenbrae.

Mrs. Mahoney has a collection of Imari, American and other art objects. Mrs. Edgar Garland is reservations chairman.

WOMEN INTERESTED in playing in the Rohnert Park Women's Softball League must register by Friday, according to Tom West, Rohnert Park recreation director. Married women over 21 who live in the Rancho Cotate High School attendance area are eligible. They should call the Rohnert Park city office and leave their name and phone number, West said.

SEVERAL MARINITES are among new members of the San Francisco Auxiliary of the Florence Crittenton Home. They are Mmes. Julian H. Apley, Frederick J. Moller, Roderic H. Phibbs of Mill Valley; William J. Gaffney and Douglas Moore III of Tiburon; and Mmes. James S. Reese of Ross and William Van Horne of Kentfield.

NEW OFFICERS of the Two Rock Union School Parent-Teacher Association are Mmes. David Mc Cullough, president; Eldon Screws, vice president; Fred Guglielmetti, secretary; Robert Tresch, treasurer and Ove Larsen, Auditor.

The five-week session will begin June 15 and continue through July 16. Children will attend from 9 to 11:30 a.m. each morning four days a week, Monday through Thursday.

Taking registration is Mrs. Rolf Scherman. After May 8, applications will be taken by Mrs. Timothy Muller.

The school is located at 689 Sir Francis Drake Blvd., Kentfield.

More Parents

The National Industrial Conference Board estimates that between now and 1980, the parent population will increase by 23 per cent. The pace is faster than during any comparable period since World War II. By 1980, nearly three out of every five families, totalling 35.5 million, will have a child living at home.

Clover Mites

NEW YORK (UPI)—Clover mites suck juices of clover, grasses and a variety of other outdoor plants. And that's bad news for lawns, reports the National Pest Control Association.

The most effective controls are chemical and the chemical must be applied around the house, too — sometimes even inside. The pesky creatures like to lay their eggs in cracks and crevices of the house.

Cool Teethers

Is your baby teething? Many new teethers can be stored in a refrigerator or freezer to provide soothing coldness to tingling young gums. It is practical to have two—one in cold storage while the other is in use.

To Remove Wax

To remove candlewax from a washable fabric, first apply ice to harden the wax. Then remove surface wax with a dull knife. Next, place the stain between clean white blotters or several layers of facial tissues and press with a warm iron. To remove remaining stain, sponge with trichlorethane. Rinse thoroughly, launder.

Decay Decrease

NEW YORK (UPI)—In the last 10 years, tooth decay has decreased 60 per cent in children where controlled fluoridation of drinking water is practiced, reports the World Health Organization's Chronicle. The study covers 30 countries and territories in which some 120 million inhabitants are carrying out the fluoridation program.

MUSIC REVIEW

Young Soloists Display Polish

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

The Orchestra da Camera spring concert directed last night by Hugo Rinaldi in Alumnae Hall of the San Domenico School was the showcase for talents of four young soloists.

These were pianists: Joan Franzini, Michael Mello and Joanne Gaizutis and cellist Jan Gauder.

By far the most outstanding were the duo pianists Miss Franzini and Mello playing the J. S. Bach Concerto in C Major for Two Pianos. This was the very essence of Bach with dynamic, smoothly flowing rhythmic pulse and each voice in the counterpoint, especially in the final fuga, crystal clear. They played with complete expressive rapport.

These young people should bring honor to Marin when they perform this same work Saturday at the Junior Bach Festival at the University of California.

Despite a rather lengthy lapse of memory in her playing of the allegro moderato movement of the Grieg Concerto in A Minor, Miss Gaizutis made a remarkable recovery, thanks to Rinaldi's skillful guidance and her own maintenance of poise. Her handling of the brilliant last part of the movement with power and assurance showed that she has high potential that should be realized with more maturity and study.

In the opening number, Concerto do Minore for Cello by Antonio Vivaldi Miss Gauder had some intonation problems and not completely assured technical facility, but she produced some lovely tones from her instrument, especially in the low register, where it was warm and strong. She, too, has considerable potentials.

Composed of faculty members and students at San Domenico with some Marin professional and non-professional musicians, the small chamber orchestra assembled for this occasion, with limited rehearsal time, played quite well — a complement to Rinaldi's conducting skill.

Though not listed as a full ranking soloist in Copland's "The Quiet City," Bert Truax, playing a featured trumpet part, was the making of the work with his beautifully clear long sustained notes and technical command in negotiating wide intervals. Also noteworthy was some good playing by oboist Eleanor Biondi.

Progress Report Due Tonight On Bussing Plan

A progress report on the controversial bussing situation will be heard when the Tamalpais High School District board meets at 8 p.m. today in the district office.

The district stopped free fusing for students as an economy move, over protests of students and parents in West Marin and the San Geronimo Valley.

The board also will hear a revised 1970-71 budget forecast from business manager Frank Cassou, a progress report on selection of a new principal for Tamalpais High School, and will officially announce the appointment of Supt. Wilber Hawkins.

Before the regular meeting, at 7 p.m., the trustees will meet in closed session to hear charges against a district employee.

Students Will Join In Drive

Thirty Sir Francis Drake high School students have volunteered to sell candy to raise funds for the American Friends Service Committee, a spokesman for Do Something, a student group has announced.

The group said it is raising the money to send food and medical supplies to Vietnam and Biafra and to help support ex-convicts, transition back to scoeity.

The group also lists among its future activities the setting up of playground equipment at the Manzanita Center in Marin City, and the selling of "Marin City, USA" a magazine written by Marin City youths about their community, with proceeds slated to help an exchange student.

Lauren Bacall And Her Musical 'Applause' Sweep Tony Awards

NEW YORK (AP) — Lauren Bacall said "wow!" and tried to kiss everybody within reach. Cecil Beaton thought it "simply spiffy." Alfred Lunt spoke of "sheer enchantment." And little Melba Moore wept just a bit.

So with jubilation, sentiment and a few surprises Broadway Sunday night awarded its 24th annual Tony awards for "distinguished work in the theater."

The top-winning musical was "Applause" with silver medallions as the best song-and-dance show, for Miss Bacall as the top feminine star, and two to Ron Field for direction and choreography.

Picked as the best drama was "Borstal Boy," based on Brendan Behan's story of his years in a youth reformatory. The play, originally done in Dublin, was written by Frank McMahon, an American.

The stellar drama honors went to Tammy Grimes in "Private Lives" and Fritz Weaver of "Child's Play."

The most conspicuous aspect of the selections was the virtual sweep of top honors by first-time nominees. Candidates were chosen by a panel of reviewers appointed by the League of New York theaters and voted upon by 500 representatives of the theatrical crafts.

For super-radiant Miss Bacall it was the first run ever for any prize.

In addition to her, Little, Miss Moore, Miss Grimes and Weaver, performers who copped Tonys for the first time were Blythe Danner, supporting dramatic actress in "Butterflies Are Free," and Ken Howard, supporting actor in "Child's Play."

Field won in his first directing assignment, while Joseph Hardy on his initial nomination won as a drama stager with "Child's Play."

Veteran talents weren't totally routed in the 16 competitive categories. Among them were Betty Comden and Adolph Green, authors of "Applause;" Charles Strouse and Lee Adams, composer and lyricist of the same show; Cecil Beaton, costumer of "Coco;" and Jo Mielziner, with two medallions for scenic design and lighting of "Child's Play."

The biggest name competition was between Miss Bacall and Katharine Hepburn, star of the musical "Coco," whose participation in the program was taped for the NBC network telecast in advance. Miss Hepburn did not attend the star-studded ritual at the Hellinger Theater.

In addition to the competition awards, special citations were awarded. Two of them—to Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, another to Sir Noel Coward—brought the warmest ovation of the evening. Barbra Streisand was honored as "performer of the decade," and another award went to Joseph Papp, founder of New York's free Shakespeare Festival.

Sound Director Named For Play

Tiburon's William Carter has been named sound director of this year's Mountain Play productions of "Tamalpa," which will be presented May 17 and 24.

Carter, who is also active with the Tiburon Cove Players, has been with the Mountain Play for 10 years.

ART REVIEW

New Look At African Culture

By LAURA DEVENDORF

There's another African folk art show in Marin, this time through May 29 at Anima Mundi, 352 Miller Avenue in Mill Valley. But this one isn't just a repetition of those already shown.

There are differences, most distinctively, the "Toile de Korhogo," which are striking drawings of stylized birds, animals and men done by Senufo tribesmen in a black tar-like substance on raw homespun.

The vivid stitchery designs in other toiles are also unusual. Singly, they are small, flag-like symbols for individual kings which hang behind their stools. They might show a knife, a ship, a strange bird or animal, or perhaps an event such as a hanging. In larger banners, symbols of many kings are scattered over brilliant colored surfaces.

For a small show, there is also a great deal of variety. Many ideas and materials have been included. Large carved masks, metal sculpture done by the lost-wax method, wooden spoons, gourds carved into wall placques and lanterns, stools, iron figures, baskets, fur knife scabbards and dolls, plant stakes of etched bamboo, carved horns and of course, many samples of weaving, batik and tie dye.

Some of it has practical application. Some is decorative. But all of it has a pervading sense of clarity and simple directness.

Most sophisticated are the fabrics. Rough woven rugs in combinations of black, brick red and gold on natural are notable for their elegant restraint. Other colorful lengths are used for men's ceremonial, toga-draped garments, some of which are printed with carved gourds and some of which are woven in strips and then sewn together.

One very delicate cloth has rectangles of tiny patterns and animals placed alternately with solid shapes of gray. And there are many dark batik and rich lengths of tie dyed patterns of pinks, pale blues, brown and gold on indigo and deep green.

The collection was assembled by Vivian Burns, a San Franciscan whose prior interests involved the native crafts of South and Central America. This is the first showing of the textiles and crafts found on her first trip to West Africa — a lot of firsts that have simply resulted in a very pleasant show.

RHUBARB REVUE

Sometimes Stale But Often Funny

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

Webster defines a revue as a form of burlesque in which recent events are reviewed by imitations of their salient features and chief actors.

While not in the strictest sense, this is wha tthe 16th annual Rhubarb Revue is all about. It hits home much closer, however, poking fun at events in the Tamalpais Valley — home for most of the troupe in the show.

The 1970 version unfolded Saturday night in the new Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club with the ring of a brassy Dixieland band and a so-so brand of adult humor which sometimes was as stale as the pretzels on the tables. However, the patrons seem to have enjoyed themselves and in the long run that's what really counts. And, too, the revue has been a mainstay in securing funds for the new TVIC building.

While most of the blackouts — a key to this type of show — didn't come across quick enough, there were several amusing skits — the IRS Strikes Back, Date-O-Matic which was a takeoff on television's "Laugh-In," and a highly amusing Ovedpopulation Rag.

Individually, Phoebe Deignam, a veteran of former Revues, captured the spirit of the show in a camping trip slide lecture, and Joe Allen, another returnee, knew how to draw laughs as the Mountie in No, No Nanook, a takeoff on early-day Alaska.

The courage of Bern Healey's cast must, however, be applauded. It's made up of businessmen and housewives who give it their best show biz try. And it also gives the folks in Tam Valley a community project that is fun to do.

Recital Scheduled

The College of Marin's Madrigal Group will present a recital this Friday and Saturday nights at 8:30 o'clock in the choral hall of the Fine Arts Building on campus. Admission will be free.

Keyboard Concert Set In Mill Valley

Daniel Scarlett of San Rafael, continuing his series of keyboard conversations, will present "An Evening with Chopin and Mozart" at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley.

The program will include the Sonata in E Flat Major, K. 282, and Fantasy in C Minor, K. 475 of Mozart, and four mazurkas, two nocturnes and the Polonaise in E Flat Minor of Chopin.

Infant Found Dead In Crib

The 5-month-old son of a Fairfax couple was discovered dead in his crib this morning by his father, whose attempts at mouth-to-mouth resuscitation filed to revive the child.

According to the Coronor's office, Charles J. Amey, 30, of 73 Cypress Drive, discovered his son, David, face down under the covers of his bed at 7 a.m. this morning, and realized the child wasn't breathing.

Guitarist Will Play For Senior Citizens

Guitarist and singer Carol Brown will be the featured entertainment Wednesday at a meeting of the San Rafael Goldenaires, a senior citizen group.

The group will meet at 11 a.m. in the Community Recreation Center at 2nd and Brooks Streets.

REMAINS OF FATAL PLANE CRASH

Supt. Walter J. Mick (right), of the San Rafael Department of Public Works, directs the cleanup of the wreckage of the single-engine plane which crashed Saturday in Peacock Gap killing the pilot, Steven J. Dedina of Los Ranchitos. The wreckage was taken to a lot on Francisco Boulevard for further study by federal investigators. A spokesman at the Oakland office of the National Transportation Safety Board said today that the cause of the crash had not been determined. Shortly after Dedina took off from Smith Brothers Ranch Airport Saturday morning, he radioed a distress signal to Hamilton Air Force Base and turned back. The plane crashed near the intersection of San Marino Drive and San Pedro Road.

Uncle Sam Due $89.17 In Mailings

The Marin County Labor Council owes Uncle Sam $89.17 because its nonprofit organization mailing permit was used by a candidate for Novato City Council.

William Keegan, superintendent of mailing requirements at the postal inspector's office in San Francisco, said that the use violated the council's permit. Payment of the difference will settle the matter, he said.

The labor council, Keegan noted, had advised him that it had been unaware of the postal regulation that limited use of the permit to council mailings.

F. Wayne Sartain, the candidate, mailed 4,053 pieces of campaign literature with the permit.

The permit entitles its user to a rate of 1.6 cents per piece mailed, compared to the regular permit rate of 3.8 cents. Thus the council, or Sartain, owes 2.2 cents more for each piece in the mailing throughout Novato.

35-Hour Week Among Demands

A 35-hour week, salary raises of at least 7.5 per cent and bigger county contribution for life and health insurance are among demands made by two bargaining groups representing Marin County employees.

The two organizations which have submitted their 1970-71 requests to County Administrator Alan Bruce are the Marin County Employees Association and the Social Workers Union 535, AFL-CIO.

Two employee organizations which have not yet submitted 1970-71 contract proposals are the Probation Workers Union Local 535, representing 75 employees, and the California Nurses Association, representing 18 county nurses.

Bruce said the various demands are so high that he did not even attempt to compute what the impact would be on next year's budget if all the demands were met.

"The county negotiating teams are nogotiating from a hard-headed viewpoint, bearing in mind that there is a recession" said Bruce.

Marin County Employees Association, which speaks for about 950 employees, want the county to contribute $35 per month for each employee's life and health insurance. The county now pays $16.19 per month per employee.

At present the county pays straight time for a portion of the overtime work that is paid in cash rather than taken in compensatory time off. MCEA wants time-and-a half for such overtime. The employees association seeks a minimum salary hike of 7.5 per cent from July 1.

The Social Workers Union, representing about 70 employees, is making even steeper demands. It seeks a 35-hour week, plus a 7.5 per cent salary raise, and the caseload for each social worker limited to 30 per month. The social workers also want the county to pay the full premium for health and life insurance for the employee and his dependents. This would come to about $40 per month for a family of four.

Building Bans Guidelines To Be Set

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Guidelines on barring new construction in communities polluting the bay will be set by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the West Auditorium of the Oakland City Library, Madison Street between 13th and 14th streets.

The state's tough new water pollution law empowered regional boards to bar new construction to prevent additional pollution until improvements are made to community sewage systems, but the law left it to the regional boards to work out details of imposing the prohibition.

Also to be discussed is a staff plea for more inspectors. If no additional men are hired, no additional enforcement actions will be possible, the staff has warned.

The board also will meet at 3 p.m. in its offices at 364 14th Street for a closed session to discuss litigation. The City of San Francisco has taken the board to court to challenge its ban on new construction in that city.

Marin, Sonoma Youths To Participate In Earth Day

High school and college students throughout Marin and Southern Sonoma counties will join other students nationwide Wednesday in observance of Earth Day.

In Marin County, two college campuses have scheduled teach-ins open to the public, while several high schools, unable to accomodate outsiders, have slated smaller sessions for their student bodies.

Organized by students with the approval of school authorities, Earth Day seeks to mobilize support for antipollution measures.

The College of Marin has scheduled a full day of teach-ins, speakers, seminars, films and exhibits. The day will be highlighted by a speech by Sen. Alan Cranston at 4 p.m. at Olney Hall.

Speakers scheduled in a 10 a.m. program at the fine arts theater are Charles Sizemore, sociology instructor at the college; Peter H. Behr, a candidate for the state Senate; Thomas A. Knight, executive director of the Planned Parenthood Association in Marin; Philo Farnsworth, a Marin architect; George Leonard, education editor of Look Magazine, and Dr. Eugene Schoenfeld, a columnist who writes as "Dr. Hip Pocrates."

A tree "plant-in" is slated for noon at the Oxbow Ecological Study Area, while the college's cafeteria plans an "ecology special" meal consisting of brown rice, seaweed and tea.

During the afternoon, ecology films are scheduled for Olney Hall.

At 8 p.m. the day's program will continue at the college student center where a panel will discuss pollution problems.

The panel will be composed of Harold Gregg, president of the Marin Conservation League; Earl Mortenson of the state Department of Public Health; George Taylor of the state Air Resources Board; Ernest Morris, director of the Marin Ecology Center; Joseph Forrest of the Marin County Counsel's Office, and Edward Nute, a consulting engineer.

Among exhibits and demonstrations to be featured at the college is a "noise pollution" room where tapes and slides will emphasize noise.

Dominican College students have also arranged for a slate of speakers beginning at 4 p.m. at Guzman Hall.

Daniel F. Murphy of the Bay Area Regional Water Quality Control Board will speak on "Pollution and the Bay." Murphy will be followed at 5 p.m. by Albert Solnit who heads the advance planning section of Marin County Planning Department and will speak on governments role in protecting the environment.

At 7 p.m. Paul Brand, an air pollution inspector for the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, will speak on "Cleaner Air - Our Mission Possible."

He will be followed by James Rummonds, a member of the environmental law department at Stanford University, who will talk on open space.

Dominican's Earth Day activities will end with a lecture by John Hunter Thomas of Stanford's Division of Systematic Biology on the "Immorality of Too Many People."

The suggestion was quickly snapped up by a student-run organization, Environmental Teach-In Inc., which has since coordinoted the national campaign from Washington, D.C.

Elsewhere in Marin County, high schools, elementary schools and individuals are planning their participation in the ecology day happenings.

San Marin High School plans to devote an entire morning to plant-ins, walks, lectures, speeches from industrial representatives and films.

The lunch hour will be devoted to students selling ecology buttons, stickers and cans of fresh air.

San Rafael high schools plan similar activities.

Individuals, such as two high school girls from Terra Linda High School, plan to collect aluminum cans at the school.

In Southern Sonoma, a full week of events is scheduled at Sonoma State College.

A panel discussion on environmental problems will open "Ecology Week" on campus today and the week will end Friday when a statue is erected over a time capsule.

Tomorrow a discussion of the California Water Plan will be held in Room 3060 of Stevenson Hall at noon. On Wednesday members of the "Friends of the Earth" will begin a two-day fast which will end Friday when a bowl of rice and vegetables — which represents what is claimed to be the average daily food quota for most people — is served.

Also on Wednesday, a Zero Population Growth meeting will be held at 10 a.m., featuring John Whitehouse of the California Labor Federation as the main speaker. At 1 p.m. the "Friends of Cotati" will take the podium for a speech and at 3 p.m. a representative from a detergent company will speak.

Thursday there will be an expeditios into the community to plant redwood trees from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

On Friday the college Mime Troupe will perform on the terrace at noon and there will be a Jenner poetry reading in Room 3035 of Stevenson Hall from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Juvenile Hall Escapee Nabbed

San Anselmo police last night captured the seventh of nine Marin Juvenile Hall inmates who escaped April 4.

According to police, Scott R. Shepherd, 16, of Sleepy Hollow was captured by officers as he fled the home of Beverley Troutman of 67 Oakspring Drive, San Anselmo at 8:30 p.m.

Officers said they had received a telephone call from Mrs. Troutman earlier reporting the youth was at her house.

Juvenile Hall officers said today two other inmates remain free. They are Michael Farmer, 16, of Novato and John Maloney, 16, of San Rafael.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Hands Are Very Often Culprits In Spreading Skin Troubles

A TAMPA READER wants to know: "Does itchiness come from an internal or external disorder? I itch is a different place every day. Isn't this unusual?"

No, because itching is a normal phenomenon in that hardly a day passeswhenthe non in that hardly a day passes when the sensation does not occur to most of us. These little itches are of short duration and often go unnoticed.

In answer to the first question, the sensation can be both internal and external in origin. A mosquito bite, scabies, or dermatitis is an example of an external cause for the symptom.

IN CONTRAST, ITCHING could be the first sign of diabetes or a badly functioning liver that is not cleansing the blood and thus allowing waste chemicals to irritate nerve endings in the skin. Now and then an itch is due to a menstrual disorder or to the menopause.

Psychiatrists tell us that the emotional aspects of itching are common. It may be evidence of tension, insecurity, frustration or anxiety. The psychotic individual who believes that there are "bugs" under the skin (parasitosis) may tear at his skin so violently that bleeding and scarring ensue.

The itching that develops in inflammatory skin diseases may be internal or external in origin. Countless irritants can lead to allergic skin reactions.

THESE INCLUDE wool, harsh soaps, detergents, pollens, dyes, and other chemicals. Dry skin resulting form a metabolic disorder, frequent bathing, or aging also provokes the sensation. Prickly heat due to the retention of sweat may do the same. Food allergy also is implicated.

Many good drugs such as antihistamines and corticosteroids control the sensation. Now and then simple ointments, such as calamine lotion, cold cream, or zinc oxide bring relief. When itchiness persists, try to find and eliminate the cause.

TO SCRATCH OR NOT to scratch is the question. There is no doubt that using the palm of the hand or a hairbursh spares the skin. It also interrupts the itch-scratch-itch cycle. And it does feel good to scratch.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

QUINIDINE AND WEIGHT

Mrs. R.S. writes: Can three quinidine tablets taken very day to ward off palpitations cause the individual to lose weight?

REPLY

No, provided that the quinidine does not affect the appetite. Side effects such as ringing of the ears and nausea, usually occur when too much is taken.

Jews Celebrate Ghetto Uprising

WARSAW (UPI)—Jewish organizations from Poland and other nations laid wreaths and flowers Sunday at a monument to commemorate the 27th anniversary of the April 19, 1943, uprising of Warsaw Jews against the Nazis.

As the 60,000 Jews who remained in the ghetto from a peak population of 410,000 rose up against Nazi troops, the Germans retaliated with artillery and aircraft attacks that leveled the ghetto and wiped out its residents.

Jews of the ghetto were cut off from the rest of Warsaw by a 10-foot wall. Before the end of World War II, 300,000 of the ghetto's residents had been sent to the Nazi death camp of Treblinka.

Swim Records Shattered

20 National Marks Fall In Novato

Twenty national Amateur Athletic Union records and 38 Pacific Association, AAU marks fell by the wayside over the weekend in the seventh annual Marin County Double-A Swimming Championships at Novato High School.

Karen Moe, a swift miss from Orinda, was the greatest of all the great performers as she shattered four national age group records and won all six events she entered in girls' age 15-17 to win high point trophy.

400 SWIMMERS

With an estimated 400 swimmers representing 37 clubs from throughout Northern California, Marin County swimmers accounted for three records.

The San Rafael Swim Club set a national record for the girls' age 15-17 400-meter freestyle relay in 4 minutes, 21.5 seconds. The team is composed of Jo and Kathi Hislop, Wendy Peterman and Joan Moorehouse.

Marin Swim Club accounted for two P.A. records as Denise Ham swam the 200-meter individual medley in 2:34.5 and the MSC quartet of Miss Han, Anne Engle, Sue Secondo and Nanette Guthrie swam the 400-meter medley relay in 5:00.2. Both records were in the 15-17 age group.

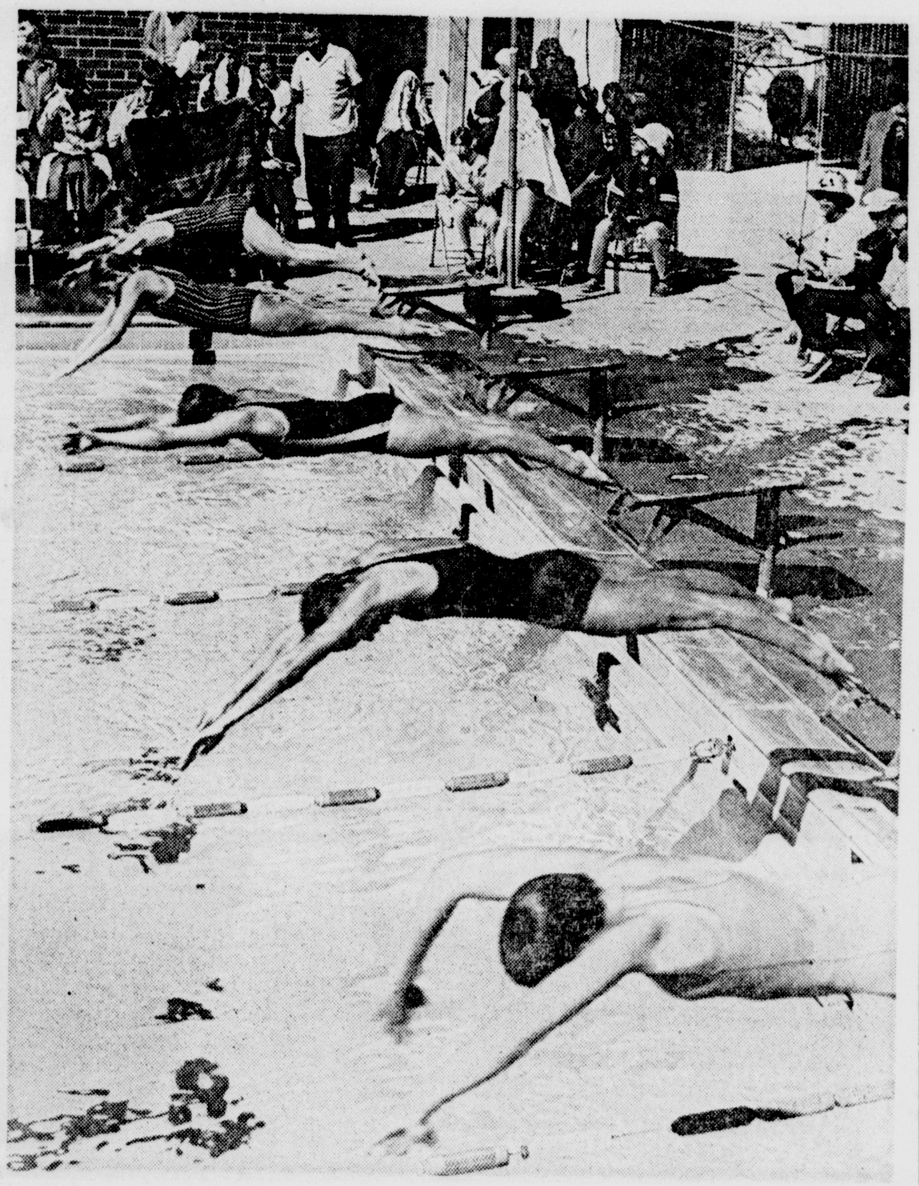
Miss Ham was Marin County's outstanding individual, scoring third highest point total in the meet with firsts in the 200 ind. med. and the 200 breast and four second places. She was the only one of 17 Marin County finalists to win an event and she copped a pair.

In team competition, the nationally-ranked Santa Clara Swim Club led scoring with 433½ points, followed by Arden Hills of Sacramento with 357½ and Aquabears of Orinda with 216.

The meet was co-sponsored by the Marin Swim Club, the Novato Park and Recreation Department and the Independent-Journal.

FINALISTS

Other Marin County finalists were Sue Secondo, Nanette Guthrie, Anne Engle, Cheryl Cattan, Denise Ham, Ken DeMont and Linda Gibbon of the Marin Swim Club, Jo Hislop, Tami McDuffie, Kimi Fox, Joan Moorehouse, Kathi Hislop, Wendy Peterman, Spencer Eldred and Peter Behn of San Rafael Swim Club, Pixie Massey of the Tamalpais Swim Club and Ann Haley of Novato.



GOING GIRLS — Hundreds of youngsters from throughout Northern California jammed the Novato pool for the two days of competition in the meet co-sponsored by the Marin Swim Club, Novato Parks and Recreation Department and the Independent-Journal.

Barber Wins Sudden Death Playoff In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) —Veteran Miller Barber ran in a pressure packed 12-foot birdie putt on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff today and won the $25,000 first prize in the Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

The sudden death playoff was forced when the three finished the regulation 72 holes at 278, ten under par on the Lakewood Country Club course, in Sunday's weather-plagued final round.

It was the fifth tour victory for the 39-year-old bachelor and his first since the rain-abbreviated Kaiser International in January 1969.

Lou Graham, who had a shot at first place until the final crucial holes, finished one back at 279.

Grouped in sixth place at 282 were Master champion Billy Casper, Jim Colbert, Dave Stockton, Gary Player and Rod Curl.

NON-WINNERS

Neither Johnson, Barber nor Charles have won on the tour this year, but they represent 36 years of combined experience. Barber has won $40,341 this year, Johnson $29,436 and Charles $18,088.

Charles' five-under-par 67 Sunday was the best of the day and his best of the tournament. Johnson made the playoff with a 71 and Barber with a 70.

Barber missed a 12-foot eagle putt on the 16th and an eight-foot birdie try on the 17th.

TWO STROKES

Johnson led by two strokes at one point Sunday and held a one-stroke advantage going to the 16th. But he hit a bad drive, wound up in a trap on his second shot and missed a 12-foot putt for par.

Charles, meanwhile, was near flawless with his shot placements and had birdies of 20, 40 and 15 feet on the back nine.

Twins Win First Skirmish; Royals In Oakland Visit

OAKLAND (AP) — The first big skirmish in the battle for the American League West championship is over. The combatants agree it wasn't a true test of strength.

The Minnesota Twins defeated the Oakland A's 6-3 Sunday to take the weekend series 2-1.

"They're a different team with Bando and Campaneris in the lineup," he said. "But it's good to win anyway.

"They are the team we have to beat to take our division."

Rigney added: "I think we're getting out of town just in time."

The final two Oakland runs Sunday came on a 425-foot homer by Reggie Jackson, his first hit in 20 times at bat. Sal Bando, the All-Star third baseman, and Bert Campaneris both are expected to be back in the lineup against Kansas City tonight.

"I think we're just as good as Minnesota when we have Bando and Campaneris in the lineup and Jackson is hitting," he said. "They have good hitters, but so do we."

The A's can't match the Twins in pitching, however, Jim Perry, with relief help from dependable Ron Perranoski, won his third straight game Sunday.

"This is the best start I've ever had," he said. "I made up my mind to work extra hard this spring so I would be ready when the season began.

"This team will get runs," he said. "My job is to keep the other team from scoring too much."

Young Brant Alyea, obtained in a trade with the Washington Senators, was the hitting star for Minnesota with a two-run homer and a double that brought in two runs.

Both hits came off losing pitcher Chuck Dobson, 0-3. "Dobson didn't pitch that bad," McNamara said. "He had good stuff and control."

Light Hitting Costs Hub Softball Team

Light hitting cost the Sohner Tree Service softballers their first losses of the year Saturday night in Hayward, to Castro's of Hayward, 2-0 and 7-1, in a Golden Gate Travel League doubleheader.

With the Treemen of San Anselmo, still desperately in need of pitching help, Rich Pozzi hurled both games.

Cincinnati Rookie Pitcher Puts Stop To Giant Power

CINCINNATI (AP) — When Cincinnati rookie Wayne Simpson is experiencing some control trouble, it could be a bad omen for the opposition.

"When Simpson pitches like today, he is a power pitcher," Manager Sparky Anderson said Sunday after the 21-year-old hurler stymied the powerful San Francisco Giants on one hit in a 6-0 victory. "I look for four to seven walks from here in."

Simpson walked exactly seven men, and struck out nine, in winning his third straight game of the season and lowering his earned run average to 0.36. He pitched a two-hit shutout in his debut April 9 against Los Angeles and then yielded four hits in seven innings against San Diego in picking up his second vicory.

LIVE BALL

"I felt as strong as ever before the game and was throwing a live ball," Simpson said. "Whenever I throw that kind of ball I tend to have control problems. The ball takes off on me."

Anderson said that his ball moves "four ways and I don't think even Simpson himself knows which way it is going to go.

"This was his best game so far because he became a power pitcher. Willie McCovey had to fight him off which is a feat in itself. In two years if he improves he'll be ahead of Bob Gibson (of St. Louis)."

Tony Perez backed up Simpson by knocking in four runs with a two-run homer and two singles. The homer came in the first inning after Ken Henderson had come up with the Giants' only hit, a double with two outs.

COMPTON

Simpson, a Compton, Calif., high school graduate, outpitched Gaylord Perry, who was replaced by a pinch hitter after giving up three runs and five hits in six innings.

The defeat was not the fault of the Giant defense. Alan Gallagher fell into the stands snaring a foul ball in the sixth inning, and McCovey nearly tumbled out of sight over a fence trying unsuccessfully to catch one in the third.

Last year, Simpson posted an unimpressive 7-13 record and 4.89 ERA with Indianapolis of the American Association. However, he came alive while playing in the Puerto Rican League during the winter and carried his outstanding performances into spring training.

"I don't like to sound cocky, but my confidence is increasing." Simpson said.

His performance seems even more impressive since the Giants tallied 16 runs Saturday in drubbing Cincinnati and they were leading the league in hitting entering the game.

'GOOD ARM'

"Simpson looked a lot better as a pitcher than I did as a batter," said McCovey who hit into a double play, popped out and walked twice. "He has a real good arm but it is his first time around and he's not yet in the Hall of Fame."

SANTA ROSA RELAYS

Three Marin 'B' Winners

East Bay powerhouses El Cerrito and Berkeley high schools slugged it out at the Santa Rosa Relays Saturday which saw a sprinkling of outstanding performances from Marin County Athletic League teams.

The highest finisher for the MCAL was ninth place Redwood with 10 points. El Cerrito won with 64 points, followed by Berkeley with 60.

Marin county accounted for three victories, all in class B events. Tamalpais High, which finished seventh to pace MCAL "B" teams, provided the most astounding performance of the meet by clipping 16 seconds off the meet record for the distance medley relay. Tam's team of Carlos Martinez, Dennis Morini, Mike Arago and Vian Collier hit the tape at 10:46.5, to kill the old mark of 11:02.2. Morini, only a freshman, was a last minute replacement.

Doug Green of San Rafael blazed to a 9:53.5 in the two-mile for a new meet record in that event.

Brown's teammate Gerald Robertson finished second in the varsity high jump with a 6-4 effort, which unofficially eclipses the MCAL record of 6-3 set by Tam's Willie Hector in 1957.

San Rafael's 440 relay team of Scott Duncan, Paul Crovo, Dennis Silva and Bob Peterson set one of three best marks of the season for the MCAL, finishing fourth with a time of 43 flat. The others were established by Bill LaHaye of Terra Linda with a shot put of 50-7¼, good for fourth place, and Al Schlette of Tam, who finished fourth in the long jump with a mark of 22-3¼.

In varsity scoring San Rafael came in behind Redwood in 13th place, followed by Terra Linda 15th, Tam 16th and San Marin 21st.

Parnelli In Easy Triumph

He demonstrated four or five ways of taking the turns in his Mustang as he led all qualifiers Saturday and then sped to a 40-second victory in the inaugural 1970 Trans-America Championship Race Sunday.

DONOHUE

The only man to finish in the same lap with the winner from Torrance, Calif., was Mark Donohue of Media, Pa., but in a Javelin he wasn't a close second.

Jones seldom slowed much over the 114 laps on the 1.9 miles track. His time of 91.375 mph smashed the Laguna Seca record of 90.36 set by Donohue in winning the 1969 event.

His elapsed time was one hour, 52 minutes and 36.55 seconds over the 171-mile distance. The 12 finishers from the field of 21 included George Follmer of Arcadia, Calif., a distant third in his Mustang, and Swede Savage of Santa Ana, Calif., fourth in a Barracuda.

Craig Murray of San Rafael, president of Sears Point International Raceway in Sonoma, was eighth in his Camaro.

Jones' victory was worth about $5,000. Surprisingly out of the money was the Camaro team of Jim Hall of Midland, Tex., and Ed Leslie of Carmel Valley, Calif.

LOOSES WHEEL

Laguna Seca officials issued a list of automobile standings. Trans-America points are awarded to cars instead of to drivers.

Mustang gained the inaugural lead with nine points, followed by Javeline with six, Barracuda with four, Camaro with three, Challenger with two and Firebird with one.

Lakers Sweep The Series

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Second might be best in the West, but the New York Knicks are having none of it in the East.

The Knicks, who breezed in four games ahead of the Milwaukee Bucks for the Eastern Division title in the National Basketball Association, stood poised today to prove in the playoffs that's where they belong.

The Knicks need only a victory tonight in New York to close out their best-of-7 division final playoff series after beating the Bucks 117-105 Sunday afternoon in a nationally televised game at Milwaukee for a 3-1 game lead.

VS. LAKERS

The Lakers beat the Knicks to the final by upsetting the regular season finish in the Western Division with a startling four-game sweep over the Atlanta Hawks, who had finished two games ahead of Los Angeles.

The Lakers completed the turnabout Sunday night in Los Angeles by exploding in the fourth quarter for a 133-114 triumph over the Hawks.

BIG LEAD

The Knicks moved to a 20-point halftime lead, but had to survive a scare in the third period when the bucks pulled within two points with 16 straight points. But they never got even.

Lew Alcindor once again led the Bucks with 38 points, but managed only nine rebounds. Willis Reed had 26 for the Knicks, but Cazzie Russell was the big man, coming off the bench and scoring most of his 18 points to pull the Knicks out of danger.

The Lakers entered the final period trailing 89-88, and were still behind 95-94 when they started a crushing 17-2 spurt that gave Los Angeles a record seven straight playoff victories.

Jerry West led the Lakers with 39 points and Elgin Baylor had 31, while Wilt Chamberlain had 11 and 21 rebounds, ruining an inspired effort by Atlanta Player-coach Richie Guerin.

The 37-year-old Guerin, who totaled only seven points during the regular season, started in place of injured Walt Hazzard and scored 31 points.

Cannon Takes First In Riverside Race

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — John Cannon, a 33-year-old Canadian living in Pasadena, Calif., held his pole-position lead from wire to wire Sunday in winning Sunday's Formula A feature of the $30,000 Continental Grand Prix at Riverside International Raceway.

EYERLY WINS

The companion race for Formula B and C cars was won by Mike Eyerly of Salem, Ore., who also started in the pole position in a Chevron Ford and was never headed. He averaged 103.774 mph in the 76.4-mile, 30-mile, 30-lap race and picked up $1,500.

The Formula A race was the season opener at Riverside and the first of the 14-race Continental Championship series for open-cockpit, open-wheel cars leading the $10,000 U.S. Road Race crown.

COMPETITION

"I thought I'd had it," he said. "But when I didn't black out I knew I was going to be okay."

His toughest competition came from Ron Grable of Cupertino, Calif., whose Lola Chevy blew its engine with only five laps remaining. Grable, running a close second, sput into a wall but was not hurt.

Cannon finished one lap ahead of Dave Jordan of Cypress, Calif., and Chuck Parsons of Deerfield, Ill. Jordan in an Eagle Chevy, picked up $4,050 and Parsons, driving a Lola Chevy, earned $2,600.

Eighteen of the 28 starters finished the race. Among the nonfinishers were comedian Dick Smothers, who went only one lap before the clutch in his Lotus Chevy failed.

V.D. IS NO JOKE ...you could die laughing

As a matter of fact, this year about 2,000,000 will miss the joke. Blindness, heart failure, psychosis and paralysis are just a few of its "humorous" effects. That's about how many new cases of V.D. public health officials estimate will be identified in this country. And these people will be luckier than others. Too often, initial symptoms go unnoticed, allowing the disease to go undetected for years while it destroys vital tissues and organs and is passed along to others.

The real joke is that venereal diseases are simple to prevent. Physicians, public health organizations and clinics have all the necessary information. And—your professional source for medically recognized products to aid in the prevention of V.D. is your local Pharmacist.

Get the facts so the joke's not on you.

Jaster Wins Bout, Davis Wins Race

SPRINTS AWAY

Davis, who accused Jaster of throwing at him, then sprinted away with Jaster in pursuit, but the foot race wasn't close since the Atlanta pitcher had to shake off several other Braves.

Davis dashed around first base and ran into the Dodger dugout while several Atlanta players and an umpire managed to stop Jaster near first. Players on both benches raced onto the field.

"I accused him of throwing at me deliberately," Davis said. "He hit me on the right cheek and since I had broke it before, I didn't want it hit again, so I ran.

"I guess I shouldn't have gotten as mad as I did, but I did get mad and threw the first punch," said Davis.

BRUSH-BACK

"They had been getting too many two-strike hits and I just wanted to move him back," Jaster said. "I wasn't trying to hit him, I wasn't trying to hurt him. When he started running, I just gave up."

The game had long since been decided. The Dodgers scored runs in the first five innings to build an 8-1 lead for right-hander Alan Foster, who scattered three hits over the final eight innings after Atlanta scored its only run in the first on consecutive singles by Tony Gonzalez, Hank Aaron and Rico Cartry, who has hit safely in each of the Braves' 11 games.

Report Raps Inter-School Athletics

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio University task force, in a report for release today, called for elimination of the school's entire intercollegiate athletic program, except basketball, within three years, according to the Dayton Journal Herald.

The recommendations, the newspaper reported in today's editions, capped a six-month study of the university's athletic program. Approval by OU President Claude R. Sowle and the board of trustees would reduce intercollegiate athletics to a "club sport" basis similar to the current intramural program.

The report recommends retention of basketball because the school only last year completed a $13 million arena.

RALEIGH, N. C. — Sandra Hayne finished with an even par 72 and won the Raleigh Ladies International Invitational Golf Tourney by three strokes with a four-under-par 212.

CHARLOTTE, N. C. — Cliff Richey, San Angelo, Tex., defeated Robert Carmichael of Australia 6-4, 6-4, to take the men's singles title in Carolina's International Tennis Tournament and his sister, Nancy, brushed aside Laena Palmeova of Czechoslovakia 6-0, 6-0 in the women's finals.

Auto Racing

NORTH WILKESBORO, N. C. — Richard Petty streaked from far back in the pack to win the Gwyn Staley Memorial stock car racs.

Market Shows Small Loss In Quiet Day

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market showed a small loss in very quiet trading late this afternoon.

Prices had moved in a narrow range from the start.

The margin of declines over advances widened to about 150 among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Wall Street analysts said it appeared that many investors had retreated to the sidelines awaiting President Nixon's report on Vietnam tonight.

Glamor issues were turning the best performance, posting some substantial gains.

Late prices on the New York exchange included Jonathan Logan, off 1¼ to 51½; Mohawk Data, up ¾ to 45¾; American Smelting, off ⅝ to 28⅞; Bristol Meyers, up ½ to 57¼; American Cyanamid, up 1⅝ to 29¾, and Japan Fund, off 1½ to 39.

Among the glamors, gains included University Computing 1⅞ to 31⅝, Memorex 1⅛ to 106⅛, Telex 2 to 116, Disney 2⅛ to 134½, and Burroughs 1⅛ to 133⅞.

Philippines Eye Exchanges Curbs

MANILA (UPI)—The Securities and Exchange Commission has proposed a law limiting the number of stock exchanges in the country to protect investors.

"The proliferation of stock exchanges will bring about cut-throat and ruinous competition resulting in disparity of prices of the same issues in different exchanges," the commission said.

At present there are two stock exchanges in Manila. Several groups are planning to set up stock markets in surburban cities.

Zellerbach Sales Climb In Quarter

SAN FRANCISCO — (BW) — Crown Zellerbach Corp. has reported that sales for the first quarter increased by 8 per cent to a new sales record for the period, while net income declined 4 per cent.

Consolidated sales for the quarter reached $224,616,000, compared to $207,445,000 last year. Net income was $11,078,000, compared to $11,582,000, and amounted to 47 cents a share, contrasted with 49 cents in the first three months of 1969.

Commenting on the results, C. R. Dahl, president and chief executive officer, said that the company continued to be affected by the nationwide pause in housing starts and new construction, which has led to declining demand and softening prices in building materials.

He noted that the company sees little near-term improvement in building materials, barring an easing of present monetary restraints.

Box Use Increases

NEW YORK (UPI)—Per-capita corrugated fibreboard box consumption in the United States amounts to almost 100 average size boxes for every man, woman and child in the country, a 35 per cent increase in the past decade, according to the Fibre Box Association.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Slower Growth Seen For S. S. Kresge

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Would you give me your views on holding S.S. Kresge? I have shares that cost more than their present market value. — W.D.

A. When 1969 earnings were reported showing a 2-cent decline year-to-year in fourth-quarter earnings, the stock dropped 11½ points as funds stumbled over one another in disposing of their holdings. Reported 1969 results gained 14 per cent from $1.39 to $1.57 a share, still well below the $1.70 which had been expected.

Promotional cost-cutting, which kept volume high when many retailers were suffering from dropping sales, had the not unexpected result of squeezing margins in the final quarter. Other factors were increased interest costs on carrying inventory and nonrecurring expenses from opening five Australian K marts and the formation of a service unit.

Growth, which has been at a 25 per cent annual rate, is expected to continue at no more than 20 per cent over the next five years. Even this somewhat reduced growth rate exceeds economic expansion by a wide margin. I would continue to hold.

Q. I bought shares of National Industries last year at 19. What are its recovery chances? — L.L.

A. Last year was not a good one for National. Earnings, after a 44-cent write-down, were 20 cents a share versus 84 cents—restated to reflect sale of discontinued operations—in 1968. The drop in earnings resulted from the cyclamate ban which affected its soft-drink operations, losses related to sold subsidiaries and tight money in a softening economy.

Although 1970 earnings are expected to improve, first-quarter results will be affected by the TSC acquisition. TSC's retail operations are traditionally depressed in the January-March period. Long-term debt as of June 30, 1969, was $93.9 million pro forma, including TSC on a purchase basis.

A new isotonic drink, Energade, and a gas discovery in Ohio are expected to contribute to improvement in 1970 operations. Recovery in earnings should be reflected in trading levels.
